PARIS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1987

Iran Hits

Ship Near

Attack Presents

U.S. With a New

Escalation Threat

By Patrick E. Tyler

Hashington Post Service
DUBAI, United Arab Emirates

An Iranian missile struck an American-owned supertanker anchored off Kuwait's main oil port Thursday, setting the ship ablaze within sight of four other tankers that had arrived Tuesday under

U.S. Navy escort. The attack was the first to have occurred in Ku-

276,000-ton Sungari, presented the Reagan administration with a new U.S. naval escort under U.S. policy.

have reiterated as recently as this week their intention to protect only those tankers registered under the U.S. flag. Kuwait has reregistered Il of its tankers as American through a U.S. oil conglomerate purchased by Kuwait's national oil

But the presence of U.S.-fiag ships in the anchorage where Iran's powerful missile fell raised the immediate question of whether the attack would draw a U.S. military response against Iran. President Ronald Reagan, asked in Washington whether the United States would respond to the attack, said he had not yet discussed the incident with the Joint Chiefs of "Our policy is still that we're going to defend ourselves if we're

U.S. officials in the region and in Washington said they believed that the Iranian missile was a Chinese-made Silkworm fired from Iranian-paring to moor a second ocean-going barge rigged and armed as an offshore "fort" near Kuwait which has not granted U.S. basing facili-

Three other long-range missiles, two of them identified as Silkworms, were fired at Kuwaiti territory last month, one of them land-

See GULF, Page 6

On Dissidents

May Be Eased

MOSCOW — Laws under which thousands of Soviet dissidents have been imprisoned over the past 30 years may disappear in a current revision of the criminal code, a se-nior Soviet official said Thursday.

viser to Mikhail S. Gorbachev, the Vadim V. Zagladin, a close ad-

Soviet Laws

ties for aircraft or warships.

Reagan administration officials threat of escalation in the Gulf. The Sungari, because it is regis-tered in Liberia, is not entitled to

The missile attack, on the waiti waters.

сотралу.

Kuwait

No. 32,547

Stock Prices Tumble Again As U.S. Seeks to Restore Calm

NEW YORK — U.S. stock prices suffered another sharp set-back Thursday after a severe drubbing Wednesday brought on by rising interest rates and dismay over U.S. trade figures.

The Dow Jones industrial average tumbled 57.61 points Thursday in late selling to close at 2,355.09. Five stocks fell in value for every one that gained on the New York Stock Exchange. The total value of the market, which slipped nearly 24 percent for the day, has plummeted almost 12 percent in a week meted almost 12 percent in a week.

The volatility of the markets prompted an effort by U.S. offi-cials to restore calm after a 95.46 point plunge in the Dow average Wednesday, the sharpest one-day drop on record.

The dollar, meanwhile, overcame initial pressure, ending little changed in New York trading. In credit markets, a key interest rate, the yield for 30-year Treasury securities, remained above 10 per-pent as bond prices slipped slightly from Wednesday's close. (Page 11.) -Upward pressure on interest rates continued Thursday with the announcement by Chemical Bank of New York that it had raised its prime lending rate by half a per-centage point to 9.75 percent. It was Chemical's second increase in the prime rate in a mark but an the prime rate in a week, but no other banks followed the move im-

The Dow's Continuing Dow Jones industrial average 5 6 7 8 9 12 13 14 15

The White House, in responding to the turbulence, issued a statement saying that interest rates were "significantly higher" than could be justified by "current or existing inflation" and predicted that they would fall in the months to come.

Treasury Secretary James A. Baker 3d said after briefing Presi-dent Ronald Reagan that the economy "looks fundamentally sound." Mr. Baker and the chairman of Council of Economic Advisors, Beryl W. Sprinkel, appeared in the White House press briefing room just minutes after Chemical Bank had announced its increase in the prime rate. Mr. Baker would not comment on the prospect for a new increase in the Federal Reserve Board's discount rate, but he quoted the Federal Reserve Board's chairman, Alan Greenspan, as saying that the dangers of inflation "have been

On the subject of the stock mar-ket, Mr. Baker shied away from predictions, saying only that he recognizes a degree of nervousness, but "the 'Apocalypse Now' scenario is not warranted." Mr. Baker pointedly criticized the recent rise in interest rates in See MARKET, Page 17

MARCH OF THE HANDICAPPED — A militiaman been crippled by the Lebanese civil war. The group, on a leaning on a jeep-mounted anti-aircraft gun while watching a procession of about 50 men and women who have war, passed Thursday through the southern port of Sidon.

Kiosk

NFL Players Ending Strike

NEW YORK (AP) - The 24-day National Football League strike ended Thursday when the union capitulated and went to court instead of trying to light the club owners at the bargaining table. Teams began reporting back even without a new contract agreement, but left after being told they had missed the dead line to play - and get paid for this weekend's games, and again would be replaced by nonunion players. (Earlier sto-ry, Page 19.)

Plane Crashes in Italy

MILAN (Renters) — An Italian airliner carrying 37 per-sons on a flight from Milan to Cologne crashed Thursday in a mountainous area of northern Italy during a rainstorm, the police said. No details of casualties were immediately avail-

A suit from Comme des Garcons, one of the Japanese designers who showed Thursday in Par-Weekend, Page 7.

97.3 28.47.2

- 'LAX

X = 1

EGCA" C".

GENERAL NEWS Prime Minister Martens of

Belgium offered to resign again over the nation's Dutch-French language dispute. SPORTS

St. Louis won the National League pennant and will meet Minnesota in the World Series starting Saturday. Page 19. BUSINESS/FINANCE

A decline in auto sales drove U.S. retail sales down 0.4 percent in September. Page 11.

Dow close: DOWN 57.61 The dollar in New York: DM £ Yen FF 18005 1.6625 142.10 6.0105

Arias Says Nicaraguans Must Discuss Cease-Fire With Contras

New York Times Service SAN JOSE, Costa Rica - President Oscar Arias Sánchez of Costa Rica, the winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, has declared that the Nicaraguan government must end its refusal to negotiate a cease-fire that Nicaragua has not fully com-with rebel guerrilla leaders for the Central American peace plan to go ing prospects for a renewal of rebel in said.

"Now more than ever I am going to insist that a negotiated cease-fire in Nicaragua is indispensable if we are to achieve lasting peace in Central America," Mr. Arias said Tuesday night, hours after winning the peace prize. In Washington, Reagan adminis-

South Africa

Strictly Curbs

By William Claibome

South African government imposed strict controls on universities Thursday, threatening to cut off state subsidies unless anti-apartheid protests and other campus charged that academic freedom was being curtailed and that the measures would encroach on the autonomy of higher education in

The minister for national education, Frederik W. de Klerk, said the government would compel universities to enforce stricter discipline or face a cutoff of state funds, which can cover up to 80 percent of

Mr. de Klerk said that the universities would be expected to adopt "all reasonable steps" to prevent class boycotts and support for civil disobedience campaigns and political movements banned by se-

He said that the government had tried to persuade universities to enforce stricter discipline but that there had been no indication that the incidence of "unacceptable oc-staff and students who participate in or encourage "revolutionary" protest will rest with the universi-

The regulations also are designed to curtail unlawful strikes and the use of university notice boards and

See RULES, Page 6

ties, government officials said.

Responsibility for disciplining university operating costs.

curity laws and decrees.

corrences" had declined.

University heads immediately demonstrations are stopped.

Washington Post Service
JOHANNESBURG — The Universities

ing their strategy in Central America on the expectation that the Sandinist government in Managua

[President José Napoleón Duarte of El Salvador said in Washington on Thursday that the peace accord obligates the Nicaraguan government to arrange a cease-fire with the rebels through direct talks, The Associated Press guerrillas" or "whatever they are," Mr. Duarte said after addressing an will not negotiate a cease-fire with informal joint meeting of the the rebel leaders. They said the Seante and House of Representastrategy would allow them to argue tives. "And Nicaragua has the obli-

> [He also urged the Reagan administration to withhold further military aid to the Nicaraguan rebels until a formal evaluation in

["I have the obligation to talk to Congress for aid to the anti-San-the Salvadorans whether they are dinist guerrillas.]

In an interview, Mr. Arias declared, "I strongly believe that Daniel Ortega should take my ad-vice and accept Cardinal Obando's offer to help negotiate a cease-fire." He was referring to Daniel Ortega Saavedra, the Nicaragnan presi-dent, and Cardinal Miguel Obando y Brayo, the Roman Catholic primate in the nation. The Sandinist leaders have put into effect some limited unilateral cease-fires and have said that gov-ernment representatives would talk comply with the accord," he said. gan for renewing his request to negotiate with the rebel leaders. In- give him increased moral authority stead, they have sought to negotiate to guide the peace process, also with Washington. to broaden Mr. Arias, in his comments, moved close to the Reagan administration's insistence on a negotiated cease-fire. However, Mr. Arias also said the process is clear.

"I ask that Congress not new aid to the contras because that January of the peace accord. That ernment representatives would talk comply with the accord," he said. period is substantially longer than the time contemplated by Mr. Reabut they have adamantly refused to said repeatedly that the prize would

The peace accord signed in Guatemala on Aug. 7 by Nicaragua, Guatemala, Costa Rica, El Salvador and Honduras requires each United States should not approve country to issue an amnesty, but more aid for the Nicaraguan rebels, the Sandinists have indicated they who are known as contras, before intend to offer amnesty only to the outcome of the current peace rebels who give up their weapons, not to large numbers of prisoners convicted of security crimes.

"I hope that in both El Salvador and Nicaragua the amnesty will be as broad as possible, covering the ers," Mr. Arias said. "If that attacked," he said.

Because of Kuwait's sensitivity over maintaining its national sovereignty, U.S. warships are prohibited from entering Kuwaiti waters. The warships "drop off" the con-See PEACE, Page 6 voys at the entrance to Kuwait's ship channel in international wa-

Shultz Says Arms Pact 'Isn't Buttoned Up Yet'

State George P. Shultz said Thurs-day that a treaty with the Soviet initials for Intermediate Nuclear shorter-range missiles "isn't but- want to get on to strategic arms." toned up yet," and that a summit meeting should be postponed if unexpected obstacles prevented the conclusion of the accord.

Mr. Shultz emphasized that he completing the agreement, which Washington and Moscow announced last month had been reached "in principle."

The work of negotiators in Gene-

But his goal of having a final treaty text worked out before he arrives in Moscow for talks next week appears unlikely to be reached, officials say, raising the possibility that he will have to spend more time talking through remaining points of disagreement, rather than grappling extensively strategic weapons.

This raises a question of whether or not the Soviet leader, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, will agree to set a date for his proposed visit to the United States when Mr. Shultz meets with him next week. U.S. officials expect a date to be set, but since Mr. Gorbachev has made it clear that he wants a missile treaty to sign at such a summit meeting, it seems possible that a last-minute snag could disrupt plans to fix a precise time for Mr. Gorbachev's trip.

Shultz said at a news conference before leaving on the nine-day trip to the Middle East and the Soviet

By David K. Shipler

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Union. "There are still some issues ahead. I hope when I get to Moscow I don't have to spend too much Forces. "Im getting tired of INF. I Asked whether failure to conclude a treaty could interfere with a summit meeting, Mr. Shultz said,

"If there isn't that accomplishment, there shouldn't be a meetdid not expect serious difficulties in completing the agreement, which on the subject, he said, "I should think that we should be able to wrap it up."
"But I do think that if it turns out that their attitude changes and they don't want an agreement," he said

Among the issues outstanding is the disposition of 72 West German Pershing-1A missiles, whose nuclear warheads are in the possession of the United States. The Bonn government has announced its intention to dismantle the missiles, and during talks in Washington last month with Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze the Reagan administration agreed to subiect the warheads to the same provisions for withdrawal that will

The apparent resolution of this issue led to the joint Soviet-Ameri-

then introduced an additional de-"It isn't buttoned up as yet," Mr. mand, U.S. officials said, by proposing that Moscow be allowed to maintain some of its shorter-range #### controlled territory to the north on the Faw peninsula. Kuwait immediately protested the attack to the United Nations. A Kuwaiti Defense Ministry statement said, "Kuwait holds Iran responsible for this act." The missile struck a few miles m where the U.S. Navy was pre-til we have one."

apply to other warheads covered by the treaty.

can statement on an agreement "in principle" on the missiles and on a summit meeting between President Ronald Reagan and Mr. Gorba-chev by the end of the year. But Soviet negotiators in Geneva

Soviet leader, made the announcement during a live television discussion between members of the and U.S. senators and congressmen in Washington. It was the first public confirmation in Moscow that a radical change was planned to laws em-bodied in two articles of the Russian Federation's criminal code that are widely criticized by Western human rights groups. Similar articles exist in the criminal codes of the other 14 Soviet republics.

Mr. Zagladin, a deputy in the Supreme Soviet, said that Article 70. which deals with anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda, "will be changed, and probably it will no longer exist in its present form." On Article 190, covering slander against the state, he added: "There are different views, but we are studying whether it is needed at

Mr. Zagladin, who is also the first deputy chief of the Commu-nist Party's International Department, indicated that the likely changes were part of an overall review of human rights practices within the framework of Mr. Gorbachev's reform program.

His announcement was welcomed in Moscow by Yelena G. Bonner, wife of the Soviet Nobel peace laureate, Andrei D. Sakharov, a leading figure in the Soviet human rights movement in the 1970s who was exiled for seven years for his activities. On the program, Senator Daniel

See SOVIET, Page 6

Spaniard Within Reach Of UNESCO Leadership

By Barry James International Herald Tribune PARIS — After a campaign of byzantine complexity, Federico Mayor Zaragoza, a Spanish bio-chemist, stands within reach of nomination as director-general of HATER SHIP the troubled United Nations Edu-cational Scientific and Cultural

In four rounds of voting by the organization's 50-member execucome within two votes of the incumbent, Amadou Mahtar M'Bow of Senegal. In the fourth ballot Wednesday, Mr. M'Bow, 66, gained 21 votes to Mr. Mayor's 19.

The board will hold a final runoff vote between the two leaders' which votes on the director-general Friday. The crucial element is how the Soviet Union, Mongolia, East Germany and Bulgaria will deploy their votes, which up to now have gone to Nikolai Todorov of Bulgaria. The Soviet Union used to give Mr. M'Bow virtually automatic support but has since publicly denounced bad management and waste within UNESCO.

The Soviets have been privately hinting to Western diplomats that they will switch the four votes from Mr. Todorov to Mr. Mayor, which should give him a majority. UNES-CO sources said that in a final day of intensive lobbying, Mr. Mayor might also succeed in picking up a few votes from the M'Bow camp, giving him the convincing victory he may need to have his election ratified by UNESCO's 158-member ruling General Conference,

Mr. Mayor's election may stem See UNESCO, Page 6

Japanese Succumb to Lure of the Big Car

By Fred Hiart

TIBETANS PROTEST — Tibetan demonstrators chanted slogans against Chinese rule during a rally Thursday in New Delhi. About 1,500 Tibetans took part in the protest. Meanwhile, in Lhasa, Tibet's capital, the Chinese police staged a show of force, adding to fears that a crackdown against dissident Buddhist monks is imminent. Page 2.

Washington Past Service
TOKYO — The nation that filled the world with little automobiles has discovered something new: big, fast, luxury cars. But the latest consumer fad in Japan shows no signs of reversing the American trade deficit.

and limited cruising space on Japan's narrow islands, consumers with money to spend are breaking away from their habit of buying economical, and dull, cars.

Despite expensive gasoline, narrow streets increasingly, buying relatively large Japanese

The trend toward bigger cars has not really helped the prospects of American car sales in

In fact, sales of U.S. cars have plummeted during the past decade. Ford Motor Co., everyone wanted a Toshiba set. But now which was number one in 1975 among U.S. Japan is becoming more individualistic, more automakers with 8,140 cars sold, sold barely minds with yakuza, the Japanese gangsters people would like to be different. They want who, at least in the movies, like to be chauf-luxury, they want comfort." feured in big, black U.S. sedans.

One BMW driver explained that big American cars had become associated in Japanese "Cars used to be just for transport. Now caught up with world-level quality."

More detrimental, though, has been U.S.

in Japan and their image as producers of gasguzzling, low-quality vehicles. Still, Japanese consumers are increasingly buying cars for pleasure as well as conve-mence, and that has helped some foreign makers. Since 1980, as U.S. car sales declined, BMW's sales increased almost fivefold: Mer-Instead, they are waiting six months or cedes-Benz's more than tripled; and those of more to pay $70,000 for a BMW-735 or. Saab, Volvo, Jaguar and Rolls-Royce also and 30,000, or about 1 percent of the Japa-

"Five or 10 years ago, everybody here wanted to have the same thing," said Akio Seki, a spokesman for BMW Japan Corp., the would eventually aid U.S. automakers, too. most successful foreign car maker recently. "If one person had a Toshiba television set, Japan is becoming more individualistic, more a consumer society like the United States or Europe."

"There's a lot of money around," he said.

Many drivers also want status. Although the Japanese, like the British, drive on the car makers' relatively weak efforts to sell cars left-hand side of the road with the steering wheel on the right, Mr. Seki said that many customers preferred cars with the steering wheel on the left.

"A lot of people insist on left-hand-side drive so that everyone can see. 'Oh, he's driving a foreign car," he said.

BMW sold 1,600 cars in 1975 and 15,000 nese market, by about 1990.

An executive of Ford Motor Co. (Japan), also predicted that U.S. sales would pick up. He said that sales had dropped because the high dollar until recently made American car prices "horrendously high," because U.S. companies did not try as hard as some European firms and because Ford "hadn't quite

Federico Mayor Zaragoza

By Loren Jenkins Washington Post Service

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka - A four-day Indian offensive against the northern town of Jaffna, the main stronghold of Tamil separatists, stalled Thursday in the face of fierce resistance, as the guerrillas opened a new front in the east, blowing up a truck carrying Indian

The Indian drive on Jaffna and the mine explosion that left 20 Inof Sri Lanka, were major setbacks missing. However, a senior Sri Lanto Indian hopes of striking what kan official with ties to the military they had called a "quick and deci-sive" blow against the guerrillas of the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Ee-

The Tigers are the main rebel group, whose autonomy the Indians originally came to Sri Lanka last summer to protect.

[In New Delhi, the Indian government commandeered more than a dozen civilian airplanes Thursday to transport an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 additional army and paramil-

Cuomo and Thompson To Quiz '88 Candidates

The Associated Press

DES MOINES, Iowa - Governor Mario M. Cuomo of New York, a Democrat, and Governor James R. Thompson of Illinois, a Republican, are to question presidential candidates of the opposing parties in debates sponsored by The Des Moines Register, the cuses, and Democratic contenders pronged drive Monday on Jaffna soldiers killed than at any time will face Mr. Thompson on Jan. 15. was acknowledged Thursday by since the 1971 war with Pakistan.

Sri Lanka, but the number was un- "consolidating" their positions. dos were originally assigned to dis-arm the Tamil militants. | But Wednesday she asset

Indian officials acknowledged the Tamil-dominated eastern part recent days and at least 17 were thrust. said the toll was higher - at least loads of troops missing."

He said the Indians were staggering reports of their casualties because of their embarrassment at how high their losses had been.

about that.'

The rebels have lost 380 fighters over the last week, Indian officials said Thursday.

India and President Junius R. Javawardene of Sri Lanka.

week of fighting, said that India appeared to be enmeshed in the classic dilemma of trying to fight a guerrilla war with conventional itary troops to Sti Lanka amid the reports of increased fighting. The New York Times reported.]

[Officials have refused to say forces had failed to enter the city how many Indian troops are now in limits, and, for the most part, were derstood to be in the range of 20,000, and perhaps as high as 25,000. From 12,000 to 15,000 Indian soldiers and police comman- there were plans to bring in more

But Wednesday she asserted that the guerrillas were keeping the Jaffdian soldiers dead and four woundThursday night in Colombo that 79 na population hostage, to use them ed near the town of Batticalda in Indian troops had been killed in as "shields" against the Indian [Sri Lankan officials in Jaffna, contacted by telephone, painted a desperate picture of power outages, 108 Indians killed and "two truck- paralyzed medical services and impending famine, Agence France-Presse reported from Colombo.

["Food stores are empty and if we don't get supplies in the next two days, it will be a slow process "In four years of fighting the of death for many people," an offi-Tamil separatists, our forces lost cial said Thursday. He said there 793 men killed," said the official, had been no electricity since Sunwho asked not to be identified. day and operations had been "The Indians in seven days have stopped at Jaffna Hospital, the arlost 108 and they can't be happy ea's top medical center, because of a lack of oxygen, bandages and fuel to run a power generator.]

How fierce the resistance was in Jaffna was evident from the fact The rebels are refusing to accede that the Indians were using some of to a peace accord signed July 29 by Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi of including Nepalese Gurkhas and including Nepalese Gurkhas and other elite forces.

"Jaffna Town is a very difficult Western diplomats, assessing the nut to crack. "said a Western diplomilitary situation after nearly a mat who visited the city earlier this year. "If the guerrillas decide to fight to the death as they had vowed, I would not be surprised if Jaffna Town is almost flattened."

newspaper said Thursday.

Mr. Cuomo will question Republican candidates on Jan. 8, a month before the Feb. 8 Iowa caucuses, and Democratic contenders

The Tamils of Northern and Eastern provinces are Hindus with historic and ethnic ties to the 45 million Tamils who populate large parts of southern India. The Sinhalese, who are mostly Buddhists, make up 74 percent of Sri Lanka's population of 16 million. The sudden breakdown of the peace accord has tarnished India's self-image as a regional peacemaker. It could prove dangerous politi-cally for Mr. Gandhi if the Tamils of India are aroused by the Indian Army's killing of Sri Lankan Tam-

Martens Offers to Quit In Language Dispute

BRUSSELS - Prime Minister Wilfried Martens of Belgium tendered his government's resignation Thursday because of its failure to resolve a language dispute sparked by the refusal of a rural official to submit to a test in Dutch.

A Royal Palace spokesman said King Baudouin had withheld a decision on whether to accept the resignation and political sources said it was likely that Mr. Martens would be asked to find a solution.

Mr. Martens, an adroit political survivor, saw the king after officials at an emergency cabinet meeting failed to find a formula for solving the crisis surrounding a French-speaking rural official, José Hap-

Mr. Happart has raised tensions between the two main linguistic communities in Belgium by refusing to submit to a test in Dutch even though the district where he has acted as mayor, the Fourons, is, by an electoral quirk, administra-tively in a Dutch-speaking prov-habitants of the Fourons, a cluster of villagers near the Dutch border, speak French.

Mr. Martens, 51, the longest-serving Belgian leader since World War II, resigned over the same affair a year ago but was asked by the king two days later to continue in The prime minister decided toesign a second time after failing to rally his four-party coalition be-hind a plan to calm the reawakened rivalries between the Dutch- and French-speaking communities.

"One can always, with good will, law la find a solution and that will seems to me to exist," Mr. Martens said in areas. brief comment. "Martens has still got room for maneuver," a government source said. "The positions in the coalition

Queen Accepts Fijian's Resignation VANCOUVER British Columbia (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth II has accepted "with the utmost regret" the resignation of the British-appoint ed governor general of Fiji, it was announced here Thursday at a meeting of the Commonwealth. The statement from Buckingham Palace followed months of consultational turmoid in the South Pacific island nation, where Colone Sifical

WORLD BRIEFS

The statement from nucking name range round, where Colonel Sifting tional turnoil in the South Pacific island nation, where Colonel Sifting nonai turnion of the south I act is saging a second military coup in fig.

Months on Sept. 25.

On accepting the resignation of Governor General Ratu Sir Penaga Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is sad to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is sad to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is sad to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to think that the ending of Ganilan, the palace said: "Her Majesty is said to the palace said: "Her M

the people of Fiji being given an opportunity to express their opinion of Chinese Stage Show of Force in Tibet

BELJING (Combined Dispatches) - Truckleads of pohermen with BEHAVEO (Combined Dispancies) — Italianaes of pointerior with automatic weapons swept through the capital of Tibet in a show of force automatic weapons swept through the capital of Tibet in a show of force automatic weapons swept through the capital of Tibet in a show of force automatic warms, the official deadline for leaders of recent anti-Chinese warms.

to surrender, foreign witnesses said.

Thursday in a report monitored here.

Bhumibol Adulyadej.

across the board.

billion below last year's level.

to surrender, foreign witnesses said.

The display, and reports of nighttime arrests by the police in Lhass, the capital, added to concern that a further crackdown is imminent on Buddhist monks and others who have led three major demonstrations since Sept. 27 to press for independence from Beijing.

On Wednesday, China closed Tibet to all foreigners except those in the state-run aiding has already been arranged. The state-run aiding has

Coup Is Reported in Burkina Faso

ABIDIAN, Ivory Coast (Reuters) — The military government of Burkina Faso has been overthrown, the nation's official radio said

The announcement was made in the name of a "Popular Front," which

Ex-Thai Aide Jailed for Lèse Majesté

BANGKOK (AFP) — A Thai court has sentenced a former deputy interior minister. Veera Musikapong, to six years in prison for slandering the royal family.

The verdict Wednesday in the appeals court of Buriram, 250 miles (400) kilometers) northeast of Bangkok, overruled the acquittal of Mr. Veera, 38, in August on less majeste charges. Mr. Veera can appeal Wednesday's ruling before the Thai Supreme Court.

Public prosecutors alleged that Mr. Veera said in general election campaigning in July 1986 in Buriram that life was easy for a king and that given the choice he would choose to be born a royal prince. Mr. Veera, a member of the Democrat Party that dominates Prime Minister Prem Tinsulanonda's ruling coalition, later publicly apologized for his remarks and performed a rite of atonement in front of a portrait of the Thai kills.

Forced U.S. Budget Cuts of 10% Seen

Thursday that Pentagon programs may have to be cut more than 10 percent and domestic agencies' budgets nearly a percent next month under the newly revised Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law.

The report is the first detailed account of how government programs would be automatically reduced unless Congress and the president agree on alternative ways of reducing the deficit for the 1938 fiscal year. Pentagon spending would be cut 10.4 percent, not including payroll accounts, which were exempted. Domestic programs lose 8.7 percent

The percentages are based on equal total dollar amounts - $11.5 billion — that would be stripped from those two spending areas should the automatic cuts outlined in the budget-balancing law be triggered. The $23 billion in deficit reduction was aimed at reducing the government's deficit to $144 billion in the fiscal year that began Oct. 1. more than $10

UNITED NATIONS, New York (NYT) - The U.S. Justice Department has used the archives of the UN War Crimes Commission for the first time to track down and charge a U.S. citizen accused of war crime.

UN Helps U.S. Trace Nazi Suspect

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Congressional Budget Office reported

are not irreconcilable. There are a lot of consultations ahead."

On Wednesday. China closed tipet to an foreigners except those in group tour that have already been arranged. The state-run airline has stopped selling tickets to Tibet to foreigners traveling individually, and the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers show the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers have the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers have the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers have the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that individual travelers have the police in Lhasa have advised hotels that the police in Lhasa have advised hotels have the police have the police have the police have the police had the police have the police had not become the police had not be police had not be police had not be police had not be police ha Political sources said that, with a government economic program foreshadowing major tax reform However, most of the 4,000 in-and moves to cut the large budget abitants of the Fourons, a cluster deficit next year, the crisis could not be allowed to drag on.

Mr. Martens's coalition, his sixth, is a delicate balance of Chris-the announcement was made in the name of a Propular Front, which did not identify itself but said it had dissolved the ruling leftist National Revolutionary Council of President Thomas Sankara. There was no immediate word on the fate of Captain Sankara, who has ruled since tian Democrats and Liberals from the two main language camps.

His own party, the Flemish Social Christians, had given him until Thursday to ban Mr. Happart from public office or face a possible vote of no-confidence in parliament. The French-speaking Social Christians, however, had argued against outright dismissal, saying the question has to be settled by a law laying down language guide-lines for officials in dual-language

Urals Bus Factory Struck to Protest Loss of Bonuses

MOSCOW - Workers at a bus assembly factory in the Ural Mountains staged a three-day strike to protest economic changes that have reduced their pay, a Mos-cow newspaper said Thursday.

The work stoppage was the second reported in a month in reaction to the reforms of the Soviet leader, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, that are aimed at making enterprises selfsufficient, based on sales instead of government subsidies.

Workers in Likino in the Urals shut down their bus assembly line for three days, saying they could not compete under the new rules because of obsolete equipment, the weekly Moscow News said.

The strike ended when a legal inspector was sent to investigate. The director was dismissed and his replacement immediately introaccording to officials involved.

The charges, filed in federal court in Detroit in March, say that Peter duced a third work shift, the newspaper said.

Quintus, 72 of Washington. Michigan, lied about his past as a Nazi concentration camp guard in Poland when he became a U.S. citizen in 1965. The Justice Department is seeking to strip him of his citizenship. Workers said that formerly they The department is also investigating "four or five" other Americans it suspects may have been identified as possible war criminals by the commission but were never prosecuted. production of buses, but now the basis for the bonuses is sales. "Before, whether the plant carned money or not, they still received Tunisia Arrests 2 Fundamentalists money" from the state, a quality supervisor said. "But now you have to carn it." group have been arrested, a government source said Thursday. One of the fugitives was sentenced to death and the other to life in prison at a mass

Blackout Imposed In Irish Abduction

DUBLIN -- The son-in-law of an Irish millionaire has been kidnapped by four masked gunmen, the police said Thursday. A spokesman said John For the Record

Ali Laaridh, 32, and Fadhel Beldi, 35, were arrested Wednesday in the Tunis area, the source said. He gave no further details.

Mr. Laaridh had been sentenced to death by hanging and Mr. Beldi to life imprisonment with hard labor after the trial of 90 people on charges of trying to overthrow the government of President Habib Bourguiba. Two of the seven sentenced to death were executed Oct. 9. Thirty-four of those sentenced remain at large.

TUNIS (Renters) — Two fugitive leaders of an Islamic fundamentalist

A spokesman said John O'Grady, 40, son-in-law of Austin Darragh, was taken from his home in Cabinteely, near Dublin, on Tuesday. The police imposed a news blackout on the crime.

Mr. Darragh, one of the richest men in Ireland, runs the Institute of Clinical Pharmacology, which conducts drug-testing trials for chemical companies. Asked if the guerrilla Irish Republican Army were la Irish Republican Irish Irish Republican Irish Irish Republican Irish I la Irish Republican Army were zation in several small boats tried vainly to prevent it from leaving. The involved, a police spokesman said, ship is carrying more than 2.000 tous of toxic waste from Spanish and "We are looking at it from every French industries."

(AP)

Send detailed resume for free evaluation.

Pacific Western University 600 N. Sepulveda Bivd., Los Angeles, California 90049, Dept. 23, U.S.A.

16, RUE DE LA PAIX. PARIS

Phone: (1) 42.61.61.11

TRAVEL UPDATE

Rome Airports Disrupted by Strikes ROME (Reuters) — A strike by airline ground employees forced the cancellation or delay of many flights Thursday at Rome's two airports.

The 24-hour strike, ending at midnight, involved employees at Leonardo da Vinci as well as Ciampino airport, which is used mainly for charter flights. Similar strikes were planned for Friday at Milan's two airports. The strike was called Wednesday to press demands for a new contract-Technical staff in Rome of Alitalia and its domestic subsidiary, Ati, were also holding a strike of four hours in each work shift.

The Soviet airline Aeroflot resumed flights Thursday to Tehran on the first of a regular once-weekly service between the Soviet and Iranian

110 Airports to Get Wind Shear Alert

DENVER (AP) — A wind shear warning system that proved successful in a summer test in Denver will be installed at 110 U.S. airports, the in a summer test in Denver will be installed at 110 U.S. airports, un Federal Aviation Administration said. Dangerous bursts of wind at airports are believed to have caused at least two major accidents recently. "It's the first major change we've made" in wind shear technology in a decade, said Craig Goff, the agency's project manager for the system, on Wednesday, "We had a successful test and we're moving ahead."

The agency plans to spend at least $20 million to install the new detection enumeror at most major IIS airports by 1993, he said. The detection equipment at most major U.S. airports by 1992, he said. The system was tested at Denver's Stapleton Airport and is designed to warn pilots of the sudden gusts known as wind shears or microbursts.

Harry's New York Bar @

"the Birth place of the Bloody Mary"

Just tell the taxi driver "sank roo doe noo"

THE OLDEST COCKTAIL BAR IN EUROPE TM • 5 Rue Dannou, PARIS • Falkenturm Str. 9, MUNICH

If Deutschmark investments are part of your pension fund strategy, you are familiar with the variety of DM instruments available. But, there are subtle differences in yields, liquidity, maturity, and depth of the market. There are yet other considerations which may require tailor-made solutions. Our experts would like to talk to you about them.

But how attractive will her pension be?

WestLB is one of the leading German banks issuing DM bonds. After all, we have over DM 60 billion in circulation worldwide. When the future of young people is at stake, make sure your plans include WestLB.

WestLB

The Westdeutsche Landesbank.

Düsseldorf Herzogstrasse 15, 4000 Düsseldorf 1 Telephone (211) 82601, Telex 8582605

Bejing, Hong Kong, London, Luxembourg, Melbome, New York, Osaka, Pans, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo, Toronto, Zurich

LD BRIEF U.S. Sanctuary Movement Opens New Front in Fight to Aid Central American Refugees the State Department are denying permission to travel through the United States to refugees who have been the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act. The law bumpy ride to the footbills. By Jay Mathews Clutched at her pant legs before she left for the long bumpy ride to the footbills. By the time they reached the road where they were to renderwous with a retired minister driving a gettaway can be the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act. The law bumpy ride to the footbills. The children were too voung to make the difficult hike. On degrees Fahrenheit), and the real estate agent with the control of the control of old Salvadoran woman, wearing old sweat clothes, tennis shoes, carrings and a black ribbon in her hair, grinned at the sight of the little fence at the bottom of the mile.

climbed through, as one character containing the wooded ightly barbed wires apart.

The woman's good cheer on a sunny day in the wooded the border between Mexico and Arizona sugnitive and her companions, who The woman's good cheer on a sunny day in the wooded hills along the border between Mexico and Arizona suggested a holiday outing, but she and her companions, who are members of the sanctuary movement in the United States, were breaking the law.

ment would die after eight or us reasures ment would die after eight or us reasures ment would die after eight or us reasures.

Isst year of felony smuggling or conspiracy.

But the journey of Anna, who hiked into the United ment would be after eight or us reasures. But the journey or cause, was more recent States from Mexico with sanctuary volunteers one recent accounts revealed that the underground railroad was still morning, revealed that the underground railroad was still intact.

That trial did us a lot or grou, same who joined the escorts, an Arizona real estate broker who joined the 1985 just as several leaders were arrested. escorts, an Arizona real estate proats, who powered in 1985 just as several leaders were arrested.

Many people were repelled by the government's actions, the said.

he same.

In fact, the morning's crossing illustrated a new appropriation the battle between the movement and U.S. immigration

Besides denying political asylum to Salvadorans and Guatemalans who maintain that they are fleeing persecution, the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service and Anna's husband is in a major U.S. city, according to movement leaders, with Canadian visas in hand for himself, Anna and their three children. While waiting for them, he is appealing a deportation order by the immigra-

U.S. State Department officials told Jim Corbett, a southern Arizona rancher who is an activist in the sanctuary movement, that they could not issue a transit visa to Anna without "a habitual place of residence" to which she could return.

"For refugees," Mr. Corbett said, "this is a classic Catch-22 situation. If they had a habitual place of residence to which they could return, they would not be

The day before movement volunteers planned to take Anna and her children across illegally, Mr. Corbett wrote the immigration service's office in Phoenix, the capital of Arizona, accusing the agency of "criminal behavior in violation of basic human rights" by not having carefully read Anna's request for passage into the United States. He informed the agency that the movement would bring her

Harold Ezell, western regional commissioner of the immigration service, said he believed that the sanctuary movement was dead. He attributed any new activity to an attempt to raise money because of the decline in publicity

The operation to help Anna involved nine persons -Americans and Mexicans —using four vehicles to take her

"For refugees, this is a classic Catch-22 situation. If they had a habitual place of residence to which they could return, they would not be refugees."

> -Jim Corbett, a sanctuary movement leader and her children across at two border points on a precise

The Americans' day began with a 65-mile (100-kilometer) drive from Tucson to the border town of Nogales, Sonora, where Anna and her children had been waiting for several weeks after a difficult trip through Mexico from Sanctuary workers would take them across the border by car at a regular checkpoint, hoping for the usual casual inspection of small children.

The volunteers have laid out so many paths into the United States that Mr. Corbett, a movement founder who was acquitted at last year's trial, said he had never used the route by which Anna reached the border.

Anna's half-hour walk into the hills was uneventful, except for the roar of a farmer's truck that briefly worried her escorts.

Mr. Corbett, who walked with Anna to the border fence, indicated that the more difficult moments would come later, in places where U.S. Border Patrol and Drug

At the border, she was handed over to two other escorts, the real estate agent and a college student, who had hiked in from the American side.

They would take her on what sanctuary regulars call the Goddamned Long Run," a tortuous 90-minute trek through small canyons and up hillsides to avoid parts of the border area most easily watched by U.S. agents.

On the way, Anna told them her story - of neighbors in El Salvador who had been raped by government soldiers and of her husband, who had escaped from a Salvadoran At the Nogales home where Anna had been staying, ber and of her husband, who had escaped from a Salvadoran of political refugees with condition "What they ought to be doing," he said, "is helping the 2-year-old daughter and 3-year-old twin sons frantically Army drafting sweep and who risked prison if he returned. in El Salvador and Guatemala.

By the time they reached the road where they were to rendezvous with a retired minister driving a getaway car, the temperature had climbed above 32 degrees centigrade (90 degrees Fahrenheit), and the real estate agent was nervous. It was Border Patrol country.

This is where the adrenaline really begins to flow," he

The student dashed off to look for the car. It pulled up, precisely on time, just after he left, and the real estate agent had to wait for him to return before the group could

The broker switched to his own car a short distance down the road and drove ahead to check the road to Tucson for Border Patrol checks.

Anna seemed quieter, worrying about her children. But the minister reported that they had crossed successfully. with the border agent paying less attention to them than to Enforcement Administration officers often sweep the a pet dog a sanctuary worker had brought along on the

The student wondered out loud what that meant. "The government has been lying low," he said, "Some people think that means they have decided to treat us with benign neglect. Others say they have heard a big bust," or mass arrest, is in the works. The movement has brought a small group of refugees across every two or three weeks in the last year, according to Mr. Corbett, with 20 of the refugees having been on their way to Canada.

He says the movement has seen a decline in the number of political refugees with conditions apparently improving

Bush, Sketching Economic Agenda, Brazilian A-Prograv Calls for Cuts in Capital Gains Taxes

more jobs than you can imagine. It

By Gerald M. Boyd

New York Times Service

DEARBORN, Michigan — Vice

President George Bush, detailing

Dearborn All Dearborn And Dearb

of nearly half in the maximum cap-ital gains tax for individuals.

Mr. Bush proposed cutting the tax rate on profits made by selling assets to 15 percent, if they were proposal in a speech earlier held a year or more. Until the first Wednesday to business groups in of this year, the maximum rate was said that the Treasury Department Adants, said here: "It will create 20 percent on assets held six has conceed changes in control nonths or more.

But the sweeping changes in the does not believe it would be wise to

Bush Says He Can Laugh, Sometimes, at Cartoon Gibes

The Associated Press

udget this of M.

Trace Jazifus

1.274

aranz -

w Get Wind shot.

: 22

ATLANTA - Vice President George Bush says he first wanted to "kick the hell" out of Garry Trudeau, who has por-trayed him as a weak politician, but he has since met with the cartoonist and now "can laugh at some of his stuff."

In an interview published Thursday in the Atlanta Constitution, Mr. Bush spoke about his image and the way he has been portrayed in Mr. Tru-deau's "Doonesbury" cartoon strip since he was shown placing his "manhood in a blind trust" in order to be President Ronald Reagan's loyal running mate in the 1984 election.

"My first reaction was anger testiness, getting upset," Mr. Bush told the newspaper. "I thought, what the hell? Who is this, you know, clitist ... who never ran for sheriff, never takis this little guy that comes out of some of the same back-ground as me? So I had that personal feeling that I wanted to go up and kick the hell out of him, frankly." But Mr. Bush said "there's been an evolution" in his attitude toward the cartoonist after three years and a drink

New York Times Service

tion that deplores the Soviet-backed Vietnamese occupation of Cambodia and demands Vietnam's

The resolution has been adopted annually by the assembly since 1979. But the vote of 117-21 on Wednesday was the widest ever to support the measure, despite a ma-overwhelmingly adopted a resolu-

York — The General Assembly has withdrawal

= -

UNITED NATIONS, New

the economic agenda he would purate for cuts all treasury to lose revenue.

and thus would not cause the federate most individuals on ordinary income as of 1988. The top rate for most individuals on ordinary income as of 1988. The top rate for most individuals on ordinary income as of 1988. most individuals on ordinary in-come will be 28 percent, although some wealthy individuals will pay Mr. Bush proposed cutting the tax rate on profits made by selling 33 percent on some income.

George Bush, as satirized by Garry Trudeau.

"Now I smile and say, 'Hey, let the man do his thing,' Mr. Bosh said. "I literally can laugh

The vice president has recently emphasized his war recomplishments in government,

Cambodia Occupation Decried at UN

Also, in recent weeks. Vietnam announced several diplomatic ini-tiatives, including support for in-formal talks with factions of the fer to give Prince Norodom Siha-nouk, the former Cambodian leader, a post in the Cambodian Soviets and the Vietnamese for offering what the American chief delegate, Vernon A. Walters, called the "image of flexibility."

at some of his stuff."

YOU HAVE TO TALK TO HIM, GEORGE SHOW HIM YOUR RE-

gress, there is pressure to broaden them. The proposal was presented by Mr. Bush as part of his effort to outline some of the economic policies he will pursue if elected next > "Today, we're in a global economic battle with Japan, Europe and the emerging nations," he said in Atlanta. "Our future depends on our ability to compete. To do that, we need new technologies, new businesses and new jobs."

reopen the tax code. Whenever tax changes are considered in Con-

Mr. Bush said that the key to the effort was to increase long-term savings and investment.

"It is savings and investment that finance new businesses and it is new businesses that provide new jobs and create economic growth," he said. "To get the savings and investment that we need, I would cut the capital gains tax to 15 percent on investments that are held for at least a year."

In making the proposal, Mr. Bush appeared to be using Presi-dent Ronald Reagan's "supply-side" brand of economics that call cized Mr. Reagan's proposals as 'voodoo economics.'

talks among Cambodian factions.

Vietnam denounced the resolube solved outside the UN frame-work," United Press International

■ Hanoi Criticizes Vote

including a one-year stint as di-rector of the Central Intelli-There is general agreement among economists and tax experts that reductions in capital gains rates stimulate certain types of ingence Agency, in an effort to dispel the notion fostered in Doonesbury." vestments. However, economists I never used to discuss being do not agree on how cutting these rates will affect the overall econoin the service, but when I take a shot like that, I say, 'Hey, go talk to the guys I flew in combat my, and particularly on how such cuts affect revenue.

Cambodian opposition and an of-fer to give Prince Norodom Siha-nouk, the former Cambodian lead-that the Cambodian problem "will broadcast. 3.

drawn through 1990.

A-Program Challenged

By Marlise Simons New York Times Service

RIO DE JANEIRO - Some Brazilian scientists have questioned the government's ability to manage an independent nuclear energy program after what they described as an inadequate response by the authorities to an accident three weeks ago involving highly radioactive material.

Thirty-five persons have been hospitalized, contaminated with dangerous cesimn 137 powder that spilled from a broken hospital irra-

Doctors say they fear that about 50 adults and children will contract cancer as a result of exposure to the "Control over radioactive equip-ment is practically nonexistent," said José Goldemberg, rector of the University of São Paulo and a prominent nuclear physicist.

He and other scientists have denonnced as irresponsible the doctors in the city of Goiania who left the irradiation machine in a clinic that they were vacating.

Scavengers sold the machine to a scrap metal dealer, who opened it Sept. 24. The capsule containing the session 137 and on the capsule containing the cesium 137 was opened, and the phosphorescent powder was passed around among friends and family of the junk dealer.

zil's sources of radioactivity. The Goiania incident and several for tax cuts to stimulate growth. other problems that have occurred windows and swung clubs at emve that "the commission is in pable of carrying out its task." Brazilian and foreign radiation specialists have also said that the Goiânia incident demonstrated that the authorities were ill-pre-pared for any accident involving the release of radioactivity.

They have noted that technicians measuring contamination ran serions risks when they worked with bare hands and faces and wore only baseball caps and ordinary overalls and shoes rather than protective "It would be funny if this was not such a tragic case," one physi-

The spilled cesium 137 came in a compressed form, from which dust particles spread as people handled it. Contaminated people, cars and nimals spread it further around

Scores of speakers criticized the reported from Bangkok, where the The Goiánia accident has served agency monitored a Radio Hanoi to dampen the excitement stirred only last month with the announce-A Foreign Ministry spokesman ment that Brazil had joined the was quoted as having said that a small number of nations that have withdrawal scheduled for Novemthe ability to enrich uranium, a ber would cut the number of Viet-namese troops to half their original number, with the rest to be withcrucial step not only toward building an atomic bomb but also toward developing an independent nuclear energy industry.

Haiti Killing Called Election Intimidation afraid to register and go to the Leslie Manigar, a former politi-cal science professor who spent years in exile and is regarded as one the elections, but that they would

By Joseph B. Treaster
New York Times Service
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti

Election officials and other politi-cal leaders say they believe the kill-killing or other terror incidents had

They said Tuesday that the killas he was talking to journalists, came after weeks of nighttime shooting incidents followed by discoveries of bodies in the streets.

was hacked to death by peasants at a rally.

people, they said, are members of Haiti's security forces.

Rocourt, treasurer of Haiti's elec- in Haiti, said it was clear to him, toral council, which has responsi-bility for conducting the presiden-tial elections scheduled for Nov. shooting that "this was a murder

Mr. Rocourt and other Haitian

ing Tuesday of a presidential can-didate was part of a plan by loyalists of the deposed Duvalier regime to intimidate candidates been authorized by the heads of the provisional government, dominat-ed by the army, that has been ad-ministering Haiti since the Duvalier dictatorship collapsed.

They said they believed that a ing of the candidate, Yves Volel, on campaign to curtail participation in the grounds of police headquarters, the elections and perhaps to force as he was talking to journalists, their indefinite postponement was being waged by people who remained committed to the dictatorial practices started by Francois In early Angust, Louis-Eugène Duvalier nearly 30 years ago and Athis, the leader of a moderate po-Duvaher nearly 30 years ago and litical party who some say planned until his flight into exile in France to become a presidential candidate, in February 1986. Many of these

"These are not spontaneous ges-mres," said the Reverend Alain chairman of the Methodist church 29. "They are intended to create a done by members of the police in situation where people will be civilian clothes."

other transactions.

The law allows the government

The Burberry Look

of the leading presidential candi- be held.

The Burberry blouson Perfect at any event

Burberrys

PARIS, Burberrys, 8, hd Malesherbes, 8e. Tel: 42.66.13.01. BRUXELLES, Burberrys, 7 avenue Louise, Tel: 02 538.82 42. DUSSELDORF, Burberrys, Königsallee 72, Tel: (0211) 32,09.26. MUNCHEN, Burberrys, Perusastrasse 1 Tel: (089) 22:65:64. DEN HAAG, Burberrys, Hoogstraat 20, Tel: (070) 46,73.58. ZURICH, Burberrys, Bei Loden Frey, Werdmuhlestrusse 4, Tel: 221.05.15.

GENÈVE, Burberrys, 8 rue Céard, Tel: (22) 21 34.25 Surprise and Burberry and the General of Education Angle in amount of the registers strate man and Education (Common Common of Burberry Common Common of Burberry Com

Peru Government Seizes

The government later declared the stock sale a "hoax" and has LIMA — Paramilitary policeshut all trading on the Lima Stock Exchange until Friday to prevent men, hurling tear gas bombs and using an armored car to smash a door, seized control of Peru's two But scientists have most bitterly door, seized control of Peru's two criticized the Commission for Nulargest private banks in the first of clear Energy, the body in charge of a series of expropriations by the licensing and monitoring all of Bragovernment of President Alan Gar-

Riot policemen broke tellers' During the 1980 campaign, he criti-since then, Mr. Goldemberg said, ployees and journalists Wednesday inside the headquarters of the h Banco de Credito before ushering in a state management team to run the bank, witnesses said. Several persons were injured.

> Banco de Credito is the largest and oldest private bank in Peru and a main target of Mr. Garcia's plan to take over the private financial

The police also seized control of the nation's second-largest private bank, Banco Wiese, and a private investment company, Financiera

Mr. Garcia, 38, announced his plan to take over 33 private banks, insurance companies and invest-ment agencies July 28. He said the move would free capital for loans to the rural needy and break up a monopoly of an economic elite.

After nearly two months of debate. Congress approved the bill Sept. 29. The law took effect Mon-

But legal challenges have snarled government plans to take control of the companies, and in a surprise move the owners of the Banco de Credito sold majority stock in the bank to 4,297 employees Monday in a move to evade takeover. The bank has 243 branches.

to expropriate control only from major stockholders holding shares valued at more than the equivalent

AT AN INTERNATIONAL PRICE.

If you are on international assignment or will soon be. you will be delighted to discover that you can purchase a prestigious new Saab under special conditions from Saab International and Diplomat

Post the completed couoon and we will send you a prochure on our International and Diplomat Sales programme and the Saab of your choice. Better still test drive a Saab at your nearest authorized Saab dealership and speak to a salesperson about buying an internationally priced Saab.

Please send me more information about the Saah International and Diplomat Sales program and the ☐ Saab 9000 series ☐ Saab 900 Turbo series ☐ Saab 900 series

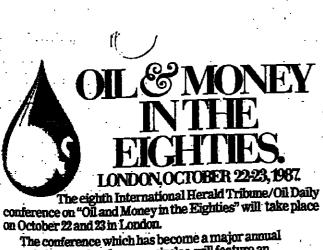

Mail the coupon to Saab-Scania AB. Saab Car Division. International and Diplomat Sales. S-611 81 Nyköping, Sweden.

Telex 64018 SAABCAR S, Fax 46-155-68150.

The conference which has become a major annual event in international energy circles, will feature an and government leaders from Europe, the Middle East and the United States. The conference is designed to provide announcement message and return it to: International WC2E 9JH_Or Telephone: (441) 836 4302. Telex: 262009.

Jor effort by the Soviet Union and Vietnam to divert criticism.

Moscow and Hanoi participated in debate on the resolution this time.

Make to find the Soviet delegate, Alexander M. Belonogov, praised what he called the political wisdom of nations opposed to the Vietnamese year for the first time since 1983. occupation and those that support outstanding group of worldwide energy and financial experts senior executives from the financial and energy sectors with an annual comprehensive update on the world oil market.

For full details please clip your business card to this Herald Tribune, Conference Office, 63, Long Acre, London P:

Herald Cribune.

A Unified Stand in the Gulf

What if U.S. forces in the Gulf should come under heavy attack from Iran? A month ago, the right response might well have been to get out of harm's way. The Reagan administration didn't seem to know what it was doing and couldn't be trusted with a military response. Since then, by developing a coherent policy, the administration has been earning the right to take risks.

The principal task ahead is to consolidate support at home. The best way to do that is by invoking the War Powers Act and asking Congress to share the risks.

The administration resists. It contends that doing so would set a 60-day clock for U.S. withdrawal, and that would unnerve friends and allies. But Congress could authorize U.S. presence under the act for much more than 60 days. In Lebanon, in 1982, it authorized 18 months. To do something like that now would send the strongest signal of unity to the mullahs in Tehran. Indeed, it might be the only means of persuading them to cease fire.

There was never any question that a U.S. military presence in the Gulf was justified by U.S. interests — in the stability of moderate Arab regimes, in access to oil and in strategic competition with Moscow. The question was whether the administration had the competence to manage threats from Iran without blundering into war. Not so long ago, it rushed the U.S. Navy into the Gulf carelessly, without minesweepers. By contrast, operations in recent weeks have been professional. formidable and seemingly measured.

At first, the administration couldn't provide a plausible or consistent rationale for taking risks. The stated aim was to protect freedom of navigation, though few ships were being threatened. Then it was to check

Soviet power, though Moscow seemed as intent as Washington on checking Iranian power. Then the White House worned about securing the oil lifeline through a cease-fire, though this mainly protected franian oil.

What has come into focus now is the goal. It is to stop Iranian expansion more than to prevent possible Soviet gains. Allies and Gulf states, once resistant or reluctant, are contributing to the common defense. Routes to a diplomatic settlement of the Iran-Iraq war have been opened in the United Nations. The main elements of a sensible policy are in place.

To maintain public confidence, the administration needs continuing allied and Gulf state cooperation. It needs to work more with Moscow, It also should not permit UN cease-fire efforts to founder. If Tehran still refuses to go along. Washington must push Moscow and others to impose an arms embargo.

The missing piece is on the home front. where administration policy remains vulnerable. If the fighting heats up and a U.S. ship is sunk, say, the cries for withdrawal will be powerful. The most effective way to resist that pressure would be to have won congressional support for the naval presence.

The War Powers Act is the law of the land. It requires the president to notify Congress when U.S. forces are introduced into a situation of potential combat. It properly involves Congress in decisions of war and peace.

The administration need not be repelled by this procedure. Its lamentations about the 60-day cutoff can't be taken too seriously. Congress is surely willing to set the alarm months ahead, even into the beginning of the next administration. The message of unity will not be lost on Tehran. - THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Congress' Bad Investment

The U.S. Congress suffers occasional attacks of anxiety over the foreign investments pouring into the country and asks whether Americans are losing control of their economy. In that spirit, the House has written a misconceived and damaging registration re-quirement into its version of the trade bill. The House worries a lot about Japan.

Although Japanese investment in the United States is growing, most of the long-term investment — the kind that means control of companies and property — is still coming from Western Europe. Foreign investment in the United States last year came to $144 billion, but nearly five-sixths of it had nothing to do with control of companies. It was portfolio investment: bank deposits and securities in volumes not large enough to gain influence over companies. The kind of foreign investment that implies some degree of real control, direct investment, as the statisticians call it, came to $25 billion last year. Of that, according to the Commerce Department, $20 billion came from Europe. Among individual countries, Britain led with $7.8 billion. The Netherlands was second with $5.9 billion, although some of that money came originally from elsewhere in Europe. Japan was third, with $4.1 billion.

The British performance is remarkable.

With Mrs. Thatcher's abolition of exchange controls and the acceleration of its domestic economy, Britain is rapidly rebuilding the great structure of worldwide investment that it largely sold off, a generation ago, to pay for its defense in World War II.

While the amounts of foreign money coming to the United States are large, Americans' direct investment abroad is larger. Last year il was $28 billion. Americans now own about 15 percent of British manufacturing industry, while Britons own barely 1 percent of American manufacturing.

The trade bill, as the House passed it, would impose very extensive financial reporting rules on foreign direct investment in the United States. The Europeans, who would be most affected, protest that these rules would by no means be neutral. They would require foreign investors to disclose much more than American companies do, revealing business strategies to their American competitors' advantage. These new requirements would also violate international agreements that the United States has signed. Meanwhile, of course, U.S. trade negotiators are hard at work trying to per-suade other countries to open their doors wider to a free flow of foreign investment. on grounds that it benefits everybody. - THE WASHINGTON POST.

Will the Gold Chart Sell?

Treasury, put a flutter in the hearts of the gold bugs a couple of weeks ago by uttering the sacred word. He said that the price of gold might be one of a number of indicators one of a number, mind you — by which to steer the international economy. Since then he has been doing a brisk business in assurances that he has not lost his senses and is not embarking on a crusade to return the world to the gold standard. He has another purpose, and he is right when he says that it is not merely to maneuver in American party politics. That suspicion arises naturally, because the idea of a return to gold has a powerful attraction for some of the sects on the Republicans' far right, where the classic gold standard is more admired than understood. When Mr. Baker got onto this subject, he was not trying primarily to promote the fortunes of George Bush but to address an audience abroad. For good and urgent reasons, Mr. Baker wants Japan and West Germany to speed up their slow and cautious economic growth rates. He is trying to find a way to persuade them that it won't be inflationary. The Japanese and the Germans now have their inflation rates down just about to zero.

James Baker, the U.S. secretary of the and that's extremely popular. Japan has been moving to accelerate growth moderately, but Germany remains adamant.

In the United States, if it is to get its budget deficit under control, demand will have to drop for a while. The Reaganite idea of growing out of the deficit has been pretty thoroughly discredited. The United States can safely go through this transition to a better-balanced budget only if demand abroad rises fast enough to compensate for the drop at home. If the leading industrial powers of Europe and the Pacific continue to stagnate, the risk of a worldwide recession rises sharply.

The specialists in Germany and Japan understand that. But there's a widespread fear of inflation in those countries, and policy responds to that anxiety. The Germans especially blame the United States, not unfairly, for the inflation of the 1970s. To them, Mr. Baker is saying: Look, as a safety signal, to provide absolute assurance, we'll set up a chart of all the most sensitive commodity prices to warn of trouble - and, if you like, we'll even put gold on that chart. Wild applause from some Republicans followed that suggestion. But the response that counts will be the one from abroad.

anti-Marxist. The need now is to make even clearer the U.S. opposition to Pretoria.

- THE WASHINGTON POST.

- The Los Angeles Times.

Other Comment

Reagan Right on Mozambique

President Reagan has renewed the U.S. commitment of help for Mozambique during a visit to Washington by Joaquim Chissano. president of the troubled southern African nation. That was the correct thing to do. underscoring to all African nations that the United States opposes the ugly guerrilla war in Mozambique that South Africa supports. Mr. Reagan resisted pressure from the U.S. radical right to abandon aid to Mozambique, because it is a Marxist regime, and to establish relations with the Mozambique National Resistance, presumably because it is

Tobacco Maker's Bad Timing

Lorillard Inc. is putting a new cigarette on the market, named after a motorcycle: Harley-Davidson. We think we can compete with the Marlboro cowboy." a publicist said, apparently imaware of the dark irony of what she was saying. It was reported the same day that one of the first of the rugged-looking Marlboro men had died - of emphysema.

- The Keene (New Hampshire) Sentinel.

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

JOHN HAY WHITNEY, Chairman 1958-1982

KATHARINE GRAHAM, WILLIAM S. PALEY, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

LEE W. HUEBNER, Publisher JOHN VINOCUR, Executive Editor • WALTER WELLS, News Editor • SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR and CHARLES MITCHELMORE. Deputy Editors • CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor • ROBERT J. DONAHUE, Editor of the Editoral Pages

RENÉ BONDY, Deputy Publisher • ALAIN LECOUR and RICHARD H. MORGAN, Associate Publishers • FRANÇOIS DESMAISONS, Condition Director • ROLF D. KRANEPUHL, Advantang Sales Director International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France Tel.: (1) 46.37,93.00. Telex: Advertising, 613595; Circulation, 612832; Editorial, 612718; Production, 630698.

Directeur de la publication: Walter N. Thayer. Edutor for Ana: Michael Richardson, 5 Contentury Rd., Singapore 0511. Tel 472-7768. The RS56928 Latter for Ana: Michael Richardson, 5 Canterbury Rd., Singapore 0511. Tel-472-7768. The RSS6928
Managing Dr. Asia: Malcolm Glenn, 50 Gloucouser Road, Hong Kong, Tel. 5-8610616. Teles: 61170
Managing Dr. U.K.: Robin MacKichan, 63 Long Acre, London W.C.: Tel. 836-4802. Teles: 262000
Gen. Myr. W. Germany: W. Lauterbach, Friedrichat: 15, 0000 Frankfurt/M. Tel. 000/720755. The 416721
Pres. U.S.: Michael Conroy, 850 Thard Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. Tel. (212) 752-3890. Teles: 427175
S.A. jau capital de 1.200.000 F. RCS Nanterre B 732021126. Communicar Partitaire No. 61337
C 1987. International Herald Tribune. All rights reserved. ISSN: 0294-8052.

OPINION

A Moscow Editor Takes on the Komsomol

By Anatoli Ivanovich Strelyany

the Soviet Union, and the translation published in The Washington Post.

M OSCOW — Novy Mir is in con-flict with its correspondents. Everybody who writes to Novy Mir thinks that he ought to be published, and, if refused, he demands a meeting with the chief editor, calls us bureaucrats, and when he comes into the department wants to speak with nobody lower than the chief.

The complete absence of citizens' rights in past years led to a fall in the level of culture. People try to take everything by storm: buses, stores, jobs, graduate studentships. I have to deal every day with insolence, attempts to frighten me by complaining to higher authorities, threats. People come to the editor's office in order to get important problems solved; they think that they can reach [Mikhail] Gorbachev through the magazine. They see the magazine as a relay point. That's what level people's ideas about the press are at; that's the general cultural level.

They write to me: "The forests and beehives are dying, it can't go on like this!" But this is material for the newspapers, not for us. The editor's

Why We're

Shouting at

Mr. Reagan

By Bill Plante

WASHINGTON — Why do grown men and women shout at the president of the United States almost every day? What causes some of us to behave in front of Ronald Rea-gan as though we never learned the rudiments of civilized behavior drilled

A woman from Pennsylvania, who wrote me to say, "Don't forget, you are invited into the president's home each day, you should behave like a guest," expressed what may well be the majority opinion: that White House reporters are offensive louts. But the question shouted on the run and the one-line answer have become the standard for communication in the Reagan administration.

This is the way we do business - not by our choice, but because it works to Mr. Reagan's advantage. And that's

So it was that at a recent occasion

the way the White House wants it.

in the Rose Garden, one of the guests, a teacher, informed me that I had ruined his enjoyment of the event by shouting at the president questions about the Bork nomination. That sparked a loud, vigorous - and ex-

Never mind that the first question wasn't asked until the ceremony was over and the president was on his way back into the Oval Office. Never mind that White House officials con-firm that the president had expected a question about Robert Bork and had his answer ready. To some, but by no means all, of those present, the shouting in church after the service.

bordering on reverence appears fre-quently in mail from viewers. But although the White House is certainly an important national symbol, it is not a sanctuary. And the president is not a monarch but an elected executive responsible for leading and running the

It may be difficult to remember that it hasn't always been this way,

Jimmy Carter talked to reporters, and TV cameras, four and five times a day, at least until the last grim months of his hostage crisis and defeat. Mr. Reagan, during eight years as governor of California, beld news conferences almost weekly. As a candidate, he was accessible every day;

indeed, as those of us who covered him soon learned, he found it hard to resist answering any question asked.

is hard of hearing, reporters had to speak up. If we were more than a few feet away, we had to shout to get his attention. Shout I did. And almost invariably Mr. Reagan came over to talk, often saying whatever was on his mind. But a few months of this in the White House was all it took to con-

There was one problem. Because he largest branch of government.

tensively reported - exchange.

into us by parents and teachers?

office is swamped with literary works democracy - thick-headed illiteracy. about important problems. But the public demands explanations of why we don't print this or that. They don't recognize our right to choose our themes ourselves. And we're not obliged to give anybody a report on what our selection criteria are.

In conditions of non-democracy a person has nowhere to turn. A young fellow recently came running in to see me with seven lines about the deterioration of schools and 300 signatures and tells me: "Sign!" "Why?" I ask him. "We're going to send it higher up!" he says. I ask a few questions. Turns out he's a fifth-year student in the history department at a teacher's college. That's people's conception of

Our aim is to assist the working out of a contemporary world view through enlightenment and glasnost [openness] Our motto is: "Print what nobody else is printing." It is impossible to continue living like this. Democracy is needed. A You can understand these people: well-known economist sent us a letter. He writes that history will not forgive us if we do not overcome our current condition in a single leap. You can't cross an abyss in two hops.

We are standing before an abyss. Lenin made such a leap after Kronstadt, when he introduced NEP [the New Economic Policy]. A revolutionary coup has to be made without looking about; it has to be done the way the Bolsheviks did it then. Gradualness is

There are a lot of opponents to erestroika. Take the article "Luka-

This is an excerpt from an address that Mr. Strelyany, a prominent Soviet prose writer, publicial and member of the editorial board of the literary monthly magazine Novy Mir, gave May 15 to the Komsomol aktiv, the core group of the party youth organization, of Moscow State University. The transcript of his speech recently was made available to Radio Liberty, the U.S.-funded station that broadcasts to perestroika. Take the article "Lukaperestroika. Take the arder waya Tsifra" [Devious Numbers. an article that said Soviet statistics can't be trusted] in Novy Mir. No. 2, 1987. We don't give a damn what people think of us for having printed this article. We don't write for the bosses. Seventy years of monstrous eyewash, and it still hasn't been put right.

K tor Bob Dole, the republicant from Kansas, appeared in this early-primary state this week and faced up primary state this w Seventy years of monstrous eyewash, and it still hasn't been put right.

Gorbachev criticized me for this article at a meeting. My friends got worried after this criticism, offered to help me find another job, asked me: "What, haven't they fired you yet?" As you can see. I'm still working and will publish what I consider to be necessary and important.

This is our Russian misfortune; to look up to the bosses, to try to see and asked that the author put together the calculations that enabled him to reach the conclusions he did. The

it's senseless to complain about it. But the press is already doing a lot. ed for much of 1919 and 1920.

At the January plenum, the opponents of perestroika, unable to bring themselves to attack Gorbachev, attacked fortuitously, is from North Carolina, his pseudonym — The Press — which now, they say, has abandoned own. What's happening now is a result of the attitude of the new leadership.

Question from the floor: You think that the press should be independent from party control?

Mr. Streiyany: Yes. We need a press that is independent of the party bureaucracy and the state apparatus. An independent press is a press that reports on killed and wounded in Afghanistan gives daily information on radioactivity at Chernobyl, is present at sessions of the Politburo and reports on who said what reports on who said what.

From the floor: That can't be.
Mr. Strelyany: If we want to eat our own bread, not American bread, then there will be an independent press. From the floor: Is a law on the press being prepared?

Mr. Strelyany: 1 don't know. there's no glasmost. The successes of perestroika can be seen mainly in the differences between the press today and the press during Brezhnev's time. But they're not very big. From the floor: Do we have organized crime?

Mr. Strelyany: There is such a oblem. It should be written about .. Svoboda [freedom] is not a means. Freedom is the goal itself. Under present conditions, the press is dependent on the party and state bureaucratic apparatus. From the floor: That's rubbish!

Mr. Strelyany: See what we're like! An Englishman would say: "Excuse me, but I don't agree with every- at amity for the sake of a political thing you say, I have a different point of view." You fly off the handle right away! But I'm not against disagreements. The fate of perestroika depends on whether we take sides. Whether we stand on different sides of the barricade. From the floor: What do you think of Afanasyev's speech? [Viktor Afanasyev is the editor of the newspaper Pravda, or translated, Truth.] Mr. Strelyamy: He needs constructive truth. [Laughter.] From the floor: Can the press be completely independent? After all, Lenin spoke of control of the press! Mr. Strelvany: Control of the press was necessary in the underground, and that's exactly what Lenin was talking about. But who told you that now? Suslov? [Mikhail Suslov, who died in 1982, was the chief Soviet ideologist for years and a senior member of the Politburo.]

From the floor: If the press starts giving information on the number of casualties in Afghanistan, then the West and the dushmans [the Soviet term for Afghan resistance fighters] will make use of it.

Mr. Strelyany: Everybody in the West knows these numbers! They're hiding them from us, not from the dushmans. Yes, Marx said that free-dom of the press is not only a boon, it is also an inconvenience. Everything must be printed. If the press prints information, and somebody doesn't agree with it, let him go to court, and we will defend our point of view in open court. There will be foam. But there will also be a wave. And we need a wave, even if some foam comes along with it.

A Dole-Dole * the greatest danger to perestroika [restructuring]. If we do not overcome gradualness it will bring down both Gorbachev and perestroika

By Tom Wicker

R OCHESTER, Vermont - Sena-tor Bob Dole, the Republican Dole-Dole ticket next year?

"Elizabeth is a great resource," the Senate minority leader told The Burlington Free Press newspaper. (Mrs. Dole recently resigned as secretary of transportation to put full time into her husband's presidential effort.) We like to joke about (such a ticket) but I don't think that's realistic."

Why not? The Constitution, as whether they like it or not, how lent on the issue of a husband and they'll react to this or that. But one lent on the issue of a husband and high-ranking lady called me after the appearance of "Lukavaya Tsifra" — or, as maybe 52 percent of the voters might prefer in the case of the Doles, the other way around.

with Rosalynn Carter and Nancy Reagan as recent examples, moreover, some presidential wives already have taken a larger and more important role speciful treatment, even though everybody knows about the lying. They still keep on hoping, and the editorial offices are swamped with material. As long as the press is not independent, it's senseless to complain about it. With Rosalynn Carter and Nancy cy when her husband was incapacitat-

Politically, Senator Dole is thought to be weak in the South. Mrs. Dole. and was campaigning in the South while her bushand was in Vermont. all restraint and paints everything black, lashes out in all directions.

What could be more in the American tradition than to pick a vice president The press cannot act openly on its wn. What's happening now is a result of the attitude of the new leadership.

The press cannot act openly on its for his-her regional political clout? Remember John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson? It worked, too. But if Senator Dole is correct that it's not "realistic" for a presidential candidate to pick his wife as running mate, not that even the accepted terminology promotes the idea, an even more compelling question is raised. Suppose the senator is defeated for the nomination by Vice President George Bush, who then offers the vice presidential spot on the ticket to Mrs. Dole, one of the most able and experienced women in the Republican Party? Should she accept? Here we enter truly uncharted territory, ground upon which the boldest of persons treads at his or her peril.

Mr. Dole may just have less clout than Mrs. Dole.

Political analysts might say yes, seeing a promising party-unity move. After a bruising primary and convention battle the victor offers compensation to the wife of the loser in hopes of alleviating the usual factional bitter-ness. It might be, too, that Mr. Bash could use a little help in the South and among women, not a few of whom grimly recall his description of debating Geraldine Ferraro in 1984.

Marital traditionalists, on the other hand, probably would recoil in horror if Mrs. Dole were to be placed in such a brutal dilemma. How could any woman, they would ask, risk connubiparty - much less, in this instance, for George Bush? Thus to join hands, as it were, with her husband's conqueror, they would suggest, would be unthinkable personally and would be seen anyway as a cynical and objectionable political move on both sides.

Mrs. Dole, however, has her own career. Aside from promoting party unity, might she be justified in subordinating other questions to the fact that if a Bush-Dole ticket should win, she would be only a heartbeat away"? Or that she might parlay the vice presidency, as Mr. Bush would have done, into a presidential nomination for herself - most likely the first for any woman - four or eight years hence? She might even reach the ultimate feminist act — running against her husband for the Republican presidential nomination.

All this is probably like shouting down a rain barrel, since Bob Dole doesn't think well of the idea of putting his wife on the ticket with him, and since Elizabeth Dole, having given up a cabinet post to further her husband's prospects, seems unlikely to move to another candi-date if he should be defeated.

Nevertheless, if a qualified and politically attractive possibility like Mrs. Dole is to be ruled out of vice presidential consideration because she's married to one of the presidential candidates, the message to women serious about careers in politics will be clear: Don't marry 2 man who might some day be a presidential candidate. In fact, don't marry a man in politics. Better still don't marry anybody. The New York Times.

100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

BERLIN - In court circles there is nothing more important than a rebellion on the part of a future Emperor. This youngster has, now he thinks, reached the period when a boy is disgraced by being tied to a nurse's apron strings. Appeals to his father and grandfather were fruitless, and a petition was finally drawn up to the highest authority in the German Empire. Old Emperor William read the petition and was so pleased with the boy's spirit that he issued a formal order banishing the nurses and de-tailing a soldier to attend his great grandson when the youngster goes out walking. Berlin inclines to think the small boy, though scarcely out of dresses, is fully capable of keeping his bodyguard in order, perhaps even at times oppressively in subjection.

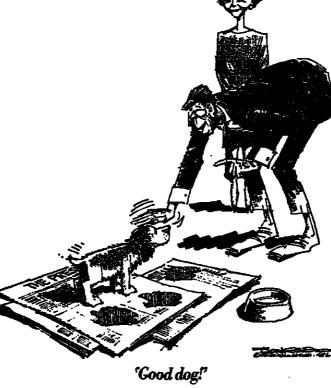

1912: Greece and Crete ATHENS - The terms of the speech of M. Venizelos, the Prime Minister, in the Chamber of Deputies yester-day [Oct. 14], to which the Cretan Deputies were admitted, leaves no doubt that the annexation of Crete is considered an accomplished fact by Greece. Whatever may take place. he said "Greece and Crete will henceforth have one and the same Parliament." This renders the preservation of peace between Greece and Turkey practically impossible. NEW YORK — Theodore Roosevelt is resting today at Mercy Hospital in Chicago, after his escape from death at the hand of an insane man yesterday. Doctors issued a bulletin describing the built wound as "serious." Every hope of recovery is held out.

1937: Jerusalem Curfew

JERUSALEM - Following a series of Arab outrages, including the mur-der of two British policemen, a curfew was proclaimed in Jerusalem today, while all Arabs are being searched for arms and suspects are being sent to concentration camps.

vince the inner circle that their president's tendency to shoot from the lip was a problem. Since they couldn't keep him from coming to us, they seized on the next-best solution: They kept us from coming to him. Reporters were moved farther away, the number of reporters in so-called press pools was reduced and opportunities to see and cover the president were cut back. Press conferences, never frequent because Mr. Reagan is not comfortable with them, dried up for months incident appeared disrespectful. A at a time whenever the administra-minister from Ohio likened it to tion was embarrassed. Since the Irancontra scandal broke last November, economic summit meeting in June.

formal news conferences at the White House and one in Venice after the So the White House press corps is reduced to shouting questions, which suits the administration just fine. Mr. Reagan can snap back one of his one-liners if he likes, or make an easy getaway if he doesn't. And what does the public see? A genial Ronald Reagan, skillfully parrying the thrusts of an unruly mob of ill-mannered scolds. Sometimes, it's true, the clamor rises to a level for which there's no excuse - as it did in the White House briefing room the day Mr. Reagan announced a tentative agreement with the Soviets on a nuclear arms treaty. But the noise you hear at the White House is a bid for the president's attention, and not without respect. In fact, there doesn't have to be any shouting at all, but it is the people in the White House who make the rules. promise from each of the candidates that things will be different after Jan. 20, 1989. Never mind the reporters.

It's the public that deserves better. The writer, the senior White House correspondent for CBS News, contrib-uted this to The Washington Post.

... Few Questions, Those Painless

NONALD Reagan has given just 14 interviews in 1987, including sessions with magazine reporters, foreign journalists and one pool of White House reporters last spring. Individual interviews mostly have gone to people that could be expected to be ask painless questions, among them Arnaud de Borchgrave, be expected to be ask pamiess questions, among them Arnaud de Bortegrave, columnists, Hugh Sidey of Time magazine, Fred Barnes of The New Republic magazine and James J. Kilpatrick, and Allen H. Neuharth, chairman of the Gamett Co. newspaper chain, who asked one question that undoubtedly caught the president and his briefers off guard: Would Mr. Reagan prefer to be pope? So far, there is no evidence that anybody has asked the really questions, such as why Mr. Reagan told the Tower commission that he didn't know about a shipment of missile parts through Israel to Iran when Secretary of State George Shultz has testified that Mr. Reagan told him three months earlier about the shipment? These who might ask who lied, Mr. Shultz or Mr. Reagan, are back in the press pen. Besides, the question would take too long, and the president wouldn't hear it all, and it would be lost in the wave of noise from people trying to get their time and faces on their networks by asking - Eleanor Randolph, in The Washington Post.

The Warring Over the War Powers Act

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of hand-wringing here over the ineffectiveness of the War Powers Act in the Gulf conflict. There are also a lot of people in Congress who are sore at the Reagan administration for its refusal to execute provisions of the law - the consultation and notification requirements — which no administration has ever argued to be unconstitutional. But nobody is going to pay much attention until Congress gets its own house in order

At the bottom of all the frustration is a growing realization that no war powers law is strong enough to withstand a president who insists that his powers as commander in chief override any congressional role. And the Supreme Court's refusal to intervene in a "political question" between the other two branches leaves Congress to stew in its own weakness.

The current struggle is not healthy for the U.S. democratic system. No one should feel comfortable when a president is accused of disobeying the law. And congressional secondng of a policy-making process in which it played no meaningful part can be particularly spiteful. In such circumstances, confidence in government is the lost commodity.

But Congress will never retrieve its proper constitutional role as long as its sole response to the problem is to complain about legal issues in the face of what are, after all, presidential faits accomplis. In nearly every case, Congress will find itself on politically slippery ground because a president who seizes operational control in moments of crisis will almost always command the respect of the electorate. Congress is simply not constituted to act as an operational entity; moreover, the commander in chief has a clear responsibility to protect military forces in a hostile environment. The obvious answer is for Congress to organize itself institutionally so that it can perform its constitutional role. It must organize itself in such a way as to participate in consultations before the introduction of U.S. forces into hostilities is politically and legally unavoidable.

By J. Brian Atwood

Prime ministers in parliamentary systems would never decide a warand-peace issue without reference to the politician-ministers in their cabinets. They could, of course, consult exclusively with career military and diplomatic personnel, but they know they will be held accountable within their party structure. They thus need political as well as technical advice.

The U.S. separation of powers system is capable of producing a similar degree of accountability and burden-sharing, but by different means. The Framers of the Constitution clearly sought to encourage this kind of collaboration on matters of war and peace. No system of government should wish to leave the fate of the nation to one person. What is needed is a special "leadership committee" that would regularly consult with the executive branch on the world's hot spots — a committee and the chairmen and ranking members of the foreign affairs, armed services and intelligence committees. Such a committee would wield clout and credibility that none of these leaders or committees could possibly muster standing alone.

It would also command the respect made up of the leaders of both houses of the executive branch because of the experience and record of its members. Each of these senior members has experience in national security matters, each is already entrusted with the nation's most sensitive secrets and each has seen presidents 1887: Imperial Rebel and cabinet secretaries come and go. That Congress "cannot be trusted" is a familiar executive branch refrain, but it is also a political fact of life that Congress has to deal with Such a committee must therefore organize itself in a way that inspires confidence, Security precautions should be taken and professional staff appointed. Congress should have prepared itself for serious war powers duty long ago. However cogent their after-the-fact analysis of the president's decision to reflag Kuwaiti ships and quadruple the navy presence in the Gulf, congressional leaders cannot escape the inevitable indictment: When they should have demanded consultations, they were not institutionally ready to so do.

The writer, who helped draft the War Powers Act of 1974 and later served as assistant secretary of state for congressional affairs in the Carter administration, contributed this comment to The New York Times.

doll is life.

OPINION

Dileman Deporting Margaret Randall: Republica Small Minds Busily at Work By Anthony Lewis because her son applied on her behalf

recommended dropping from immigration laws the sections that exclude aliens because of their beliefs or writings.

But the same administration is pressing an effort to expel a writer from the United States because, solely because, of what she has written. It is an extreme example of ideological exclusion. It is hard to see how the case can be squared with the decision to call for repeal of the ideological provisions of the immigration law. The target of the deportation case is

Margaret Randall. a 50-year-old poet and author of numerous books and articles. She was born in New York and for most of her life has been a U.S. citizen. In 1966, when she was married to a Mexican and was living in Mexico, Ms. Randall took an oath of allegiance to Mexico. As a consequence she lost her U.S. citizenship. In the years that fol-lowed she lived at various times in Nicaragua and Cuba, writing favorably about the revolutions in those countries. In 1984, she returned to the United States on a visitor's visa and went to Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she had family ties. She lives there now, teaching at the University of New Mexico. She wants to stay in the United States. In legal terms, she is an alien seeking

B OSTON — The Reagan administra-tion has taken an important step to The immigration judge who heard her By ton has taken an important step to bring U.S. law into line with the nation's professions of faith in freedom. It has dall fully qualified to stay in the United States except for one thing; her writings. He held that she had run afoul of a clause in the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act of 1952 barring aliens who write or publish material advocating "the economic, international and governmental doctrines of world communism."

Mr. Spiegel said he had read 2,744 pages of Ms. Randall's works. He concluded that they advocated the doctrines of world communism. For example, he cited "Cuban Women Now," written while Ms. Randall lived in Cuba. He said that the book, "based primarily upon interviews with 14 Cuban women. views the Castro Communist Cuban revolution as a great improvement for the conditions of women in Cuba."

Reading Mr. Spiegel's opinion, one is reminded of the classic argument against censorship, Milton's "Areopagica." Milton ironically sympathized with the poor censor who had to read so the sale "efficience have whitnes" many books, "of times huge volumes." Mr. Spiegel surely deserves sympathy for his reading of all those pages of Margaret Randall's works. But the point Milton's point — is that he performed a function that is inappropriate in a free society: combing through literature for bad political thoughts. What exactly are the "doctrines of world communism"? Political scientists have written volumes on that question. and they often disagree on the definition. To put immigration officials in the position of applying such concepts goes against our whole idea of freedom.

Unlike some publicized immigration cases, the Randall case involves no claim of a threat to the national security. The only objection is to her writings. They may be irritating. But the U.S. system, said Oliver Wendell Holmes while serving as a Supreme Court justice, allows "freedom for the thought that we hate."

Abraham Sofaer, the State Department's legal adviser, made it known in June that the administration felt the time had come for repeal of the McCarran-Walter ideological clauses. They have proved increasingly embarrassing as wellknown authors and others have been kept from even visiting the United States.

"The Department of State has long believed," Mr. Sofaer said, "that changes are necessary to bring the ex-clusion and deportation provisions in line with modern reality." He added. "It's an anachronism to say that just because someone held some particular political view at some point in his life he should be denied immigration." That principle is inconsistent with the attempt to deport Margaret Randall. She is apparently the only person whom the U.S. government is trying to expel be## cause of her writings — indeed the only known target of that clause in 30 years.

Not just consistency but common sense suggests that the case should be dropped.

The New York Times.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Philippine Land Reform

to change her status from visitor to permanent resident. She is eligible for a visa

In his opinion column of Sept. 14-15, Stephen W. Bosworth, the former U.S. ambassador to the Philippines, ad-dressed the lack of military stability in the Philippines and the question of whether President Corazon Aquino, in spite of these difficulties, is tough enough to get the job done and to continue toward social and economic recovery. But Mr. Bosworth made no mention of one of the most pressing problems in the Philippines, that of land reform.

What Mrs. Aquino needs is not just U.S. weaponry to fight the communists and other rebels, but a firm offer from the United States to assist with land reform. With U.S. financial backing, a plan could be developed for fair payments to large landowners. A shining example of land reform is not far away Taiwan, after World War II, undertook land reform peacefully and with economic fairness. This could serve as a model for the Aquino government.

The possibility of a communist government coming to power in the Philip-pines is too frightening even to contemplate. But unless honest land reform measures are taken soon, the Philippines eventually will go the communist route, not by desire but by default. JAMES H. HUGHES.

Croissy-sur-Seine, France.

Don't Forget the Tibetans

In "Anti-Chinese Protest Reported in Tibet" (Oct. 1), I was amazed to read that the Xinhua press agency had reported on "Tibetan monks seeking independence" (only monks?), that protesters carried "a flag... a religious icon of the Tibetans" (it is their national flag), and that the demonstration involved "21 priests and five other people" (Reuters, Die Welt, Swiss television all spoke of about 10,000 people demonstrating in the streets of Lhasa, whose Tibetan population is about 50,000).

No wonder the press report was "unusual for its detail and swift release" perhaps a new strategy of fast fabrication to pre-empt the facts. What is one to think about the accuracy of China's official press agency reporting on events on territory it claims as its own? In the past, world public opinion has kept the Chinese from executing some dissidents, such as in 1983 after demonstrations were held in London, Zurich, Bern, Amsterdam, New York and elsowhere. In this case, two people have been executed in public, a dismally recurring event year after year, on or about Oct. I, as the Chinese celebrate their indepen-dence in a somewhat atavistic fashion. Five others are left with the threat of execution hanging over their heads for the next five years. Eight others have been given various sentences. Ten thousand people had the courage to ask for free dom in a city where public execution is possible. Please don't let their courageous act be forgotten or ignored. T. BROCH.

Freedom's Indivisibility

Regarding "Democracy's Model, Not Its Enforcer" (Sept. 29):

There is quite a lot of truth in Tom Wicker's clever arguments, but is there really nothing to the principle of "indivisibility of freedom"? Does Mr. Wicker truly agree with accepting, in the name of sovereignty, a butcher like Idi Amin in the Organization of African Unity or one like Pol Pot in the United Nations? Or is it simply a matter of expediency? To link a morally justified intervention like Tanzania's in Uganda with the willful "overthrowing [of] a government one does not like" is to confuse, dangerously, two utterly different things. Nobody wants America to play the role of Czar Nicholas I as the gendarme of Europe, or to transform the Monroe Doctrine into the Brezhnev Doctrine. But to do nothing when the neighbor's house is on fire seems, at least in extreme cases, a rather doubtful proposition.

K.A. GROCHOLSKI.

The Best of Literary Brats Regarding the feature "Literary Brat

Pack: Young, Brash, Rich" (Sept. 20): You do your readers a disservice in your article on the contemporary literary scene by omitting the most notable New York writer to appear in the last Juice." Science, Sept. 24). decade, Madison Smartt Bell. In both juice aficionados know this. his mastery of his craft and the complex-ity of his material, he stands well ahead of the "pack." In contrast to his peers, as described in this article, Mr. Bell has proven himself capable of following the dazzling accomplishment of his first work. "The Washington Square Ensem-ble," with two further books of equal merit, "Waiting for the End of the World" and "Straight Cut."

ROBIN TATHAM.

Are There Dissatisfied Men?

A propos James Barron's report, "Study Finds Women Aren't Saustied" (Oct. 3), one question: Are men?

Bandol, France.

The Truth Is in the Taste

It does not take Cornell University food scientists to explain that fresh orange juice tastes better because it is fresh ("The Taste of Fresh Orange Juice," Science, Sept. 24). All orange W.T. RABE.

Sri Lankans' Daily Rice Has A Bad Habit of Biting Back

By T. Sabaratnam

~ OLOMBO. Sri Lanka — A molar Chipped as I began chewing the rice I was eating for lunch. I didn't grimace or make a protest. I swiftly swallowed the bit of tooth with the stone that had caused it, wearing a broad grin, as we Sri Lankans do. An internecine war, although the most serious, is not my Indian Ocean island's only painful problem. Swallowing stones comes naturally to Sri Lankans, for it is part of our

MEANWHILE

2,500-year-old rice-eating culture. We perform it almost like a ritual, some once a day at lunch, many twice at lunch and dinner and a few, in the villages, at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

All of us gulp an average of 1.5 grams of stones each day, a medical researcher recently calculated. (He called his finding Sri Lanka's per capita consumption stones.) He says this consumption is less for those who, like me, eat at home, but is nearly double for those unfortunates who eat out, especially at the riceserving mini shops called bath kades.

The stone content in home-cooked rice is low, he says, because of the 10- to 15-minute struggle housewives daily wage in washing the rice and separating the stones. "Their patience and industry are admirable." the doctor says.

My wife, who performs this thankless task, readily agrees. She says she washes the rice thrice and removes a handful of stones from the half-kilogram (one pound) she is to cook. I believe her, because the research group of Sri Lanka's Agrarian Research and Training Institute (ARTI) has found that the average kilo of the popular parboiled rice called nadu, which about 70 percent of Sri Lankans eat, contains 50 to 70 grams of stones and sand. This figure is higher in cheaper, lower grades of rice and lower in the costlier, higher grades. ARTI's researchers went a little deeper into this "stone syndrome" of Sri Lanka's rice trade. They found that a small portion of these stones gets into the rice on the threshing floor, usually an uncovered mound in a convenient corner of the farm. The head of the research team, Athula Chandrasiri, says that none of the 950 privately owned rice mills that dot our 860,000 hectares (two million acres) of rice farmland are equipped with mechanical separators to remove these stones. Many of the 17 large, state-owned mills have these facilities, but are not in operation.

Moreover, a major portion of the stones are introduced into the rice after it leaves the farm, researchers say. Where and how the stones get into the bags of rice has not been figured out. Suspicion rests on the millers, the numerous commission agents who collect the rice for the wholesalers and the 200 big wholesalers who control the rice trade from Colombo's Pettah market.

"The numor is that stone mixing is a bigbusiness," a trade ministry official says. No one has yet conducted an investigation. The gentle action taken by Trade-Minister M.S. Amarasm following a: newspaper expose, which was to order millers to print their names and addresses on rice bags, invariably has failed.

My wife daily grumbles that "I don't. mind cleaning the stones," but asks, "How can you can this good-for-nothing stuff?" She still recalls fondly the flavor and aroma of the nee called mucha same ba and muthu karrupan that she ate as a girl, more than three decades ago.

Then it was subsistence farming, with the rice farmers growing for themselves and selling only the excess. They sowed the time-tested, tall, 180-day varieties and used organic manure. They worried little about the yield. Now, the situation and the farmers' attitudes have changed. They are very yield-conscious and don't worry anymore about aroma, flavor and quality

The farmers no longer worry too much about correct harvesting, storing and parboiling practices, either. An agricultural extension officer. Shanmugam' Paramasamy, says that premature and. late harvesting is becoming common. The ideal time for harvesting is when the moisture content of the grain is 20 to 22. percent. For storing, it should be reduced to 14 percent by drying. "Older farmers knew it by the color of the grain-by experience." Mr. Paramasany says. "That knowledge is diminishing."

An ARTI researcher, T.M.Z. Muthaliph, says that the greatest farm to the president of core of cores forthy war.

quality of rice comes from faulty parboiling, that the "color, odor and flavor of parboiled rice depend mainly on the technique of parboiling."

The traditional method was to soak the grain, in its husk, in brick tanks of fresh water for one to two days, changing the water every 10 to 12 hours. The flavors associated with parboiled rice are caused by the yeast and hacteria that multiply during soaking. Mr. Muthaliph says that "the prime cause for the low," quality of our rice is the failure of the millers to change the water every 10 hours. In the water isn't changed the bacteria multiply" too much.

The remedy is simple. But who cares? The people continue to eat the substandard rice. The ARTI continues to issue statements like the one that said: "The standard of rice sold in our markets is said to be the lowest in Asia.

I told my wife that in the future I would buy cleaned and packeted premium-grade rice. If there are stones in that, too, I would buy basumathi rice, imported from Pakistan. That's what our agricultural planners and experts eat.

The writer, a senior reporter for the Ceylon Daily News in Colombo, contributed this comment to the Internation: al Herala Tribune.

THE INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGES THE GENEROUS CONTRIBUTION OF

TO THE PARIS LIBERTY FLAME APPEAL

which helped to bring the Liberty Flame monument to Paris where it will be erected as a permanent tribute to Franco-American friendship.

TWA has provided continuous service to Paris since 1946. Today, it flies between over 100 cities in America and to more than twenty destinations in Europe and the Middle East.

By Wendy Mallinson It was a right royal occa-sion at the Châreau of Versailles. At the heart of one of the world's most powerful symbols of monarchy - 2s one speaker noted - a gala benefit dinner saluted the arrival in France of a very different political symbol, the Paris Liberty Flame.

The Oct. 1 party was the culmination of a one-year drive to present to France 2 replica of the flame that, in the upraised hand of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, has welcomed so many to the United States.

The 700 guests included major contributors to the campaign, along with leaders of the American community in France and representatives of French institutions. The dinner also celebrated the 100th anniversary of the In-ternational Herald Tribune, whose directors were present in Paris for several days of centennial events.

The Flame was displayed for the first time in France at a pre-gala press conference in the courtyard of the charcau, and guests passed the floodlit sculpture as they entered

Once inside, events un-folded elegantly. The Royal Opera, recently restored to its old splendor, was the scene of a special performance of Joseph Haydn's "Lo Speziale," presented by the Paris Chamber Opera and the Camerara de Versailles.

Set in a newspaper-filled apothecary shop, the channing one act opera drew smiles from the audience which even Haydn might not have anticipated. Why? When a cast member picked up a newspaper, it rumed out by uncanny coincidence to be a copy of the IHT.

After the curtain fell, the audience was welcomed by the IHT's publisher and associare publisher, Lee W. Huebner and Richard H. Morgan, by U.S. Ambassador to France Joe M. Rod-

NOTES ON A CENTURY

A Centennial Message from the International Herald Tribune

Centennial Drive Peaks at Versailles

gilded copper shell that re-flects light. The artists, now based in Paterson, N.J., used models based on Bartholdi's original design in creating the New York Flame, then used the same molds for its paign has been a belief which Huebner has expressed often throughout the past year:

The project gives the IHT and its readers a chance to make a statement that will speak not only in our own time but our children's time and their children's time.

about the things we believe in and want the world to know; about our faith in the spirit of Liberty - 25 2 principle of life and government

- and about the enduring strength of French-American friendship.

At the heart of the cam-

Paris counterpart.

U.S. Ambassador Joe M. Rodgers (left) addresses press conference at Versailles as IHT Associate Publisher Richard H. Morgan and Attorney Kevin MacCarthy listen. tons and is covered with 1

gers and by the French Am- French Ministry of Culture, bassador to the United States Emmanuel de Margerie.

The speeches offered a special thank-you to all donors to the Flame fund, as well as to the people of France, who presented the Statue of Liberty to the United States just over 100 years ago and who have so warmly welcomed the Herald Tribune for the past century. A tour of the royal apartments followed, culminating in the candlelit Hall of Mirrors, with a view of the illuminated fountains of Versailles, their brilliance heightened by special lire-

Dinner was in the Galerie des Batailles, with after-dinner greetings by Kevin Mac-Carthy, whose New York law firm co-sponsored the appeal and who introduced representatives of Les Metaltiers Champenois, the French artists who crafted both the Paris Flame and its twin in New York Additional greetings were extended by Georges Mesmin, deputy and mayor of the 16th arrondissement in Paris, where the new monument is likely to be located, by Jean-François and by Andre Damien, may-or of Versailles. Other guests included Mmc. Valery Giscard d'Estaing, and Gov. James Thompson of Illinois.

Court, representing the

Also present were representatives and guests of corporate donors to the Flame campaign: Compugraphic Europe S.A.R.L. and Philips Eclairage, the Flame's Mendres Bientaiteurs, as well as the Membres Donateurs: A.T. & T. France; Cheshire. a Xerox company; Du Pont de Nemours (France) S.A.: General Electric France: Grace Specialty Chemicals Co.; Guerlain; Hanae Mori; Harry Winston; Hewlett Packard: S.A. Hoover: IBM Europe: The Mead Corporation, Mead Emballage S.A.; Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith S.A.F.; the Ministère des Postes et Télécommunications; Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York; Port Liberte Partners: Revillon Luxe S.A.; Shiseido

Arrangements for the evening were directed by Pamela Darling and Chantal Sulitzer of Manifestations et Evenements Internationaux. The Flame weighs 25

The Versilles banquet was one of an array of Paris Centennial activities that spanned nearly a week. Othor highlights:
• A "family" birthday Co. Ltd.; and the Timken party for 1600 guests was held in a specially built transparent pavilion at the Palais de Challot, across from the Eiffel Tower. Guests included staff, alumni, advertisers, suppliers and others with active ries to the paper, while the Versailles event focussed on leaders of the French-American communities.

• At an American Club of Paris luncheon at the Grde Interallie, columnist Art Buchwald introduced "The Global Newspaper," a film by Douglas Manning. The film's narrator, Walter Cronkite, also spoke. The American Club was also a central participant in the Flame

 A small reception honoring IHT directors was held at the Villa Windsor, residence of the late Duke and Duchess of Windsor, in the Bois de Boulogne. Mohammed al-Fayed, owner of the Paris Ritz Hotel as well as the Windsor home, hosted the gathering and presented the IHT with a copy of an edition found in the personal papers of the late Duke by his valet. Sidney, who was also present at the gathering and who told the guests of the Duke's affection for the Herald Tribune.

 A plaque was dedicated at 49. Avenue de l'Opera. business home of the paper for its first half-century. A reception followed at Harry's Bur, the Trib's oldest continging advertiser, at 5. Ruc Daunou ("Just say Sank Roo Doc Noo"). Hosts were the proprietors of the 75-year-old establishment. Andrew and Duncan MacElhone, son and grandson of the original

 A number of informal luncheons and receptions were held throughout the week, including a Sunday brunch for out-of-town guests at the Ritz Hotel.

 Looking toward the fu-rure, the IHT board and executives met to discuss the role of the paper as it enters its second century.

This is the 35th in a series messages about the IHT which will appear throughout the Centennial year.

South Africa to Maintain Emergency Rule 2 U.S. Pilots

By William Claiborne Washington Post Service

CAPE TOWN, South Africa -

Mr. Vlok said that before seriously considering lifting the emer-gency, the government would have protest education, street committo finish addressing the black mater tees and para-police groups formed jority's demands for upgrading by young "comrades" — had been their living conditions and make weakened by the emergency, but significant progress in power-shar- not eliminated. ing negotiations.

"We would like to lift the emergency, but it would be irresponsible if we don't once again have stable communities and if we don't accomplish our three main goals," Mr. Vlok said in an interview this week with Katharine Graham, publisher of The Washington Post.

Those goals, Mr. Vlok said, are: imposing security measures to bring short-term stability to black townships; upgrading living conditions for blacks, and finding a political solution that will give blacks a role in governing the country.

He acknowledged that achieving crimes to the police. "This is why system.

RULES: South Africa Curbs

(Continued from Page 1) stationary to promote banned organizations.

Class boycotts have closed a number of black universities for weeks at a time during the last three years. White universities, most notably the University of Cape Town and the University of the Witwa-tersrand in Johannesburg, have been disrupted by anti-government

However, campus protest in South Africa is a sporadic and relatively low-key phenomenon, limit-ed mainly to the English-speaking Protests were the subject of national debate in August after attacks by militant students on prom-inent politicians on the Cape Town and Witwatersrand campuses.

Among those prevented from speaking by mostly-black demon-strators were Denis Worrall, the former South African ambassador to Britain; Helen Suzman, a veteran anti-apatheid activist and opposition member of Parliament; Mangosuthu Buthelezi, a moderate Zulu leader, and Conor Cruise O'Brien, the Irish diplomat and liberal philosopher.

Following those incidents, which were widely criticized by liberal as well as conservative whites, the overnment said that subsidy conditions were necessary to protect freedom of speech.

The vice chancellor of the University of Cape Town, Stuart Saunders, said Thursday that university lawyers would be consulted about the possibility of a court

Mr. Saunders said in a statement issued in anticipation of the measures that it was "fundamentally wrong and counterproductive" to place conditions on state funding of higher education.

Mr. de Klerk said Thursday night, "Our aim is not to encroach upon the autonomy of the universities," adding that the measures would not "substantially" affect "the academic freedom" of stu-

■ Commonwealth Split

A high-level panel struggled Thursday behind the scenes of the Commonwealth conference in Vancouver, British Columbia, after differences on how to speed racial reform in South Africa divided the refinery complex near where group, Reuters reported.

On the third day of the meeting of Commonwealth heads of state. the 49-member body focused on Third World debt and the trade protectionism that some nations believe has kept the economies of the developing world impover-

But the South African question, which has isolated Britain from its former colonies over the imposition of economic sanctions, was certain to generate more debate before the meeting ends Saturday.

The deep division between Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain and other Commonwealth leaders was highlighted again dur-

Mr. Vlok said the government The minister for law and order, would pay particular attention to emergency, imposed in selected articonary thing they are trying to Adriaan Vlok, says that while the further dismantling the "alterna-16-month state of emergency has tive governmental structures" that succeeded in cooling the revolu- radical blacks established in the tionary climate in South Africa, it townships as unrest peaked in the will have to remain in force for the two years before the emergency foreseeable future. two years before the emergency was imposed on June 12, 1986.

He said the alternative structures

These "governments within the government" pose the most serious threat to law and order in South Africa and could become the object of official banning, Mr. Vlok said.

At present, under the Internal Security Act, the government can detain without charges the leaders of the alternative structures, but cannot officially han the existence. of the parallel institutions.

Mr. Vlok said the radicals tried eas of South Africa from July 1985 spread." Mr. Vlok added that the to March 1986, had been lifted with emergency decree helped stem the the expectation that a return to spread of such activities, and could normal conditions would encour- not be lifted until that threat was age moderate black leaders to ne-eliminated. gotiate peaceful change. But he added: "People did not come forward and the unrest got worse. We cannot make the same mistake." Mr. Vlok said the government was watching a treason trial in Jobannesburg in which several residents of the black township of Alexandra are accused of having set up alternative government structures, allegedly to undermine the elected township council and fo-

Calling the ontcome potentially a "landmark verdict," Mr. Vlok said, "If they are found guilty, it will be easier for us to arrest these

Mr. Vlok also said the government was paying close attention to the National Education Crisis Committee, which last year was acto create an alternative system to the police and the courts and in-these goals would take time, although he offered no timetable. we say a revolutionary climate still though he offered no timetable. we say a revolutionary climate still though he offered no timetable. The said. The said the type of education they want for South Africa, xists," he said.

He said that an earlier state of he said, "this is the kind of revolu-

"We don't have any fight with black people who want to change their education system," he said "but they must do it in an orderly with the government. You way can't allow revolutionary ideology and Communist ideology to be taught in the schools."

Mr. Vlok acknowledged that the committee had been instrumental last year in ending a yearlong school boycott by blacks, but said that its renewed efforts to establish people's education jeopardized its

The pacification of black townships by upgrading services and fa-cilities, coupled with better education and more job opportunities, would have to be developed more before a return to normal law can be considered, Mr. Vlok said. "It depends how long this will take before we can lift the emergen-

A HEROINE'S WELCOME - Ida Nudel, a Soviet economist, flanked Thursday by Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, left, and Foreign Minister Shimon Peres of Israel upon arriving in Tel Aviv after a 16-year battle to emigrate. Miss Nudel, 56, whose activism made her a symbol of the plight of Soviet Jews, became a citizen at the airport.

PEACE: Arias Urges Cease-Fire Talks With Contras

(Continued from Page 1)

ists did not reach an agreement from there. Planes that fly into Nictute for a cease-fire agreed upon by tras and issue a broad amnesty.

He also criticized the new Sandinist policy of seeking talks with individual rebel squad leaders, instead of with the top leadership. The questions of amnesty, and negotiation with the contras, have emerged as two of the key matters to be resolved in Nicaragua as the Nov. 7 deadline approaches.

Among the reasons Nicaragua has strongly supported the accord is that it remires every country in the region to forbid the use of its

(Continued from Page 1)

ing harmlessly on a beach by an oil

Iran did not publicly acknowledge launching the latest attack, but it gave extensive coverage on state-run television to film footage of the blazing tanker released by Kuwait's Information Ministry.

U.S. officials, who detected Silkworm batteries overlooking the Strait of Hormuz last year, made it clear to Iran that even the activation of the Silkworms' radar control devices would be considered a hostile act against U.S. forces near-

Last month, U.S. military forces attacked an Iranian mine-laying vessel, the Iran Ajr, sowing large contact mines in an anchorage used by U.S. ships off Bahrain. U.S. offi-

Thursday's missile struck.

doesn't happen, we will not be on overthrow nearby governments. If said that while those steps were the road to the peace and democra-Honduras complies with this provisubstantial, more were needed. In cy that we all want for Central sion, it will have to expel the con- particular, he said, the Sandinists tras, who have bases in Honduras must ease their control of television Mr. Arias said that if the Sandin- and whose war is largely directed broadcasting in Nicaragua.

erally decreed a cease-fire in three could not be expected to close conremote combat zones, and on Tues- tra camps and ban clandestine sup- opposition. The government has day they added a fourth. Mr. Arias ply flights if the Sandinists do not said such decrees were no substinegotiate a cease-fire with the con-

"To a great extent, what Honduras has to do with respect to the contras in its territory will depend on a negotiated cease-fire in Nicaragua," decide what to do with the contras, Praise From U.S. Senate and then we will know what Honduras must do." The accord also requires com-American country, and this month the Sandinists allowed the reopening of an opposition newspaper nationand a radio station they had shut ton.

passed through the anchorage.

The Sungari's nominal corporate owner, OMI Sungari Transport

Inc. of Monrovia, Liberia, is listed

by Lloyd's of London as a subsidiary of Ogden Marine International

Orden is a major U.S. independent shipping concern operating 24 tankers worldwide on charters to oil companies and national govern-ments, according to shipping in-

An Ogden vice president, Peter

Long, reached in New York by telephone said, "I would characterize the damage as serious," but he added that none of the crew was injured by the explosion and fire, which took five hours to extinguish

Corp. of New York

dustry sources.

territory by guerrillas fighting to more than a year ago. Mr. Arias A militantly anti-Sandinist busi-with senior contras, the peace ac-cord would be in danger of failure. contras take off from Honduras. license to operate a television sta-Last week, the Sandinists unilat-But Mr. Arias said Honduras tion in Nicaragua, which would be But Mr. Arias said Honduras tion in Nicaragua, which would be ven no indication how it will act on the application.

"Opening La Prensa and the tant, but it is not enough," Mr. Arias said. "There should be other press outlets and television should he said. "Nicaragua will not be a government monopoly."

The U.S. Senate, on a 92-3 vote Thursday, lauded Mr. Arias for winning the peace prize and plete press freedom in each Central pledged its "firm support and full American country, and this month cooperation" to the Central American peace plan, United Press Inter-

The U.S. frigate Stark was saved from sinking after an Iraqi missile attack in May thanks to crew training and simple luck, particularly since the ship's design limited its fire-fighting equipment, the navy said Thursday in Washington.

The Stark crew initially faced the threat of "mass detonation of the forward missile magazine," the report disclosed, according to The Associated Press.

At the same time, the sailors were grappling with a fire that was, unique in U.S. Navy experience, a fire so hot that, instead of spreading horizontally, spread vertically by heating equipment on the deck above to the flash point of ignition,

"The severe displacement limit act that put in jeopardy U.S.-flag ruptured forward tankage area.

vessels that either anchored or #U.S. Report on the Stark

Pressures to Ignore Safety

WASHINGTON — Two Eastern Airlines pilots told Congress on Thursday that the airline had repeatedly forced them and others to fly unsafe planes, with one saying his "nerves are shaken" by manage ment's attitude toward safety.

An Eastern official, however, said the airline would never coerce a pilot to use an aircraft with a problem, and blamed the comolaints on a labor-management dis-

Eastern and its unionized pilots have had bitter relations since shortly after Texas Air Corp. took it over in February 1986.

The pilots, James R. Sexton and Donald McChure, told the Senate Commerce, Science and Transpor tation Committee that they believed the pressure they have felt comes from a desire by Eastern management to cut costs and in crease profits.

Mr. McClure, an Eastern pilot for 23 years, said he was removed from a flight on Aug. 10 for refusing to fly an aircraft with one of its navigation systems inoperative.' He added: "I was sent home, leaving 149 passengers and six crew members on the aircraft. The next captain also refused to fly the same aircraft." The plane was finally fixed before taking off, he said.

Mr. Sexton said that on Sept. 6 he was taxiing a plane for takeoff from LaGuardia Airport in New York when the flight crew decided to return to the gate for repairs because of a suspected problem with a hydraulic pump.

Later in that week, he said, after experiencing similar flight control problems, the airline "went to great ength to attempt to convince us that all was normal and it was our method of checking the flight controls that was improper.

Mr. Sexton said he was then told by management that his name has been "red flagged and if you cause any more flight delays due to improper control checks we're going to call you in. You just lucked out that you discovered a bad pump."

"As a professional aviator, my nerves are shaken by the present approach which Eastern Airlines management is demonstrating toward air safety," Mr. Sexton said.

Henry A. Duffy, president of the 40,000-member Air Line Pilots Association and a Delta Airlines pilot, said that competitive pressures throughout the airline industry have led to efforts to slash mainte mance expenses.

"Willful violations by unscrupulous carriers do appear to be on the rise," Mr. Duffy said.

Senator Ernest F. Hollings, Democrat of South Carolina, the committee chairman, said after the pilots testified. "The bottom line is they're doin safety-for profits."

The head of the Federal Aviation Administration, Allan McArtor, who attended the hearing, said afterward that his agency receives "a lot" of complaints from pilots who contend that they are being forced to fly planes that should be grounded. He said complaints often are sparked by labor disputes but also reflect pressures management puts on aircraft maintenance

(AP, UPI)

EUROPEAN TOPICS

Anti-Violence Oath For Ulster Candidates

Future candidates in local elections in Northern Ireland may have to renounce under oath all support for paramilitary organizations. The oath would require candidates to "declare and undertake that if elected. I will neither support or assist the activities of any organization proscribed by law in Northern Ireland."

Britain's Northern Ireland secretary, Tom King, said the draft proposal was meant for both sides in the sectarian fighting in Ulster. The British press said the proposal aimed to curb Sinn Fein, the political wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. Sinn Fein, which maintains that the IRA has the right to engage in armed conflict, has held 59 of the 566 council seats in the British-ruled province since Both Roman Catholic and Protestant parties have criticized the proposal, but for different reasons. The moderate Social Democratic and Labor Party said it would give Sinn Fein un-deserved publicity. But the Rev-erend Ian Paisley, leader of the Democratic Unionist Party, said the proposal did not go far enough because it did not outlaw Sinn Fein. Sinn Fein said that "the British used to complain we used bullets instead of the ballot box, but once we started winning elections, they want to change to rules and stop us running or tak-

Euthanasia for Young Divides the Dutch

Despite broad support for mercy killing in the Netherlands, the debate has flared up again following revelations by Dr. Tom Voite, a cancer specialist. The doctor said he gave lethal pills to terminally ill adolescents, aged 15 to 17, who said they wanted to die.

Dr. Voute, who works at Emma Children's Hospital in

Dr. Tom Voûte

Amsterdam, said that since 1980 he had given powerful sedatives to about six terminally ill teenagers a year, at their request upon leaving the hospital.

The minister of public health, Eelco Brinkman, saying he was "shocked," has ordered an investigation. tigation. The Dutch Royal Medical Association criticized Dr. Voûte because he had not been present when his patients died and had not always obtained the consent of their parents. But advocates of euthanasia said that terminally ill teen-agers, like adults, should have the right to commit suicide. Several parents of adolescents whom Dr. Voûte helped die have publicly defended him.

Although mercy killing is illegal in the Netherlands, doctors who practice it are seldom prosecuted. Doctors acknowledge helping more than 5,000 patients die each year. The Dutch government is considering legislation to regulate cuthanasia.

Around Europe

Gro Harlem Brundtland, the Norwegisz prime minister, will be featured in an eight-minute video clip intended to save time for her and for foreign television crews. About 60 percent of the requests for interviews with Mrs. Brundtland concern the same subject the women in her government and the film is meant to reduce the number of television crews asking the same questions, a government spokesman said. Eight of 18 members of her Labor cahanet are women. The video, disunbuted free to foreign reporters. will show Mrs. Brundtland, 48, at work and at home.

In an attempt to reduce acid rain, Britain is to build the world's largest sulfur dioxide extraction plant at the Drax power station in Yorkshire. The Central Electricity Generating Board, Britain's major power utility. plans to spend £600 million ($960 million) to fit the 4,000-megawatt Drax plant and another power plant, the 2,000-megawati Fiddler's Ferry in Cheshire, with special equipment to extract sul-fur from the flue gases. The new measures are expected to reduce by 15 percent the country's sulfur dioxide emissions, which have been blamed for much of the acid rain in Western Europe. The two coal-fueled plants where the special equipment is to be installed produce 15 percent of Britain's electricity. The first desulfurization plant will start working in 1993, and the program will be fully operational by Twenty-six percent of Finnish men say they are sexually harassed by women at work, according to Élena Haavio-Mannila, a sociologist and co-author of "Sexual Harassment in the Workplace," a survey by the Funish Council for Equality to be published this fall. The harassment, which occurs mostly in female-dominated sectors such as catering or nursing, ranges from pressure for sexual acts to pinching, suggestive looks and gestures, telephone calls and sex-ual jokes. Men under 30 are twice as likely to be pinched as those over 45. Thirty-four percent of the women questioned said they were sexually harassed by male colleagues.

- SYTSKE LOOLJEN

Widening Split in Opposition Disillusions South Koreans

By Clyde Haberman New York Times Service SEOUL — A widening split in the opposition has embittered many South Koreans, who say they resent what they regard as poten-tially ruinous intransigence by opposition leaders who have failed to agree on a single presidential can-didate.

Interviews in recent weeks with closed that because of this disillusionment with the two political leaders of the opposition - Kim Dae Jung and Kim Young Sam many Koreans may turn their backs on the opposition in the presidential election and support a gov-ernment they do not especially like. The election is due by late Decem-

Typical of these people was a physician who told a friend that he had thought of voting for Kim Dae Jung, who, on Wednesday, once again delayed a formal declaration of cardidacy but who has made of candidacy but who has made clear he is in the race.

But the physician said he was fed up with Kim Dae Jung's squab-bling with Kim Young Sam and ruling party candidate, Roh Tae Woo, as a stabilizing force, he said.

He is not alone in his irritation. especially among middle-class Koreans — businessmen, journalists, professors and others whom Koreans broadly describe as intellectu-"There are people who feel more and more disgusted," said Lee Shin Born, an anti-government activist who returned recently from political exile in the United States. "I had lunch with two people who asked me why were they out there the military installed government, the two Kims form the mainstream opposition, and a third Kim, Kim Jong Pil, harkens back to a previous military regime, that of the late President Park Chung Hee. While Kim Jong Pil is given no chance of winning, he could take votes from Mr. Roh and up the balance. Two or three candidates from insignificant parties are also likely.

> stream Kims fear that their divisions and the refusal of either man over their mability to settle on a single candidate. Why, then, have they been un-

The question has dominated matically going to be Mr. Roh, as the choice of the incumbent president, Chun Doo Hwan.

Both men have sought the presi-

But, at heart, they do not like each other and could not be more different in temperament and interests. As soon as there was a grand prize to chase once again, the marriage fell apart. Looking back, supporters of the two men say, the Chun government probably had counted on that happening when it of mission" and the suffering they be good enough if many candidat have endured in the name of democracy. To drop out now, they say, would be a betrayal of the South Korean people. Each also to back down will make it easier for ers who would not let him quit.

is especially insistent that he is embarked on a crusade. He goes so far and only one of the two Kims, who assassination," he said. "I feel that declare their disappointment, too, maybe God saved me so many times to serve the people."

On the question of who has fought harder for democracy, Kim Young Sam does not yield. "I fought all the struggles," he said, "While Kim Dae Jung was in Japan or in the United States, or prison. I was with the people."

An unexpected element in the dispute is the fact that Kim Dae Jung is despised by many army generals, who regard him as radical, even pro-Communist, although his politics are basically middle-ofthe-road. Some officers are said to have warned that they might rise up if he wins.

Through it all, Mr. Roh has sat on the sidelines, watching in quiet glee. Many political analysts consider him the probable winner in a four-way race. Others are not so

Specific issues will not matter nearly as much in the campaign as personalities, regional loyalties and gut feelings among voters about whether they want to be governed by an architect of the present authoritarian regime or by untested opposition figures.

On South Korea's dominant concerns - economic growth and security against North Korea there are not many differences among the candidates, except perhaps around the edges. These are matters, after all, on which roughand-tumble debate has never been tolerated

P

٠...

Kim Dae Jung talks more than the others about removing inequi-ties in the distribution of wealth Kim Young Sam emphasizes his anti-corruption commitment. Mr. Roh has begun to ruminate about conditions under which South Ko rea might take back full control of its armed forces from United States commanders by the mid-1990s.

On all sides, there is concern that days. Both talk about their "sense even a fairly run election may not stay in the race. The winner is likely to get no more than 35 percent: the vote. Then, some politicisms predict, the next president will find has a coterie of hard-line support-

UNESCO: Spaniard Is Within Reach of Leadership The main reason for the Soviet served as deputy director-general (Continued from Page 1)

threatened defections by Japan and some Western countries that have the desire to keep UNES the time he spent as a special advismade no secret of their exaspera-tion with Mr. M'Bow and his policies. But on its own, it would not be ticipation of the United States. enough to bring back the United said is UNESCO's anti-Western Both have said they want to see genuine reform in the organization, budget deficit of $40 million.

irrespective of who is director-general, before they will consider rejoining. One required reform, according to Laura Genero, the State Department official in charge of international organizations, is a mechanism whereby major donors would get a bigger voice in the way money is spent.

CO alive and the realization that er to Mr. M'Bow, 1983-1984. this can only be done with the par-

States, which left the organization in 1984, or Britain, which quit a zation a third of its contributors' Pakistan. But he was opposed by in 1984, or Britain, which quit a zation a third of its contributors' year later in protest over what they budget, down to $145 million a Latin American countries, the So

Mr. Mayor, a native of Barcelona who has taught biochemistry at Granada and Madrid universities man who served as the Spanish UNESCO observers say some cluding 11 Nobel prize winners, to Third World countries.

rightists in the Reagan administrasign a petition of support. tion paradoxically are hoping that His critics say that although he is angered its allies, France shifted its Mr. M'Bow will be re-elected becalling for reform and restructuring of UNESCO, he did little to bring this about during the three years he cause this would make it unnecessary to open the question of rejoin-

The preferred candidate of Western countries when voting be-The withdrawal of the United gan last week was Sahabzada Yayear, and the fall of the dollar deep- viet Union and several other naened UNESCO's financial crisis. It tions because of his role in a rightist is expected to finish this year with a military dictatorship. He dropped out after the second round when it became clear he would never gain the necessary support.

Mr. Mayor then moved forward since 1963, is a smooth and dapper as the preferred rival to Mr. M'Bow, whom opponents accuse of minister of education in 1981 and factionalism, authoritarianism, 1982. He boosted his campaign for nepotism and patronage-mongerthe director-general's job by getting ing, but who retained the support 100 scientists and intellectuals, in- of French-African, Arab and other

In a move that dismayed and

Moscow to Pay UN Assessment. Showing Up U.S. United Press International

the report added.

UNITED NATIONS, New York — The Soviet Union annonnced Thursday that it would pay its outstanding debt to the United Nations and denounced cuts in U.S. contributions as lacking "realism and responsibility." Diplomats saw the move as a well-timed slight to the United its contribution to the budget. A Soviet deputy foreign min-ister, Vladimir F. Petrovsky, said Moscow made a payment Monday of $28 million in addition to its 1987 UN assessment, "to cover our debt to the regular budget." The United States, the largest contributor to the United Nations, is assessed 25 percent of the budget. The Soviet Union contributes 10.2 percent.

States, which for the second straight year has drastically cut

GULF: Iranian Missile Hits an American-Owned Tanker in Kuwaiti Waters that Iran had committed a hostile as flaming crude oil flowed out of a placed on the FFG-7 Class design

resulted in compromises that reduced Stark's ability to respond to with the insistence of both men on a conflagration of the magnitude nunning even if it divides the oppothat occurred," the report said. sition vote. He just may support the The report was written by an investigative panel formed by Navy

Secretary James H. Webb in June, The Stark was attacked at night by a lone Iraqi jet fighter that had been presumed to be friendly. Iraq has admitted its responsibility, describing the attack as a case of mistaken identity. The United States has accepted the Iraqi expla-

SOVIET: A Shift on Laws

Patrick Moynihan, Democrat of New York, for years a critic of Moscow's human rights record said he was amazed by what he saw. as Mr. Zagladin's sincerity.

spoken like this in Stalin's time." he said. His remarks were heard in Russian translation in Moscow. Under Article 70, many dissenters served long sentences in prison or labor camps. The article pro-

ticle 190 can be imprisoned for three years but have often been rearrested at the end of their terms. On the program, Mr. Zagladin said the problem of what in the West were described as political prisoners "practically no longer exsts" and that fewer than 20 people were imprisoned under article 70. He said there was "practically no #### demonstrating last June. It was for democracy, they said not to elect either of these guys president." Prospects are basically for a four-way race. Mr. Roh represents (Continued from Page 1)

"Soviet officials could not have Supporters of the two mainvides for up to 10 years in prison and a possible five more years in internal exile. Offenders under Ar-

one left" in prison under Article sique of adding demands in the final stages of a negotiation,

Mrs. Bonner said-she believed there were about 460 people still the final stages of a negotiation, held under Article 70, Article 190 demands which are then withand under the religious articles of drawn to create an image of flexi-

the ruling party to cover up any vote-rigging, should that be tried, or to win fairly. Even South Koreans with no Kim Dae Jung, who is more intellectual and fiery in his thetonic, particular political identification as to suggest that his candidacy say they prefer an election with a benefits from divine guidance. "I clear-cut choice between Mr. Roh was saved from five attempts at able to act on their stated beliefs? South Korean politics since the events of this past summer, when the government succumbed to opposition demands in the face of nationwide street protests, agreeing to open elections for president. Until then, the new leader was auto-

In searching for answers, people close to both Kims cite one obvious factor. "Personal ambitions got in the way," said a politician who supports Kim Dae Jung, "They both think this is their last chance. That's why they're somewhat fanatical about not giving up."

dency in vain for nearly two decades. Their battling in 1980, during a brief interlude between the assassination of Park and a coup by Mr. Chun, who was then a general gave the new military government an excuse to crack down in the name of stability, producing wide-spread arrests and purges. For a while, Kim Dae Jung was under a death sentence on sedition charges. Since then, the Kims have maintained a political marriage of con-agreed to an election.

But the struggle goes deeper than Both Kims are driven men these his legitimacy.

SHULTZ: U.S.-Soviet Treaty 'Isn't Buttoned Up Yet (Continued from Page 1) siles until the West German Other issues remaining in talks Moscow has suggested such talks

Pershings were eliminated. Soviet Embassy officials put it another way, saying that the German mis-siles had to be subjected to the same timetable for elimination that would apply to the U.S. weapons.
U.S. officials said that they did not consider this a serious obstacle, seeing it as typical of the Soviet ons and agreeing on the details of verifying compliance. These mat-ters are being dealt with as negotiators in Geneva work on the specific language of the treaty text.

Mr. Shultz was also skeptical of the Soviet proposal that experts from the two sides meet to discuss what objects should be allowed to be launched into space.

on the treaty, which is to eliminate as one way to overcome differences Soviet and U.S. missiles with on what limits should be placed in ranges of 300 to 3,000 miles (500 to 5,000 kilometers), include setting a sile systems. Paul H. Nitze, the 35 nior arms control adviser to Mil Shultz, has recommended that the United States agree to such talks.

But Mr. Shultz suggested that the Soviet proposal would not be readily verifiable." He added that such talks might also be risky be cause the United States might agree to limits now that would later be found to be overly restrictive for future space research.

hitemational Herald Tribune

RRKRN)

■ Mysterious Bob Dylan

Cultural 'Global Village' Poland's Rock Musicians

CRITICS' CHOICE

GENEVA

The Minotaur and Surrealism Minotaure, the review published in Paris by Albert Skira from 1933 to '39, was a catalyst to artists from Picasso to the Surrealists. The Greek myth — of the Cretan king Minos, the Labyrinth, the Minotaur — half man, half bull, Theseus and Ariadne — and its symbolism inspired artists and writers, especially the Surrealists. In paintings, prints, photographs, collages and other forms. Dali, de Chirico, Man Ray, Magritte, Brassaï, Ernst and others reveal forebodings on the eve of World War II. Dali's cover for a 1936 issue even incorporates mushroom-shaped clouds. Works reproduced in the maga-zine are the basis of this exhibition at the Musee Rath from Oct. 17 to Jan. 31, then at the Musée d'Art Moderne de la Ville de Paris from March to May 1988. (Mavis Guinard)

25th International Dance Festival The 25th Paris International Dance Festival opens at the Theatre des Champs-Elysées with the Ballet Theatre Français of Nancy (Oct. 28-Nov. 1) in a program of charcographies by Serge Lifar, comprising "Suite en Blanc," with Patrick Dupond; "Istar," with Isabelle Guèrin; "Icare," with sets by Picasso and with Dupond in the title part, and "Phèdre," with Coctean's sets and costumes and Marcia Haydee in the principal role. The London Festival Ballet (Nov. 3-9), which appeared in the second Paris festival in 1964, comes with two programs and with Natalya Makarova and Peter Schaufuss heading the roster of dancers: the first program is John Craning the roster of dancers: the first program is John Cranko's three-act "Eugene Onegin"; the second includes Gen Teiley's "Sphinx," Ben Stevenson's "Three Preludes," Kevin Haigen's "Meditation," Christopher Bruce's
"Land" and Harald Lander's "Etudes," The Royal Danish Ballet (Nov. 16-18) brings Bournonville's "La Sylphide" and a new ballet by Ib Andersen. Then the Leningrad Kirov Ballet moves into the Palais des Congrès for a long run, from Nov. 17 to Jan. 10.

LONDON

Lost World of the Windsors

■ The last word on, and the last pictures of, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are lavishly provided by fashion writer Suzy Menkes in her new book, "The Windsor Style," published in Britain by Grafton Books. The author had access to the house in the Bois de Boulogne where the pair spent their last years. The photographs, many pre-viously unpublished, show David and Wallis dancing, gardening, dog-handling, eating, posing and above all wearing — wearing clothes well, age not so well. There are shots of the rooms they used, their jewels and lingerie and menu cards and knickknacks, as if from the interior of some sumptious funeral-mound. Spooky snaps of closes the full of the duke's kills and sporrans vie with those of the duchess's pumps and handbags. It is a volume full of the trappings and habits of hubris and pathos: Wallis was served as son altesse royale; her makeup and hair were they treated their dogs like children and each other, often embarassingly, as mother and son, testament to the pervasive influence of Queen Mary, leading to the duke's dying call for "Mama mama mama." This book should sate the greediest appetite for Windsoriana, from the recipe for glazed bacon snacks the duchess liked to serve before dinner, to the niceties of the duke's check suits. Cecil Beaton saw them as perennial dandies; Suzy Menkes shows how two dispossessed people lived out their lives under a fierce and selfish discipline, when style and lapdogs were all that remained.

Proust Mania in French Publishing

by Katherine Knorr

ARIS - Marcel Proust has always been more talked about than read, and the latest reason to talk about his monumental work, "Remem-brance of Things Past." has gone out of copyright, spawning new editions, new criticism and the publication of more scribbles found in the closets of his descen-

The French publishing industry is in the middle of a publicity blitz, betting on a Proust boom — with new companies getting into the game and Gallimard, Proust's lengting multiple publisher surface. longtime publisher, putting out a new version of its expensive and apparently no longer anywhere near definitive Pléiade edition. No doubt there will be a Proust boom, in buying if not in reading, but it is unlikely that any new versions of the book will significantly change what the man who is arguably France's greatest 20th-century writer had to say. Even though he died leaving many loose ends, his drift was clear.

"Remembrance" ("A la recherche du temps perdu") is many things: a novel of manners, a careful portrait of a dead society, an exeruciating and rather precious examination of obsessive love, an attempt to bring back the exquisite flavor of Proust's sensitive childhood, an analysis of the artistic temperament and a very cogent look at historical movements that swept through the French bourgeoisie and aristocracy — and eventually everybody — at the beginning of this century. It is a painting a series of paintings of extraordinary proportions with a huge cast of characters who seem to live in vastly different worlds until they come together in one last fresco, just as the narrator finds that his vocation is to write it all down to recapture Time.
 "Remembrance" opens with the narrator's childhood, his illnesses, his obsessive love for his mother, and introduces many of the impor-tant characters through the eyes of a child who sees them as magnificent figures from fairy tales and distant history. It follows Marcel through his teens and young adult-hood, as he slowly makes his way into the also magnificent, but more mundane, worlds that these creatures inhabit — mainly Paris salons and the most elegant Normandy coast resort. It follows them through marriages and deaths, social victories and reverses, and eventually, after an unspecified number of years during which Marcel has disappeared because of ill health, finds them all again in one grand salon where, somehow, no one is any longer who he should be or where he should be — where the carnival masks have all changed faces. The young seem to be their parents, the old are unrecognizable and Marcel is no longer a child or a young man but an aging gentleman to be treated with respect.

From left to right, Nadar's pictures of Charles Haas, one of the models for Swann; the Comtesse de Greffulhe; and Proust as a child.

If Proust is often difficult to read, it is first because he wrote long — really long. Had he lived longer — he died in 1922 at the age of 51 — he would have written longer. (His method is well-known: Not only did he rewrite endlessly, but he kept on adding to the work, making it denser and more detailed, with little pieces of paper that he folded up like accordions into his writing notebooks. These papers are still being found, and not all are legible. He drove proof-readers mad.)

HE other great difficulty with Proust is that he —and therefore Marcel — had such a refined, not to say sick, ap-proach to friendship and to love that it is often difficult to take in the minutiae of the suffering - so often like the intense and detailed self-consciousness that only teen-agers can feel. (Suffering indeed was the basis of his work, and he believed it was a necessary pre-condition to any great work: The happy years are lost years, we wait for suffering to begin to work.") And yet the book is brilliant — brilliant in looking at how people deceive themselves and others, brilliant at watching the small and another as they march on through their unobservant and unexamined but nevertheless complicated lives. And brilliant finally in showing the decline and fall of a rigid salon society in which each player knew his rank and in which it seemed that the stars in the firmament would never fall to earth. They did, of course — this society was shattered by World War I, but Pronst clearly shows that it was destroyed before the war, by the Dreyfus af-

Proust was born in 1871 into a rich family; his mother inherited a great deal and his father was an eminent professor of medicine. Early on he was sickly, and emotionally very dependent on his grandmother and mother - who were devoted to each other and to him. He was born sad, and he had a peculiar eye for the significant detail that turns nostalgia into despair. He was also, in his dependency, a tyrant, needing to sequester what he loved — whether his mother or his lovers.

In 1889 be volunteered for a year's military service, and he always had a strong interest in mili-tary strategy (indeed, passages of "Remembrance" have to do with theories of battle). With an independent income, an interest in the arts and a strong streak of dilettan-tism, he moved into salons and got except with men.
While homosexuality and Jewto know some of the more brilliant people of the time. But "Remembrance" is not strictly autobio-graphical — Marcel Proust did not live what his narrator lived, Marcel Proust was never to become as accepted in this society as his narrator did. Like so much semi-autobiographical writing, "A la recherche" shows a strong dose of wishful thinking.

HE two things that most influenced Proust's life and therefore his work — because more than for most writers the two are inseparable — were his Jewishness (through his mother) and his homosexuality. He was fas-cinated by women, but, as he told spiritually and never found love aren't women at all notably Alber-

At the same time, his parrator is ishness are buttresses in the cathenot Jewish, but several characters dral-like structure of his work. in the book are, and Proust seems to have split up his own problems with his Jewishness by having one character — Charles Swann, who is Proust distanced his narrator from both themes. The great love of Proust's life. Alfred Agostinelli, at one time his chauffeur and secrethe mirror of the narrator, living tary, was translated into the wom-an who shatters the narrator Marwhat he has lived a generation be-fore — be the refined, assimilated, cel's life - Albertine. And while indeed converted Jew, member of Marcel observes with explicit and the Jockey Club and friend of the Prince of Wales — and another Jewish character, Bloch, be a rude sometimes tedious detail the doings of homosexuals, male and female, he himself is not homosexual and unpleasant arriviste.

though he is very attractive to men.

He is brilliant at drawing aristocratic women and cocottes, admiring them but never missing what is low and mean and calculating, or simply mediocre. The only women who fail in his book are those who

Proust's women are a mixed loL

All of them will be deeply affected by the Dreyfus affair (Proust himself was a staunch Dreyfusard). The Swann of "Swann in Love" will be ruined in society, not only by his unfortunate love for the

Continued on page 9

TTTHEN you first handle a Patek Philippe, you VV become aware that this watch has the presence of an object of rare perfection.

We know the feeling well. We experience it every time a Patek Philippe leaves the hands of our craftsmen. You can call it pride. For us it lasts a moment; for you, a lifetime.

We made this watch for you – to be part of your life - simply because this is the way we've always made watches.

And if we may draw a condusion from five generations of experience, it will be this: choose once but choose well.

A Patek Philippe because it's for a lifetime.

nodek are avadable in a variety of

PATEK PHILIPPE GENEVE

Patek Philippe S.A. 41, rue du Rhône - 1211 Geneva 3 - Switzerland

Magasin: 12, avenue Montaigne · 75008 Paris Tél. (1) 47 23 68 83

Japanese Designers in Paris Shows Are Less Ferocious, Still Inventive

by Bernadine Morris

ARIS — Under sodden skies, the French ready to wear showings for spring and summer came alive today with two major collections by Japanese designers. Rei Kawakubo of Comme des Garçons and Yohji Yamamoto have dis-played continuous growth as designers since they first showed their collections here six years ago. While their clothes would never be confused with Western classics, they are less ferocious than they were in the beginning and are a constant stimulant to avant-garde and tapered pants softened by skirt-like panels cut the severity.

A day-long downpour dampened the tents designers here and in other fashion centers. They seem fearless and inventive, rare qualities in designers anywhere.

Kawakubo is in a whimsical phase, presenting almost romantic clothes in soft silks, with sheer inserts, sequined panels, gracefully full skirts and bare shoulders contributing to her new feminine look. Yamamoto's clothes are more austere, but capelet tops Yamamoto trousers and jacket. Left, Comme des Garçons suit.

A day-long downpour dampened the tents in the courtyard of the Louvre where the shows take place, but they didn't deter the crowds. More than 1,750 journalists have been accredited to cover the shows, including 185 from the United States and one each from Poland, Kuwait and Hungary. Everyone tries to see the important shows. The largest tents hold 1,500. Congestion is inevitable.

"Imagine ruffles from Rei Kawakubo," said Corinne Coombe, the Bergdorf Goodman executive after the show. It was not only the ruffles that gave the clothes their fresh look. There were more dresses than usual, some quite closely fitted, long suit jackets designed not to close in front, and panne velvet, in sober shades of aubergine and brown. Shorts and full, ankle length trousers appeared in profusion and nobody thought about the length of skirts.

That is because there was enough going on in the shape of the clothes so the length was mimportant and also because a variety of lengths appeared in each style. Hardly any hemline was cut straight across and even. Everything curved and undulated, moving in dramatic sweeps from side to side. Length alone was irrelevant. The same asymmetric looks lent drama to Yamamoto's styles. Trousers seemed to dominate, but a panel over one leg gave the appearance of a skirt on one side. Colors were sober navy, brown and black, which became more sober when they were combined as in a black satin jumper over a navy T-shirt. But there were occasional whimsical touches, such as buttons used decoratively at the front of suits; large cartwheel hats as big as umbrellas over jumpers and jumpsuits with white blouses and rounded skirts made of patchwork fabrics.

What comes through in the Japanese collections is a sense of excitement as the designers experiment with new ways to deal with clothes. "It's a new direction and I find it exciting," said Azzedine Alaïa, who took time off from his own collection to see what the Japanese were up to.

© 1987 The New York Times

The Cultural 'Global Village'

by John Rockwell

EW YORK - Twenty years after Marshall McLuhan's heyday, and a decade after he might have seemed passé, what he said seems to have come incontrovertibly true. We really do live now in a "global village" where nearly everyone - or at least the more sensitive among us, meaning our artists - is affected by everyone else. It is increasingly difficult today for a Western artist, who once might have stayed safely within the course of his own culture's evolution, to remain apart from the traditions of other cultures. This is the era of international artistic cross-fertilization, and Peter Brook's "Mahabharata" has just opened in Brooklyn, as if to prove

The centerpiece of this year's Next Wave Festival of the Brooklyn Academy of Music, "The Mahabharata" will inaugurate the newly reconstructed Majestic Theater near the academy for a three-month run. A ninehour - not counting two intermissions theatrical realization of the Hindu epic of the same name, "The Mahabharata" can — must — be approached on many levels. It is the climax thus far of Brook's own remarkable career as a theatrical innovator. It is a populist stage spectacle with razzle-dazzle special effects, based on a terrific story. It is the theatrical equivalent (although here Brook himself grows diffident) of the philosophical and religious ceremonies and belief systems at the heart of Hinduism.

But in addition to all that, "The Mahabharata" is an English-born, French-based director's vision of a French author's condensation of a huge, ancient Indian book, using a multinational cast and now touring the world. It is thus inherently a realization of McLuhan's thesis, a vibrant proof of the vitality of artistic hybridization.

A fascination with the "mysterious East" was once a mere faddish gloss on colonialism, a half-guilty, half-delicious projection of fantasies on distant parts of the world that few Westerners really knew. But in our own time, once-exotic art forms have become widely accessible. Performers from all over the world tour in the United States, and interested Western artists can and do visit them on their own turf. They are available on recordings, films and videos.

The result has been an explosion of Western performing arts overtly indebted to Asian and African traditions. One could adduce the name of almost any important, creatively original performing artist of this century. From Ruth St. Denis's Egyptian-Indian modern-dance pioneering to Pucci-ni's Chinese fantasy-opera, "Turandot": from Samuel Beckett's theater of silences and Benjamin Britten's church parables, both inspired by Japanese Noh drama, to the contemporary French director Ariane Mnouchkine's brightly colored kaleido-scopes of Oriental theater; from Laura Dean's dervish spinning to Philip Glass's Minimalist music, based on Indian ragas and theater and animated by Tibetan Buddhism - few artistic endeavors of our time have escaped the influence of non-Western arts.

The works so influenced are sometimes subtly, sometimes radically different from traditional Western music, dance and the-ater. Such art can seem merely jejune, innocent copies of traditions inseparable from the cultures that gave them birth. McLu-han's international utopia is not yet fully upon us: Often, foreign imitations are unfaithful to the originals. But, surprisingly, seemingly brutal borrowings can sometimes appear strikingly fresh in a new cultural context. Or the artists can be informed by Eastern religious and philosophical ideals even when their work does not seem Oriental on the surface. Even a seemingly incoherent pastiche can make sense, coalescing into a persuasive whole almost in spite of disparate elements. And it may be that no one work better exemplifies all these perhaps improb-able virtues than Brook's "Mahabharata."

HERE are all manner of dangers inherent in such borrowings, to be sure.

Distant cultures can be crudely stereotyped, especially if the stereotyping accompanies political, military or economic domination. But the greatest danger, artisti-cally speaking, is that sounds and movements and gestures can be vanked crudely out of context, destroying their millennia-old connection to tradition. We may understand exotic art far better than our grandparents did, but there is still an enormous cultural gulf.

As Brook writes in his forward to the ublished English version of "The Mahabharata" text (an essay reprinted in his new collection of theatrical writings, "The Shift-ing Point"): "One of the difficulties we en-counter when we see traditional theater from the East is that we admire without understanding. Unless we possess the keys to the symbols, we remain on the outside, fascinated, perhaps, by the surface, but unable to contact the human realities without which these complex art forms would never have

But the benefits of our artistic world drawing closer together clearly outweigh any la-tent pitfalls. First of all, the very gulf between cultures makes exact emulation nearly impossible. Something detached abruptly from one culture may seem genuinely innovative in another. There is even a theory that holds that "originality" is merely an ineptly achieved copy. Western classical composers and choreographers and theater directors, however well grounded they may be in their own traditions, may be neophytes when they copy Eastern forms. But their very misunderstanding may lead to vital new hybrid art.

In music, the composers Colin McPhee and Lou Harrison were both obsessed with the gamelan. McPhee wrote a still-influential book about Balinese music, and Harrison is the father of the American gamelan movement, which now counts well over 200 of these percussion orchestras built here in emulation of their Balinese and Javanese models and devoted to both traditional and newly composed music. Such overt borrowings can work the other way, too, as with the adoption of the violin into Indian music in the 18th century: It is held and played very differently from the way it is in the West, and conveys a haunted, veiled quality rarely heard in showier Western music Perhaps the most dramatic example of misunderstanding leading to originality is Philip Glass. Glass owes the birth of his current Minimalist style in large part, he says, to his misapprehension of the structure of North Indian raga improvisations when he was asked to notate a Ravi Shankar sitar performance for subsequent playing by Western musicians.

Glass's Indian debts don't stop there. His opera "Satyagraha" — currently in repertory at the Chicago Lyric Opera — is on an Indian subject (the young Gandhi in South Africa, with cameo appearances by Lord Krishna and Prince Arjuna, who also appear in "The Mahabharata"). It is sung entirely in Sanskrit and its dramaturgical precepts are derived from South Indian Kathakali dance drama And wet it is not an "Indian opera": drama. And yet it is not an "Indian opera"; it's as American as Glass, with his nervous New York sensibility, his linear intensity and his driving ambition. But he is also a practicing Tibetan Buddhist, which brings up yet another sort of Oriental influence. That is one in which an artist's basic belief structure may have been affected by non-Western cultures, even if his art is in no obvious sense imitative of the East.

It can also be argued that the very notion of an eclectic pastiche can lead to a new, vital art. "The Mahabharata" itself, despite its The examples are manifold: John Cage's music is hardly Oriental in any direct sense, yet he owes much (and thus do the thousands of younger artists and musicians he's influenced) to Zen Buddhism as propagated in the West by D.T. Suzuki. There are several groups of Indian mystics (Sri Chinmoy), Moslem Sufis (the Dia Art Foundation) and Tibetan Buddhists (the Dalai Lama's recent visit caused considerable excitement in SoHo) with wide membership among downtown" Manhattan artists, from Glass to the folk-rock singer Suzanne Vega. Her sic sounds in no way "Tibetan," yet she links her melodic sense to the "circular melodies" of Tibetan chanting, And the artistic impact of the Nichiren Buddhist sect, to which she subscribes, extends beyond the downtown Manhattan Bohemia: The veteran jazz singer Emestine Anderson has re-cently credited it with restoring her selfconfidence and hence revitalizing her career.

Antonin Stahly-Viswanadhan, left, and Bruce Myers in Peter Brook's "The Mahabharata."

Indian origins, is an example of such a dizzying mixture, starting with its multinational cast, French writer, Japanese composer and English director. Eclecticism is commonly derided these days but Brook, in a recent interview, saw it as positive. The different cultures can be seen as fragments of a whole, pointing toward a complete man," he said. "When a group of actors comes from many cultures, their aim, their function, is not to bring with them fragments of their own cultures, but to bring themselves, as they are. An African actor, at the very moment he is telling his portion of the story, brings with him a different tone, a different music than an American actor."

- For Brook, the pitfalls of such pastiches can be overcome by a director who can sense, intuitively or intellectually, just how to combine the elements at his disposal. In a sense, the adoption of non-Western practices has returned Western performing arts to conditions that existed in earlier centuries.

The revival of explicit myth-making harkens back to Greek tragedy and medieval liturgi-cal drama (and to their self-conscious revival by Richard Wagner). The rejection of theat-rical and filmic naturalism in favor of ritual and broad gesture again goes back to the Middle Ages and commedia dell'arte, and to the artifices of Shakespeare's theater and the extreme high style of the French Baroque (the closest parallel to which is Chinese opera). The extended length of some contemporary theater and music (again, "The Mahabharata" is the most immediate example, along with the works of Robert Wilson) might be seen to demand a state of meditative concentration that stems from the East: But it may also reflect a return to a more popular, communal form of theater, in which audience members are expected to come and go, chat and fall silent, sleep or bolt attentively awake, as the performance

© 1987 The New York Times

MADRID:

435.42.40).

BERN:

SPAIN

- To Nov. 1: 54 works by Mark

SWITZERLAND

DOONESBURY

[IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, SKIPPY'S

DISLOYALTY AFFECTED EVERY MEMBER OF THE BUSH CLAN.

WHATS WRONG. UNCLE FLOYD?

> IT'S MY PUTT-ING GAME,

meanders on.

BELGIUM

RRIISSELS: ●Palais des Beaux-Arts (tel:

512 50.45). - To Dec. 16: Treasures of the Order of the Golden Fleece: jewelry, portraits and illuminated books evoking the order of knighthood founded in 1430.

ENGLAND

 Barbican Centre (tel: 638.41.41).
 To Oct. 18: The Image of London: views of London from 1550-1918 by artists foreign to the British Isles, including Rembrandt, Canaletto, Pissaro, Whistler, Mo-from 1917-1945. •Royal Festival Hall (tel:

- To Oct. 25: Masters of the Sea.

drawings and sketchbooks.

Britain's royal family by Cecil Beaton taken between 1939-1970.

- To Jan. 3: A major retrospec-

ers from the collection of the Bib-spective comprising 350 works --paintings drawings, and engravings oraganized in collaboration with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in

●Palais de Chaillot (45.53.70.60). — To Jan: 31: Ancient Peru, Life, Power and Death: 600 artifacts from ancient Peru and the Inca empire.

●Musée d'Orsay (tel: 45.49.48.14).

— To Jan. 3: Chicago, Birth of a Metropolis, 1872-1922. Architectural drawings, photographs, art and objects of design.

 Musee Matisse, (tel: 93.62.12.12).
 To Oct. 31: Giambattista Tie
 1.59.79). polo: paintings, drawings, engravings and sketches.

GERMANY.

BERLIN: ●Martin Gropius-Ban (tel: 21.22-21.23).

- To Nov. 22: Berlin-Berlin: The central exhibition of the city's FLORENCE: 750th anniversary celebrations: Palazzo Castellani (tel: 293.493). 4000 books, art works, documents •Josef-Haubrich-Kunsthalle (tel:

-To March 27: The Royal Way: 9000 Years of Art and Culture in Jordan. 400 artifacts and precious - To Jan. 4: A Fragonard retro- objects from Jordanian national

- To Jan. 10: A retrospective of Delacroix paintings, recently on view in Zurich, includes about 100 works: HAMBIIRG: Hamburger Kunsthalle (tel: Fundación Juan March (tel:

- To Nov. 15: The theme of War and Peace from the Napoleonic Rothko from the recent Rothko wars to the present manifested in recrospective at the Tate Gallery in German and Russian Art, Over 300 London. works (paintings, drawings, prints and sculpture) arranged chornolo-

HILDESHEIM: •Roemer-Pelizaeus Museum (tel:

•Kunstmuseum (tel: 22.09.44). — To Jan. 3: Paul Klee — Life To Nov. 29: Egypt's Rise to and Work: already seen in New World Power: 300 archaeological York and Cleveland, the only Entreasures from the first 150 years of ropean showing of this exhibition the New Kingdom (1550-1400 of 300 paintings, aquarelles, and B.C.), including many pieces di loaned by other museums.

- To Jan. 9, 1988: The Age of gically.

VENICE: Museo Correr (tel: 25.625).

-To Oct. 18: Henri Matisse and Italy: over 300 works - paintings. drawings, cut outs and the totality of Matisse's sculptural work.

•Ca' Pesaro (tel: 520.92.88).

—To Oct. 18: A London School:

67 works by six contemporary figurative artists: Francis Bacon, Michael Andrews, Frank Auerbach, Lucian Frend, R.B. Kitaj and Leon Kossoff. Palazzo Grassi (tel: 710.711)

-To Oct. 18: Jean Tingnely: 300 moving sculptures in scrap metal by the Swiss artist done between

PARMA:

Palazzo della Pilotta, - To Oct. 31: Arturo Toscanini

From 1915-1945: Art in the Shadow of Politics. Documentary exhibition of photographs, recordings and films to mark the 30th anniversary of the conductors's death.

THE NETHERLANDS

AMSTERDAM:

 Rijksmuseum (tel: 63.21.21).
 To Jan. 3: Dutch Masters of Landscape: a retrospective of 17th c. Dutch landscape painting, with nearly 100 paintings from 30 Euro-pean and 20 American museums. by van Goyen, van Ruysdael, Rem-brandt, Albert Cuyp and Meindert Hobberna.

THE HAGUE: Gemeentemuseum (tel: 70-51.41.81).

— To Nov. 22: The Spiritual in Art: the influence of spiritual and mystical movements on abstract painting 1890-1985. Some 250 works including paintings by Kan-dinsky, Kupka, Malevich, Mondri-an, Klee.

GRILLOT

or more off your newsstand price when you subscribe for 12 months to the International Herald Tribune.

Country/Currency		12 months (+ 2 months FREE)	6 months (+ I month FREE)	3 months (+ 2 weeks FREE)	You per copy	Save per year
Austria	A. Sch.	4,800	2,600	1,450	A.Sch. 8,81	A. Sch. 3,207
Belgium	B.Fr.	11,000	6,000	3,300	B.Fr. 19,78	B.Fr 7,200
Denmark	D.Kr.	2,500	1,400	770	D.Kr 3,13	D.Kr 1,139
Finland	F.M.	1,730	950	520	F.M. 3,25	F.M. 1,183
France	FF	1,500	820	450	F.F. 2,88	F.F. 1,048
Germany*	D.M.	580	320	175	D.M. 1.11	D.M. 404
Gr. Britain	£	130	72	40	£ 0,24	£88,40
Greece	Dr.	22,000	12,000	6,600	Dc 49,56	Dr. 18,040
Ireland	£Irl.	150	82	45	£I±L 0,34	£ Irl. 123
Italy	Lire	380,000	210,000	115,000	Lire 756	Lire 275,200
Luxembourg	Lfr.	11,500	6,300	3,400	LFr 1841	L.Fc 6,700
Netherlands	Fl.	650	360	198	FL 1,21	FL 440
Norway*	N.Kr.	1.800	990	540	N.Kr. 3,05	N.Kr 1,110
Portugal	Esc.	22,000	12,000	6,600	Esc. 64.56	Esc. 23,500
Spain*	Ptas.	29,000	16,000	8,800	Ptas. 55,33	Ptas. 20,140
Sweden*	Ş.Kr.	1,800	990	540	S.Kr 3,05	S.Kr 1,110
Switzerland	S.Ft.	510	280	154	S.Fr. 1,10	S.Fc. 400
Rest of Europe, North Africa, former French Africa, Middle East $   430			230	125	Varies by country
Rest of Africa, Gulf States,		Asia: 580	320	175	varios sy country

*In these countries, hand delivery is available in major cities on publication date For details and rates, please check here and fill in your address below. ☐
**Based on a one-year subscription.

Offer valid through December 31, 1987 for new subscribers only.

Herald Tribune

To: Subscription Manager, International Herald Tribune, 181, Avenue Charler Je-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France. Tel.: (1) 46379361. Tix.: 612832 Please enter my subscription for: My check is enclosed. Please charge my credit card account: Card account number Name City/Country

INTERNATIONAL ARTS GUIDE •Imperial War Museum (tel: tions from Britain's largest collection of contemporary art. •Tate Galkery (tel: 821.13.13) —To Jan. 3: Manners and Mi 9.22). tion of contemporary art.

-To Jan. 17: 58 Soviet posters •Royal Academy of Arts (tel:

- To Oct 25: Master Drawings 833.27.44).

— To Oct. 18: Star Choices From the Ian Woodner Collection.

Over 100 drawings from the early the Arts Council Collection, Selection.

-To Jan. 3: Manners and Morals Hogarth and British Painting 1700-1760: 200 works, including more than 30 by Hogarth and early works by Gainsborough and Reyn-

•National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, (tel: 858-4422). Art with a maritime theme by British artists 1650-1930: watercolors.

●Victoria and Albert Museum (tel: 589.63.71).
— To Feb. 1: 100 photographs of

FRANCE

PARIS: Centre Georges Pompidou (tel:

tive celebrating the centenary of Le Corbusier (1887-1965), with over 350 drawings, 60 models, 300 photographs and diverse art works by

COLOGNE:

Olognaphs (1987-1965), with over

Soliden Age of Science in Tuscany, illustrates scientific developments centered around the lifetime of Galileo (1564-1642).

•Grand Palais (tel: 42.61.54.10)

221.23.35).

Bibliothèque Nationale (tel:

42.61.82.83).

To Nov. 2: The Print in France, 16th-19th century. 200 works by the outstanding French printmakthe collection of the Rib.

To More 77: The Royal Ways

To More 77: The Royal Ways

FRANKFURT:

•Städtische Galerie im Städel (tel:

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL HOTEL DOLDER GRAND HOTEL ZURICH There is no better place to stay Telephone (01) 251 62 31, Telex 816 416, Telefax (01) 251 88 29

FLICHTS LONDON EUROPEAN AIRWAYS:

For full service comfortable jet flights to/from London/Luten (45 mins, from Central London):

© 2 X doily to BRUSSELS: one way F. 2,950 (649), Return F. 5,900 (698)

© 3 X weekly to AMSTERDAM: one way D.F. 149 (649), Return D.F. 298 (639) ■ 3 X weekly to AMSTERDAMs one way D.F. 149 (249, Return D.F. 298 (598) ■ Up to 6 X doily to DUBLIN: one way £59. Return £84.99 lso low fore flights to Cork, Knock, Waterford, Fares are non-real

Call your travel agent or: Landon: 44-1-328,4000 - Brussels: 32-2-647,35,35 - Amsterdam: 31-20-48,21,26 - Dublin: 353-1-774422 = HOLIDAYS

PORTUGA HOLIDAYS see classified

HOLIDAYS TRAVEL

Nevent.

Har an  $\mathrm{Val}_{2n+1,-r+1}^{2}$ Was sound This year of the same ಾ ಜೀ ಚ Anguan de 1 word and

A ... 30.40 ... ... SCIPORT !  $M_{2/4, \rm Ta}$ والحرباء الباء

Wind Water

with sam Recident. KW PEE certs, rec. m the cr TOUR THE

WEEKEND

Proust Mania

Continued from page 7

Dreyfusard opinions - and Odette's anti-Dreyfusard salon. The bourgeois Verdurin salon will be swept up into aristocratic society by its anti-Dreyfusard stand - until the insufferable Madame Verdurin becomes Princesse de Guermantes. Oriane, the unfor-gettable and seemingly indomitable Duhesse de Guermantes, will end as a figure of fun as she accepts into her faded salon the actress Rachel, And Bloch will pose as anti-Semitic and eventually take the name of Jacques du Rozier.

Still, Proust's genius was that, while he himself so longed for the company of anotha class than his own, he never failed to see that class for what it was - in unforgettable scenes; when the Duc de Guermantes cares more about the color of his wife's shoes than about the fatal illness of his old friend Swann, or when he pushes away someone with the news of a relative's imminent death. angry that it will make him miss a party; when the Baron de Charlus, so friendly to the narrator alone, in grander company hardly betrays the fact that he sees him.

NOBBERY is a leitmotiv in Proust's work — he obviously was a snob him-self, but he rationalized it as best he could. In "Remembrance," characters like Bloch and Legrandin are seen to be ill with snobbery, but Swann rises above it, indeed does not need to be a snob because he is who he is. In earlier writing, Proust said: "Diverse people exist side by side within each of us, and the life of many a superior man is often only the coexistence of a philosopher Proust did not look only at the rich and mighty. He saw as well the smallness of his own, bourgeois, society: "The bourgeois of those days had a slightly Hindu idea of society, and considered it as composed of closed castes where each person, from birth, found himself placed in the rank that his parents occupied." He mercilessly catalogued the ugly and the ridiculous within the bourgeois and the servant classes: The two old maids in Marcel's family whose delicacy is so great that they can spend hours thanking someone for a present without their meaning ever being clear; the humble and stupid Docteur Cottard, who tries so hard to make what are always bad puns — but when he rises to prominence, is said by everyone to be a great wit; and not least, the extraordinary mala-propisms of his maid, Françoise, malapropisms so brillant they become earthy poetry. And he showed that the rich had no monopoly on cruelty to those they considered their inferiors, since Françoise could treat her helpers as badly as any duke treated his

And what of the new-found material? The most interesting by far is a text found by Claude Mauriac (Proust's grandnephew by marriage) in 1986 (illustration above right). Edited by Nathalie Mauriac and published this month by Grasset, this is a vastly revised version of what has been known as "The Ami-mondaine Odette, but also by his Fugitive," much shorter but denser than the original. In all likelihood, if Proust had continued with this version - which the Mauriac edition says might have made this section as compact and free-standing as "Swann in Love" — he would have had to revise the rest of the book as well.

The text will keep scholars busy for a while, studying what Proust's intentions were. But, of course, the fact that it exists, and perhaps others like it, is vintage Proust, the endless rewriter. The last section of the book, "Time Regained," abounds with contradictions and puts on stage people who must be well over 100. "Remembrance" was Proust's life, and like life it had to come to an end, not necessarily the right or perfect one. (And the current version has sold six million volumes in France alone.)

in his time (he won the Goncourt literary prize for "Within a Budding Grove," the second published section of his work) but the greatness of his work was not clear to many people. Indeed, the resemblances of some characters to people he knew more or less well - Robert

Proust was by no means an unknown

de Montesquiou, the Comtesse de Greffulhe, Charles Haas, the Prince Boson de - amused some people like salon gossip, but angered many others. And the Comtesse de Greffulhe, one of the models for the Duchesse de Guermantes, never liked him at all. At the end of her life she said: "His overly assiduous flattery was not to my taste," adding, "He was annoying."

ROUST knew his own genius. He complained that he was not under-stood: "Where I looked for the great laws, they called me a fouilleur de détails,' roughly one who pokes through details. And he once told his longtime maid, Céleste Albaret (herself immortalized as Françoise) that people would come to see her about him after he died. And indeed they would. So much so that Celeste wrote her own memoirs of the man she watched over for so

She told of a birdlike man who wrote in the early hours of the morning in his famous cork-lined room, woke in the afternoon, ate almost nothing and went out in the middle of the night looking for a detail he had forgotten, barging into salons to ask what color a dress had been at a party so many years before, or where a cake had been ordered. People often tried to get away from him — he was tiresome, insomniac — but the irony is, of course, that most of these people would have disappeared without a trace had not Proust so well remembered

A Critic Looks at Mysterious Bob Dylan

by Mike Zwerin

ARIS - Bob Dylan was backlit the entire concert: for one and a half hours not a clear feature, not one frontal spot Why bother to go on stage in the first place? I started looking for

It was at the Bercy Omnisports arena last week, toward the end of Dylan's grueling sixweek tour of Israel and Europe. Maybe he was simply fed up with the road. No, it was deeper than that. He was like one of those terrorist spokesmen who have something urgent to say on television but who must avoid recognition, so only a shadow is seen. Dylan has always been a shadowy figure. In 1978, I was invited backstage to meet him after a concert. The concert had been stunning, and I went reluctantly; fantasy is usually better than heroes in the flesh. Dylan, wearing a sweaty T-shirt, and a body-guard sipped beer from cans in a room fit for storing beer. A bare light bulb hung from the ceiling behind his head so he was shadowy

As they often do, his words went through my mind. "Life sometimes must get lonely. He looked like a world war was passing through his brain; there was nobody there to call his bluff. I could almost hear him say, "Okay, I've had enough. What else can you show me?" I gave him a copy of a magazine I was writing for at the time. "It's a good magazine," the bodyguard said. Dylan said he'd look forward to reading it. Wondering how much information he got from body-guards, I thought: "You shouldn't let other people get your kicks for you."

AST week in Bercy, through binoculars, I glimpsed the outline of gray, pouchy I features. It wasn't so much unhappiness as the absence of happiness. Maybe it was just this tour. He was criticized for not singing his hits; had been called "tired," "monotonous," "boring." In Tel Aviv, he told Robert Hilburn of the Los Angeles Times: "Sometimes I just can't get things rolling on stage, but I don't understand this 'hits' ousiness. I never think about whether a

Several years ago, during an interview, I asked him if he ever worned about repeating himself. "I don't know who I am anyway from one day to another," he replied, "so I don't know what there is to repeat." Then there are these lines in "Ballad of a Thin

And you say what's mine And somebody else says where what is? And you say oh my God Am I here all alone?

His songs were not "tired" in Bercy, and it wasn't boredom up there in the shadows. It was more like fear. He looked more lonely than he had with the bodyguard. Nor was it age — he is 46. Enthusiastic 46-year-old rock age—ne is 40. Enthusiastic 40-year-old rock musicians abound; Mick Jagger, for exam-ple, and The Grateful Dead. Roger McGuinn, who opened the concert ("Ladies and gentlemen, the founder of the legendary Byrds"), performed '60s Byrd hits like "Turn Turn Turn" and "Mr. Tambourine Man' with joyful gusto, and he is 45.

Of course it is much easier to bathe in spotlights when you're singing other peoples' songs like you sang them 20 years ago. There's nothing wrong with just having fun pleasing people with your music, on the contrary, but it's not exactly heroic. Dylan once said: "To draw a crowd with my guitar, that's about the most heroic thing I can do." And a line in "A Hard Rain's Gonna Fall' goes: "I'll stand on the the ocean until I start

Bob Dylan will never tread water. Treading water is not heroic. He writes verses, however, not lyrics. His words stand up on paper, they are fixed. Writing new ones seems to be coming harder for him now. He tried to stay affoat by playing "Maggie's Farm" double-time and improvising on the melody of "Like a Rolling Stone." But voice control has never been his strong point and he's no Billie Holiday, so he frequently tripped up. Extended conferences during blackouts between numbers were often followed by shaky starts. There were boos. No lit lighters were raised in tribute. Two youngsters fell asleep in the rows around me.

OWEVER, "He not busy being born is busy dying," which, come to think of it, is also Miles Davis's philosophy. There are certain similarities between Dylan and Davis. They both married traditional forms to rock, both were deserted by their original fans. They both have reputations as being loners, acerbic and prone to bad humor. They tend to disappear both metaphorically and in front of your very eves: A backlit Bob Dylan can be compared to Miles Davis with his back to the audience.
While Davis responds to criticism by the valid observation that nobody criticizes an orchestra conductor for turning his back to the audience, Dylan has no parallel cop-out. He certainly can no longer be surprised that a singing poet is in show business. Why does a millionaire pop star perform all over the world hiding in the dark?

The tour has been full of ups and downs. He was hissed in Tel Aviv and cheered in Jerusalem. After observing that Dylan was "wearing some sort of dead rodent on his head." The Guardian said of his concert in Birmingham: "This is a brave, frequently exciting experiment, and the electricity is tangible

Although there had been electricity in Paris, it was anything but tangible. Sometimes Dylan must ask himself — Why do I write this weird stuff? It may not make sense to him every time. It began to dawn on me that Dylan goes on stage so he can tell 13,000 strangers what he doesn't look one friend in the eye and say straight out. Maybe he doesn't have a friend he can do that with. There's safety in numbers. And he absolutely must continue to say it, insecurity notwithstanding, his life literally depends on it. But the electronic mix is drowning out the words; we can't hear them let alone understand them, and he's not about to look all of us in the eye.

Dylan in the shadows.

Late that night, trying to figure out how such a "flat" performance could be so mov-ing. I was beginning to feel like Sam Spade. Listening to Dylan's 1983 "Infidels." one of the most underrated rock albums of the decade, I could feel him looking me in the eye through the speakers.

. . . I've made shoes for everyone, even vou.

while I still go barefoot.

In creation where one's nature neither honors nor forgives

One says to the other, no man sees my face

The case was solved.

Polish Rock Falls on Hard Times

by John Tagliabue

ROCLAW, Poland — Five kids are crowded into a dank, lowvaulted cellar that resembles a tomb, two of them hunched over electric guitars, a third in tight zebra-striped pants and a sweatshirt that reads "Community College." A fourth youth straddles a tarnished set of drums, a lifth is wrestling with the stem of a long black mike and screaming in a voice like a cymbal. The thunderous rhythms of heavy metal vibrate off the pink-painted brick walls. The group is called Vincent, short for Vincent van Gogh.

The subject involves honor and shame, and perhaps it says something about the present frame of mind of Polish youth. The 19-year-old lead vocalist, Piotr Sonnenberg, sings about a teen-age prostitute who rejects an insistent suitor who seeks to hure her from Zeppelin wash over them. But on weekends the place comes to life. The doors open to secondhand. And Rura's management has ons, sometimes with 30 or 40 musicians in the area that serves as a stage. They play for a crowd of several hundred young people, whose style ranges from white shirts and bow ties to black lipstick and hair in Though Rura describes itself as a jazz. club, the tastes are eclectic, as is demonstrated by the jam sessions. On a recent Friday night, after Vincent and a West German group called Vera Cruz had played heavy metal, a saxophonist from a jazz group and a bass guitarist from a rock band played something that came out sounding like blues.

"In the beginning they knew the blues and sometimes picked up well-known times and you found rock players playing jazz and jazz musicians playing rock," said Bogdan Knabe, the club's director, toying with a glass of weak Okocim beer.

Members of the rock group Vincent rehearse in a jazz club.

vice with material gifts: "I'll give you everything," he promises, but she is not interested. It all appears to be part of an awful rock video, but in Poland, as elsewhere, it's the way young rock musicians struggle out of the

¥ C 5

This particular cellar is in a neighborhood of this workaday Polish city that is shabby, on the edge of decay. The little jazz club, known as Rura (which means "tube" — the word musicians here use to describe their wind instruments), serves as a combination stage, studio, booking agency and recreation center for rock, pop and jazz musicians whose exotic alienation usually renders them suspect to the government.

Musicians who gather here like to talk about the groups that have made it -groups with names like Lady Punk or Recydywa (Recidivist) - who crawled strumming and howling out of Rura's dank cellar to concerts, records and some kind of recognition in the on-again, off-again world of Polish

Most nights Rura is a sleepy, obscure place, where people sit around green picnic tables, sip beer and let Charlie Parker or Led Marek Maisig, the deputy director who helps run Rura from a small room in back of the club, remembers rosier times. "My private idea is that in the early '80s, as a result of Solidarity, people were proud of Polish music and on the top of the hit list 90 percent were Polish songs," he said. "Now it's changed totally. There are few Polish songs, and the rest are from Britain and the United Tickets, too, are a problem since people have less money. And you cannot easily get the money for a good stereo," he went on. "In 1980-81 you could sell a record by Lady Punk and they would break the bars from our windows. The line was 500 meters long."

OLISH rock has been hit by hard times, said Knabe, and Rura is feeling the pinch. With Polish economic prospects looking bleaker than they have since World War II, there is little money for concerts and record purchases or for musicians to buy musical instruments and equipment that must be bought in the West for hard сштепсу. Adam Laboga, a rock fan. prints ads in Rura's program for the shop in Wroclaw opened three stores, two in Wi near Poznan, a city farther north, to make money from the sale of musical electronics. Even so, "Rock on the Island," a concert organized by Rura that had become a Wroclaw annual event, had to be canceled, apparently because many fans could no longer afford the tickets. Rura itself is struggling to pay the rent.

In some ways, the chib and the kids who hang out here are a paradigm for much of what goes on in the Polish cultural world today, where art is invariably intertwined with politics, and the crosscurrents of official and unofficial culture ebb and flow and

The headier days of economic vigor in the 1970s were the heyday of rock music, when young people with talent — and the money to purchase instruments and electronic equipment — sought with some success to latch on to Western musical trends.

The rise of the Solidarity free trade union movement in the early 1980s led to a burst of freedom in Polish cultural life. Rock became a favorite outlet for economic and social frustration. Today, Rura's relationship with the city stands on shaky legs, reflecting Poland's larger mood. There are small pressures, pinpricks maybe, but threatening nonetheless. The tumbledown building that houses the club is earmarked for renovation, and the city fathers want Rura out.

Still, the policy of cultural openness advo-cated by the Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev has made itself felt in Poland. With its well-developed counterculture, Poland has always been far ahead of the Soviet Union in this regard, and these recent indications of high-level approval have strengthened reive among those officials who favor the further expansion of cultural freedom for the young. Under General Wojciech Jaruzelski. the Polish government is working hard to project a tolerant attitude by luring some rock singers into a government-approved

In 1979, Zbigniew Holdys, a former stu-dent leader and newspaper reporter, founded the band Perfect. In 1983 the group was disbanded, after the government banned it from performing in major cities.

But this summer at a stilted news conference. Holdys, a large man who brings to mind John Belushi with a guitar, and Krzysztof Materna, a disk jockey on staterun television, came together to announce Perfect would make a comeback in Warsaw. And so it was that, last month, Holdys again stalked about the stage. Perfect jumped and gyrated as it played for 30,000 young Poles, who stood on the seats holding lighted candles and improvised torches made from burning newspaper and cigarette lighters, and joined a refrain that went, "Do not be afraid / of Jaruzelski."

But there was a wistfulness to the event. Four years earlier, Perfect's lead singer, Grzegorz Markowski, had wailed, "I want to be myself." Deliberately distorting the Polish vowels and consonants, the crowds would echo back, "I want to smash a Zomo" (a member of the riot police). But this time the refrain came back unchanged from the darkened grandstands - "We want to be

© 1987 The New York Times

405 MILLION DM GAME

Our best ever - the new greatly improved SÜDDEUTSCHE KLASSENLOTTERIE's 82nd Prize Game gives you golden opportunities to win even more than ever before. In fact there are bigger, better and more prizes than in any of our previous series. Well over 437,000 guaranteed prizes with a total value of 405.610.000 DM will be raffled out of a mere 900,000 ticket numbers.

There will be 26 draws during the course of the eries with the following total of guaranteed Top Prizes: 32 × 100,000 DM, 26 × 250,000 DM, × 500,000 DM, 14× 1,000,000 DM and 5 x 2,000,000 DM. And another 437,506 prizes ranging up to 80,000 DM complete our new ofter. You will also find, that at the time when numbers are drawn and eliminated, the prizes are much larger than the actual stakes paid.

Making many happy winners is our business

...and opportunities in the SKL are really super. With a limited supply of only 900,000 ckel numbers in the game, we guarantee that 437,592 prizes totalling well over 405 million DM will be raffled. This means: nearly every second number is a winner, which creates the nathematical probability to win by participating vith at least three tickets with different numbers One complete lottery (senes), extending over a 6 month period, is divided into 6 classes. Each single class has 4 draws (one every Saturday) except the 6th (main) class which has 6 drawing lays running over a period of five weeks. The otal of winning numbers and the value of prizes increase from class to class up to the last six draws of the series when six prizes of 2 million DM each will be raffled!

is state administered

this institution, sponsored by the Federal States of Baden-Würtlemberg, Bavana, Hesse and ineland-Palatinate, is controlled by an official board of directors in Munich. The prize schedule s the basis of the lottery showing all the prizes and drawing dates. This is compiled and agreed to by the authorities involved before the series starts. All data shown thereon will be followed in detail. The draws are public and state controlled thus giving the assurance that all prizes are given to their rightful winners. Tickets are sold solely through lottery agents, who have to be appointed by the financial ministers of the Federal States

Prompt and efficient service for all clients

Each and every winner is informed. You will not only be sent the official winning lists along with the renewal tickets every four weeks, but we'll also notify you personally and in strictest confidence immediately whenever you win. As all our clients' records are kept solely in our office and under professional secrecy, nobody else will rnow about your participation in the lottery or possible winnings. All prizes are immediately paid out in full, free from German tax and accordng to your advice. All payments are made in any currency and to any address or person of your choice. Our service is worldwide - wherever there are postal facilities you can play our lottery and get your prize money.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES

 $6 \times 2$  Million DM = 12,000,000 DM  $14 \times 1$  Million DM = 14,000,000 DM  $8 \times \frac{1}{2}$  Million DM = 4,000,000 DM

26 × 250,000 DM = 6,500,000 DM 42 × 50,000 DM = 2,100,000 DM 32× 100,000 DM = 3,200,000 DM 30× 80,000 DM = 2,400,000 DM 60 - 40,000 DM = 2,400,000 DM 84 × 25,000 DM = 2,100,000 DM 60,000 DM = 2,040,000 DM 540 × 10,000 DM = 5,400,000 DM 436,716 prizes under 10.000 DM = 349,470,000 DM

437,592 PRIZES AT A TOTAL AMOUNT OF 405,610,000 DM

Buy tickets and win!

Tickets are issued as full tickets, half tickets and smaller shares. All of them take part in the draws and have equal winning chances. But only full tickets receive 100 % of the prize money. Fractions of shares, costing their respective parts of the stakes, are consequently only entitled to their corresponding portions of the prize money. However, the more tickets you play, the beller your chances are of winning - and in order to keep it cheap - play fractions of lickets.

To join - just simply complete the attached order coupon and send it logether with your remittance to the address below. Full information in English will follow with our delivery (all overseas letters are airmailed). If you send your order and draft to arrive here before the first draw on Nov. 14th 1987, you can be sure that you will take part in all 26 draws of the 82nd lottery right from the start and will have full benefit of your stakes

Mr. W. Wessel Government Accredited Lottery Agent Ulmenstraße 22, P.O. Box 104067 D-3500 KASSEL, WEST GERMANY

Complete, enclose your of TICKET ORDER				(West Germany)
Please send me the tollow	vg SÜDDEUTS	CHE KLASS	ENLOTTER	E rickets by return post
Full Tickets	at DM 864 each	approx USS	468 or Estg	292) = DM
Half Tickets	at DM 432 each	approx. USS	234 or £stg	146) = DM
Quarler Tickets	at DM 216 each	(approx. USS	117 or £stg	73) = DM
	Europa DM 15	/approx USS	6.50 of Sato
	osed cheque in l	DM or equivale	nt in USS or	Estg = DM based on exchange rates as of 19. 8. 1987. Payment by DM bank draft drawn on a German bank is recommended and tasked in exclusion and the control of the control y de creaties want are parties before 14, 11, 87. Should you order later, enclose your draft with order Answer in German □ in English □

FULL NAME;
STREET AND NUMBER: .		P.O. Box:
CITY, COUNTRY, POSTAL	CODE:
Charge The required amount to my

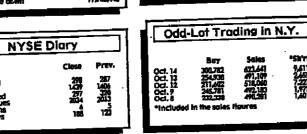

VALID ONLY WHERE LEGAL

2.11e127

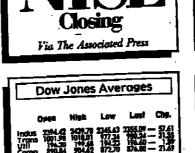

1.5 15 .9 28 1.1 5.0 13 5.0 13 8 1.4 39 5.4 12 120 17 10.7 10.7

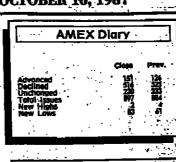

1114/11/2011 111/11/2011 11/20

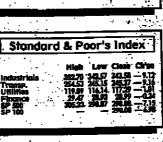

Div. YIL PE 1904 High Low Quart. Ch'ag

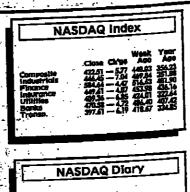

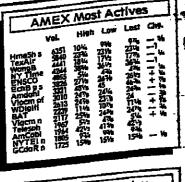

Div. Ykl. PE 1884 High Low Quet. Carge

Mile High Low Guot Ctr/se

AMEX Stock Index

Protect

Your Short-Term

Gains with the Long-Term Security

of Gold.

Why gold?
The gold price usually moves independently of paper investments and therefore tends to have a stabilizing effect on your portiolio.

You can't be sure which way the investment market will go. But if you put part of your portfolio into gold. you can be sure your paper investments are well protected. You might say gold in your investment incurence.

is your investment insurance.

Gold Information Centre I 16 B.P. 351 - CH - 1211 Geneva 3

Money you can trust

1.10 22 .40 1.4 3.60 9.7 1.12910.9 .56 5 or write for your free copy of the 60-page, pocket-sized "European Guide to Gold" to:

1.03e18.3 11

izing effect on your portfolio.

300,782 254,936 211,402 245,781 232,334

NEW YORK - Prices on the New York Stock Exchange plummeted in heavy trading Thursday as late selling after Wednesday's record plunge sent the Dow Jones industrial average to its lowest level in more than four months.
The Dow, which fell 95.46 Wednesday, dropped 57.61 to 2,355.09, its lowest finish since June 10, when it closed at 2,353.61.

"There's been a sense of panic," said Larry Greenwald, a trader at Sanford C. Bernstein & Co. in New York.

"It's a high-risk market," said Ricky Harrington, technical analyst at Interstate Securities in Charlotte, North Carolina. "We are in a downtrend, rallies will be sudden and brief, and it will be several weeks before we determine whether this is an intermediate-term decline or a new major bear market."

Losing issues beat gainers by almost a 5-1 ratio. Volume was 263.2 million shares, compared with 207.4 million in the previous session.

For investors who believe the so-called Dow theory, a confirmation of the decline in the Dow industrials by the Dow transportations means a stronger downtrend might be in place that previously thought.

Other market indicators also dropped. The New York Stock Exchange composite index fell index plunged 7.15 to 298.08. The price of an average share fell 87 cents.

correction and its emotionalism will take a while to abate," said Monte Gordon, research director at Dreyfus Corp. Mr. Gordon contended that investors' inflation fears were exaggerated. He said expecta-tions that the Federal Reserve would soon raise its discount rate were unwarranted.

The Fed's earlier-than-usual addition of rethe red's earner-man-usual addition of re-serves into the banking system Wednesday morning was interpreted by some Fed watchers as a signal that the Fed does not intend to raise its influential discount rate soon. Liquidity additions tend to let interest rates ease.

"The Fed will become accommodative," argued Mr. Gordon. "They're not going to push rates higher when everybody is talking about the economy slowing." Blue-chip issues made several feeble attempts to rally during the day. News that Chemical Bank had boosted its prime rate to 9% percent from 9% percent sent the Dow into a slide from which it immediately recovered. "The prime rate cut probably did not sit too well with the market but the drop in the Dow transports was more important," said Hilde-

"There was tremendous selling by institutional investors," said Mr. Greenwald. "Sell programs accentuated the declines but the fundanental problem is the return of inflation and gard Zagorski, analyst at Prudential-Bache Se-

20 5 21

| She Ancicom | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 10 20.000 10.0000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.000 10.0000

Stocks Plunge in Heavy Trading The market is caught in a labyrinth of a Heightening investors' fears was a sharp de-cline in the Dow transportation average, which fell 31.35 points to 980.24, the average's second largest drop and its worst since Sept. 11, when it fell 33.63 points.

3.81 to 167.45. Standard & Poor's 500-stock

Sis. Clase 100s High Low Quat. Chive

| The control |

56 1.4 27 1055
1.12 115 29 116
1.12 115 29 116
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 12 117
1.12 117 117
1.12 117 117
1.12 117 117
1.12 117 117
1.12 117
1.12 117
1.12 117
1.12 117
1.13 117
1.14 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117
1.15 117 自己经济自然是对外的人,我是一种现代的人,我们是这种的人,我们是是这种的人,我们是这种的人,我们是这种人的人,我们是这种人的人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们

| The state | The HO HRIT 140 9.4 12 Hollies 1.00 2.8 Hollies 1.00 2.8 Hollies 1.00 2.8 Hollies 2.1 12 Honder 1.1 1.00 2.8 Hollies 2.1 12 Honder 1.1 1.00 2.1 Honder 1.1 1.00 2.1 Honder 1.1 1.00 2.1 1.00 2.1 Honder 1.1 1.00 2.1 1

ADVERTISING SECTION

مِكَنَامِنَ لِأَصِلَ

with the THE WORLD ACCORDING Angelian Securito ADAM SMITH

3rainy writer, editor, investor, and spiritual seeker George Goodman, aka dam Smith, now hosts TV's most fascinating business show.

why Richard Scheinin

here are times when his television show is all that Jerry Goodman wants it to be. When he has Sony chairan Akio Morita talking by satellite to omer United Auto Workers president louglas Fraser in New York about the in S. Japan trade wars, that's damn ood television. When he talks about juddhism with Doug Tompkins, the lew-age CEO of yuppie sportswear iant Esprit, that's neat. When Mr. nodman goes on location to Beijing nd stumbles on Virginia Kamsky, a hirty-year-old investment banker nom New York who speaks fluent hinese and is carving up the budding hinese market with her staff of twelve merican businesswomen, all of - shom speak Chinese fluently, that's tàrtling.

Adam Smith's Money World is a hit. he show premiered in September 984 and is now carried by some 237 ublic TV stations. It can occasionalthe seen, courtesy of the U.S. Inforration Agency, in such far-flung spots 3 Singapore, Seoul, and Tokyo.

No one else in television is doing that he is doing. "He basically doesn't ke to report a whole lot," says busiess writer Chris Welles, who worked ith Jerry Goodman at Institutional westor in the late 1960s. "He would such rather be an oracle."

But the fact remains that no one else Protes thirty minutes a week to exlaining the arcana of business and inmational finance like Mr. Goodman. e and his staff examine just one topic er week. One week he discusses tax form, the next week it's cheap oil, ne Fed, the future of Hong Kong, deral Star Wars expenditures, even te rise of MTV. New faces show up in re studio each week: Paul Volcker, Valter Wriston, Ivan Boesky, T. Boone ickens, venture capitalist Arthur tock. The cumulative effect is aleidoscopic, a shifting profile of ousiness life in what Mr. Goodman alls the Roaring Eighties. Today Mr. Goodman is on location at the racetrack in Monmouth, New Jersey. He is here to interview a couple of economics professors about their new how-to book on betting the horses. Sound like fun? It should be. but Mr. Goodman-known by his pseudonym, Adam Smith, to those who read his books or watch his weekly PBS show—is being a sourpuss.

The racetrack show was Mr. Goodman's idea. He wanted to demonstrate that betting at the track is like investing in the stock market—that it's a game and that there are all sorts of approaches to playing. He has explored this sort of theme for twenty years, since his days as a writer at the old New York magazine. "For the true players," he wrote back then, "you could substitute plastic money or whales' teeth." Today's show is familiar territory, a chance for Mr. Goodman to do a little tap dance on the basic principles of investing while providing some lively entertainment.

But Mr. Goodman is bugged. It's a drizzly afternoon, and his producer won't let him put on his raincoat. Besides, it is the day after Paul Volcker resigned as chairman of the Federal Reserve, and being at the racetrack seems to offend Mr. Goodman's sense of priorities. "I'd rather talk to Volcker and Greenspan or the prime minister of Singapore."

eorge Jerome Waldo Goodman was born in the St. Louis suburbs fiftyseven years ago. His father was a lawyer with a private practice. His mother, a medical researcher, took him on Audubon Society bird walks. George wasn't interested in money. "The atmosphere in our house was to consider business people slightly inferior-you know, as not being up on operas and books and things of interest. And we had a lot of books in our house, and a lot of magazines, and a lot of talk. And my mother knew Vladimir Golschman, who was the conductor of the St. Louis Symphony." Young George studied the piano and played varsity high school football.

He entered Harvard as an undergraduate in 1948 and took a special major in the history and literature of England, France, and the United States during the period 1815 to 1941. He took seven semesters of courses in writing. He wrote half of a novel-"a kind of Evelyn Waugh thing. It was a lot of fun"-for his course with Ar-

North Carolina. He briefly visited South Vietnam, the Philippines, and Thailand, but he makes the whole Army experience sound like  $M^*A^*S^*H$ . He passed some of the time writing. and his agent sold three pieces to the New Yorker. He wrote his second novel, a wistful elaboration on his Oxford years, called A Time for Paris. It was published after Mr. Goodman's return to civilian life in 1957 and was favorably reviewed. But it didn't sell.

"I could see that writing novels was gonna be a difficult profession," he says. "I didn't want to teach in a university, and I didn't want to write ads in an agency, so I thought I better learn something useful. And I did."

This is when Jerry Goodman began to get interested in Wall Street. "I had friends who were in the stock TV money man Jerry Goodman at bome in Princeton.

chibald MacLeish. "Jerry wanted to be a novelist," recalls his former classmate and longtime friend Daniel Ellsberg. "I don't think he had any economics courses other than Economics One."

At Oxford on a Rhodes scholarship, Mr. Goodman wrote his first complete novel, an adventure story called The Bubble Makers. At the instigation of a roommate, he began to pore through the Essays of Persuasion and the General Theory of the late British economist John Maynard Keynes, who was to become one of Mr. Goodman's

After two years at Oxford, Mr. Goodman returned to the States, and in 1954 he signed up with the military. Soon he was stationed with the Army's psychological war unit at Fort Bragg, market and seemed to be having a good time. And I wasn't interested in bus-iness, per se. You know, I wasn't interested in selling as-bes-tos or anything. You know, I liked the stock market. Never regretted it for a day."

He took a series of jobs writing and editing for Barron's, Fortune, and Time. Journalism was supposed to finance his literary writing, which was now confined to evenings and weekends. But soon his interest in Wall Street took on a life of its own. It started to infiltrate his novels. His third novel, A Killing in the Market, was set on Wall Street. So was his fourth-and last-novel, The Wheeler Dealers.

The Wheeler Dealers presents a picture of life on the Street that rings absolutely true. In it, Mr. Goodman wrote about the stock predictions, stock charts, and market intrigue that would enliven his anthology, The Money Game, a decade later.

The novel is a romantic comedy about a prim young Philadelphia-bred stock analyst named Molly Thatcher and the man who woos her, a flamboyant Texan in a ten-gallon hat named Henry Tyroon. Only Tyroon turns out to be a phony—he is really the New England-bred son of an M.I.T. professor of romance languages, Mr. Goodman patterned Tyroon after some real businessmen he met in Texas while doing a piece for Barron's about the oil service industry: "These guys all worked for one company called Zapata, and George Bush was one of them. He was then called Poppy-Poppy Bush. . . . And they interested me because they weren't Texans. They were all preppy New Englanders who were in Texas to make a lot of money in the oil business. They had an airplane, and they would get out of Texas every chance they could."

Mr. Goodman met Clay Felker (a fellow native of St. Louis) who was then an editor at Esquire. "I was living at Thirty-eight East Seventy-fifth, my doorbell rang, and he said, 'I'm Clay Felker, and I've read your stuff, and I want to get to know you. He was very aggressive." They became friends and rented a beach house in Quogue, Long Island, together—"Should've bought it. Probably worth a million bucks today," says Mr. Goodman. And one weekend, the writer Peter Maas brought out a date, an actress named Sallie Brophy.

Ms. Brophy had lived in Hollywood and had appeared in movies with Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn. "She'd had a TV series called Buckskin, about a gutsy woman who kept a boarding house in the Montana territory." She and Mr. Goodman started going out. She introduced him to such theater friends of hers as Hal Prince and George Abbott. In October 1961, they were married. At the reception, in ex-Ambassador Louis Douglas's apartment, guests Leonard Bernstein and Steven Sondheim performed a song from West Side Story.

By this time, Mr. Goodman was working the only straight investment job he ever held. He had become in terested in small capitalization stocks and, while at Barron's, met a man named Sam Stedman. Mr. Stedman was an investment manager who was moving away from his investments in small companies to concentrate on a bigger, more institutional business and who needed someone to manage his smaller accounts. He hired Mr. Goodman as portfolio manager of his Lincoin Fund. This was an important time for Mr. Goodman. He joined the New York Society of Security Analysts, a connection that became invaluable during his underground reporting days as Adam Smith.

Mr. Goodman was starting to invest successfully himself, sniffing out little companies that were about to take off. He got wind of a tiny outfit that had developed a machine for reading the embossed letters on credit cards. This outfit, he discovered, was about to be sold to a corporation in Massachusetts, so he went there to check out the buyers and decided to invest in the stock. "It went way the hell up," he recalls with relish, "so I got a little penthouse on the East Side."

eanwhile, Mr. Goodman the portfolio manager was living life to the hilt, Collaborating on the side on a musical comedy. (Called Carte Blanche, it was never produced.) He was also writing financial advice columns for Esquire. At the same time, a friend of his wife's was conducting research at UCLA on LSD, which was legal in those days. Mr. Goodman flew out and took the "little blue pill" and wrote about the experience. It was So began his interest in altered states of consciousness. Back in New York, he checked into a hospital on Roosevelt Island, where research into a variety of hallucinogens was going on. This time, Mr. Goodman took mescaline. As the "trip" began, he threw away his wallet and wristwatch-"the symbolism is all too obvious," he comments. Clay Felker remembers having to go to the hospital to pick him up. The trip was recorded in the pages of Esquire a few months

For Esquire, Mr. Goodman also went to Vietnam to profile his buddy David Halberstam, who was covering the war for the New York Times. That was just before Mr. Goodman began commuting to Hollywood to write the screenplay for The Wheeler Dealers;

Continued on page 3

Elizabeth Williams and Karen Goodwin

Mary Lea Johnson

Margo Lion

PLAY MONEY

Today's new breed of women producers are investing in Broadway. It's a new money game, and it's one they're winning. By David Finkle argo Lion, an independent theater producer, got mugged by gypsies when she was visiting lialy. It was the best thing that could have happened to her.

Before she headed off to Europe, Ms. Lion had tried, without success, to in-Vest in the New York production of Les Misérables, which she believed would ≈ a hit. While on a tour of a church n Florence, she found herself sur- bunded by a raging group of women, Pables hanging from their necks, who were grabbing at her. Next thing she mew, her wallet was gone. The tour eader, art historian Joseph Forte, ran o her, and during their conversation le mentioned that he was married to ilizabeth Williams, whose firm, dunial Benefit Productions, was synticating units in Les Misérables. As a hatter of fact, he said, he'd spoken with her just the night before, and a mit had become available. Mr. Forte and Ms. Lion hotfooted it back to the hotel, called New York, and Margo Lion nabbed the unit, later adding two Margo Lion and Elizabeth Williams are among the new breed of Broadway players, many of whom are women, who are carving out a niche for themselves in the risky, high-stakes theater world. Though their roles may be different-independent investor, producer, financier-they have two things in common: a passion for the theater, and money to back it up.

Broadway, which has always been show business, is now also big business. In 1939, only $25,000 was needed to open Life with Father. In 1956, staging My Fair Lady cost $401,000. Even fifteen years ago investors could get a share of Sleuth, which was capitalized at $150,000, for $6,000, says its producer, Morton Gottlieb. Today, it costs upwards of $750,000 to mount a nonmusical play, and a minimum of $4 million to put a full-scale musical on the boards. Les

Misérables cost $4.5 million, and it required a staggering $8 million to mount Starlight Express, the rampand-roller-skate extravaganza that was a smash hit in London but was drubbed mercilessly by the New York

During the past eight years or so, there has been "a virtual disappearance of the five-thousand-and-under investor," says Richard Hummler, theater editor for Variety, the entertainment trade paper. Instead, the usual players are corporations, movie companies looking for potential properties, and outfits such as the Shubert and Nederlander organizations, which need to keep their houses lit.

But even though most of the investors are big ones, there are a few determined independents who manage to triumph while the giants fail.

Carole Shorenstein Hays, daughter of San Francisco real estate man Walter Shorenstein, took up producing when she began investing in road tours of Broadway hits in order to bring them into the three theaters she owns in San Francisco. Bitten by the producing bug, she decided that for her first project she wanted to find "something of substance, something I'd want to see." She found it in Fences, a drama about a black garbage collector in Pittsburgh. Producer Hays became the sole investor, putting up the entire $850,000 herself. "I thought it would be an artistic success; I was just hoping the reviews would be good enough to get us through the month to get Tony nominations," Mrs. Hays says. The play did better than that. Hailed by the critics, it was the surprise smash hit of the spring 1987 season, winning four Tony awards, including best play, and a Pulitzer Prize for its author, August Wilson. Mrs. Hays's acceptance speech for her Tony was brief but memorable. "I might give birth right now," said the then-pregnant producer.

Mrs. Hayes follows in the footsteps of women like Mary Lea Johnson, one of the Johnson & Johnson heirs, who came into $6.2 million in the family's recently settled inheritance suit. She turned to theater about ten years ago, after some art-gallery projects foundered and she was looking for something else in the cultural scene to devote herself to. Ms. Johnson, who had studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, first invested as a producer in a movie hit (Fort Apache, the Bronx); after that, she invested in a memorable theatrical flop of the midseventies, Rockabye Hamlet. Her luck took a turn for the better with investments in two hits: On the Twentieth Century and The Norman Conquests.

Ms. Johnson was rewarded at one point with a producer's credit for her investment. She took it seriously and was subsequently inspired to start the Producer Circle Company, which she continues to run with her husband, Martin Richards, a casting director, and administrator Sam Crothers.

"I love walking into an empty theater and making plans," says Ms. Johnson. Her company's latest production is Roza, a musical version of the French novel La vie devant soi, by Romain Gary (the novel also inspired the film Madame Rosa, which starred Simone Signoret). Directed by theater veteran Harold Prince, it broke box office records during its run at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles. The New York production of the show is scheduled for a fall opening.

These days Ms. Johnson, an investorturned-producer, finds herself in the position of seeking out other investors: "This is not a safe thing, by any means," she says. "You have to find people who love the theater."

بر - شار

ike many of her fellow Broadway businesswomen. Francine LeFrak, daughter of real estate tycoon Samuel LeFrak, stumbled into theater. Trained as an art historian, she became an art appraiser for Sotheby's. One fateful day she was asked to be art consultant for the filming of The Eves of Laura Mars. In no time, the show biz bug bit. Soon she was an investor, putting money into the shows Ain't Misbehavin' and Children of a Lesser God. Coproduction chores followed for They're Playing Our Song, Crimes of the Heart, and Nine. "Women are very good at producing," Ms. LeFrak observes, "because they're determined and they're patient. They're also very good at nurturing-and that's something that both the talent and the investors need." Ms. LeFrak, now in her mid-thirties, says that her only other preparation for the theater world was life with her family. "Home was like a Feydeau farce. When I first saw Noises Off, I thought, 'This is my life.' "Ms. LeFrak says that in addition to the units she owns in shows as producer, she buys a small interest in all her shows for luck, and judges that she's come out ahead so far. "I guess one out of every twelve shows makes a profit. In London, where you're not dependent on the say-so of one critic—like the New York Times's Frank Rich-you have a better chance & of success, maybe one in four."

Perhaps that's why Ms. LeFrak is producing shows in London now. She's Continued on page 2 8

LANVIN PARIS

Collection Prêt-à-Porter Spring/Summer 1988 par Maryll Lanvin

PRESS SHOW: October 18th, 3.30 p.m. Cour Carrée du Louvre

SHOW ROOM: October 19th - 23rd 22, Faubourg Saint-Honoré, 75008 Paris

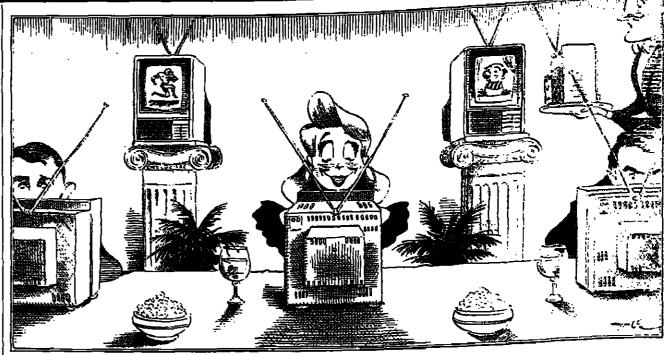

Tél. 42.65.14.40

PIERRE BALMAIN

"BALMAIN IVOIRE" COLLECTION SPRING/SUMMER 1988 CREATED BY ERIK MORTENSEN COUR CARREE DU LOUVRE (SALLE PERRAULT) MONDAY OCTOBER 19TH AT 4 P.M.

SHOWROOM: 44, RUE FRANÇOIS 1 ER, PARIS 75008. TEL.: (1) 47.20.35.34. FOR INFORMATION: PIERRE BALMAIN INC. NEW YORK. TEL.: (212) 245-1210

THE GOURMET TV DINNER

Today at glittering galas, first you talk left, then you talk right, and then you go to the videotape.

By Ms. Faux Pas

ardonnez-moi while Ms. Faux Pas ouvres the porte and comes out of the closet where she keeps her TV. For more years than she can remember, Ms. Faux Pas has had to have Wagner playing on the foyer Victrola on Friday nights to drown out the sound of J.R. and Sue Ellen's bickering. As you know, ever since the dawning of The Flintstones it has been de rigueur in high society to claim one never watches the tube. But now, with rumors flying that Oliver North-bynorthwest will become a TV spokesman for travelers checks ("Don't Leave for Managua Without Them'), it appears that TV is becoming acceptable.

But few people—or things—make it up the social ladder these days without a gentle push from public relations.

To win social acceptability, the TV industry had to hire its own PR flack, Howard Reubensandwich, whose strategy was to get important people to watch TV during top social occasions—and admit to it.

The only nights on which watching TV while having a civil conversation is condoned and accepted in public are Election Night and Academy Awards Night. On all other nights, TV has been a private indulgence for the glitterati—and a guilt-ridden one. Let's face it, if they're not ashamed of it, why do they all hide their sets inside expensive built-ins?

But today at last, thanks to Howard Reubensandwich, TV is emerging from behind the cabinetmakers' handpolished mahogany doors.

The hottest social divertissement is the TV dinner, and hostesses are rushing down to Crazy Freddy's, the TV dinner party rental store, to rent their TV monitors, microphones, and recliners and to get blowups of old TV Guide covers to decorate their bashes.

The TV dinner craze was launched with the chic little fundraising dos at the Museum of Networking, Bill Paleface's new pet project. Something had to be done to save The Flying Nun from being carred off to the slumber room in the video burial vault that's being planned at the new headquarters of NBZ in New Jersey.

Essentially, what separates the gourmet fundraising TV dinner from a Swanson TV dinner is that you eat a Swanson's in your bathrobe, while a gourmet dinner calls for black tie. In addition, there are TV monitors all around the banquet hall—and better yet, live TV stars at every table.

Ms. Faux Pas can attest to that.

Though she is not a TV star yet, by an amazing coincidence Ms. Faux Pas received an invitation to one of these dinners that seemed to be intended for Miss Fawn Hallmark, the TV luminary and spokesperson for Shredded Wheatles. Ms. Faux Pas considered sending back the invitation, but for the good of her country she decided to just follow orders and show up at the Museum of Networking TV Dinner honoring the Joan Tom-Collins Divorce Proceedings Special, the Iran-Contradictory Hearings, and the Havea-Nice-Day Awards, saluting the signoff styles of anchorpersons. Ms. Faux Pas was seated by chance between Oliver North-by-northwest and Dan Rathernot, the courageous anchorperson who once crossed an angry home knitters' picket line and recently claimed to have been ambushed on Park Avenue by a Geraldo Riviera lookalike, Luckily Ms. Faux Pas had brought along Bubbly Waters's dinner party guide: "How to Make Small Talk with Practically Any Celebrity About Practically Anything."

Of course, glitterati parties have rituals that take the anxiety out of small talk. You talk left for five minutes and then talk right for five more. In that time you can hardly get beyond the status-establishing questions: name, hairdresser, decorator, and what floor your apartment is on (higher is better, chéries). When it was time to talk left, Ollie, as he begged to be called, was so helpful, recommending the best little tire shops and hosiery discount stores in Central America, Dan Rathernot was a little imposing at first, until Ms. Faux Pas, following Bubbly Waters's rule of defensive conversation, apologized for what she was about to ask him and then bluntly asked why he couldn't get along with his boss, that nice Larry Trish, who was sitting at the next table between Vanna Whitebread and the Flying Nun. Before he could answer, the M.C. said, "Let's go to the videotape."

With that, waiters passed Paul Blue Eyes's gournet popcom.

Unfortunately, some people just can't sit still when there's a TV set turned on: No sooner had the video-tape begun to roll than glitterari around the room started getting up and going to the refrigerator, thoughtfully brought in for the occasion.

When his five minutes of small talk with Ms. Faux Pas were up, Dan Rathernot leaned over to Oliver North-bynorthwest and whispered: "Forgive me for asking this, but what have you done with the smoking gun?"

Ollie thanked Dan for giving him the opportunity to answer that question and recited the Marine Corps instructions for handling smoking guns. Then he gave Ms. Faux Pas his unfinished bag of Nicaraguan nachos and excused himself, saying he had to go to the opening of Farewell to Arms. a new Iranian restaurant owned by a former colleague.

As Ollie bent to pick up his briefcase in the darkened room, his medals got tangled in the chain of Ms. Faux Pas evening bag and knocked it to the floor. Apparently, in the ensuing disentanglement, a small box from Ollie's briefcase found its way into Ms. Faux Pas's bag-a fact she discovered only after he left, when she reached into her bag for Bubbly Waters's guidebook. It was a videocassette labeled Smoking Gun. Uh, oh. Ms. Faux Pas is no dummy. She knows that during the Iran-Contradictory affair everyone was looking for the smoking gun-the proof that the president knew what he knew when he forgot it, in spite of the fact that he forgot it when he really didn't know it. Dan, whose ratings were slipping, would kill for this tape.

What would that great patriot Fawn Hallmark have done in this situation? But of course! If Fawn couldn't make Shredded Wheaties out of it, she'd have smuggled it out of the room in her blouse, n'est-ce pas? Ms. Faux Pas wouldn't mind the spoils of smuggling—getting one's own William Mortis agent and a twenty-six-week contract as a talk show host. Voila! Ms. Faux Pas slipped the tape into her blouse and excused herself.

Smoking Gun has been an entertaining addition to Ms. Faux Pas's video library—in the closet. When a congressional committee came by asking questions a few weeks after the TV dinner, Ms. Faux Pas served them some nachos and screened the tape, explaining it was a pilot episode of Smoking Gun, a new TV spy series. The committee thought that Ronnie Reaganomics deserved an Ollie, a new award for believability, for his performance. The case was closed. Vraiment!

Next month Ms. Faux Pas will tell you bow to order a patented Fawn Hallmark blouse with a large bidden pocket in the back—please specify letter or legal size.

Ms. Faux Pas is the nom de plume of Avenue editor Joan Kron.

PLAY MONEY

Continued from page 1

also licensing and producing shows in Japan, where she launched productions of Nine and My One and Only. Each Japanese theatergoer shells out about seventy dollars for a ticket. Ms. LeFrak is also active in Hollywood, and her business is something of a family affair. Her husband, entertainment lawyer Kirk D'Amico, has ventured into theater as associate producer for the off-Broadway hit Staggerlee and often works in London, producing shows for the BBC.

London was where Margo Lion first saw Les Misérables and decided she had to be an investor in the New York production. While her investment in the show came about in an offbeat manner—via the gypsy mugging in Florence—the theatrical instincts that urged her to put a heavy bet on the show had been solidly nurtured. Now forty-two, she has been connected with the theater for the past nine years. Baltimore-born and California-educated—she attended Mills College—she thought she might teach American history. Her career path led her first to politics (she worked for Senator Robert Kennedy) and later to education (she taught first- and second-graders at the Town School in New York). It wasn't until she accompanied her then-husband, a playwright, to a University of Iowa playwriting workshop that she got involved in theater.

A cousin, Martha Clarke, was making a name as a director in New York at the time. Margo Lion worked with her for a while, and then Ms. Clarke introduced her to Lyn Austin, who ran the Music Theater Group. Ms. Lion spent four years with Ms. Austin, eventually became her partner, and helped develop fifteen musical productions. Then Ms. Lion ventured out on her own as a producer in the commercial theater. Early artistic successes included How I Got That Story and, with Lyn Austin, Metamorphosis in Miniature, starring Linda Hunt, botisf of which won Obies.

She is currently coproducing Gregory Hines's new musical, Mr. Jelly Lord, based on the life of Jelly Roll Morton, and did the same for Martha Clarke's Garden of Earthly Delights, a dance-theater production based on the Hieronymous Bosch painting; she is also seeking backing for a Jules Feiffer musical satire, Puss in Boots, and developing a project based on the John Dos Passos fiction trilogy U.S.A.

"You need an independent income to be a producer," Ms. Lion advises. "The chances of getting your money back are very low, but when you hit, you can hit big. Shows like Les Misérables are few and far between," she sighs.

David Finkle is a freelance writer and a performer in the cabaret trio Weeden, Finkle & Fay.

مكذا منه لأصل

ADAM SMITH Continued from page 1

14 / 1///

the movie starred Lee Remick. It was only a modest success at the box

Nonetheless, Mr. Goodman enjoyed life in the sunshine. There were dinners with Ira Gershwin, another friend of Sallie's, and with Clay Felker and his wife of that time, the actress Pamela Tiffen. The Goodmans' two children, Alexander and Susannah, were born in California. And the family bought a puppy named Ruth that Mr. Goodman later immortalized in Bascombe, the Fastest Hound Alive, a popular children's book. In 1965, after spending a lot of time on his backhand and seeing his script for The Americanization of Emily ripped up by Paddy Chayevsky, Mr. Goodman and his family returned east, settling in Princeton because New York was too expensive for a family with two young children. They bought the house where they now live from Donald Regan, the future adviser to Ronald Reagan.

y now, Clay Felker was at the original New York, which was a Sunday supplement to the tottering World Journal Tribune. "I had an idea," Mr. Felker says, "to do a column about Wall Street based on the concept that Wall Street was a club." The idea came from business columns in English newspapers that appeared under pseudonyms like Cato or Petronius and made the reader feel the author and his subjects were all members of a close-knit

On September 27, 1966, Mr. Goodman had a conflict-of-interest problem. He wanted to write about securities analysts redlining Motorola. But he was himself a securities analyst. "They might have lifted my card." The pseudonym became a necessity.

Mr. Felker and Mr. Goodman met to discuss it. Mr. Goodman wanted to call himself Procrustes, after the highwayman of Greek mythology who placed his victims on a bed of iron, then stretched them if they were too short, or chopped off their feet if they were too long. Mr. Felker said, "No, people wouldn't know what that meant." He called his then-managing editor, Sheldon Zalaznick. "Why don't you call him Adam Smith?" was Mr. Zalaznick's suggestion. Jerry Goodman hated it. He thought it highly unoriginal—every college freshman knew about the original Adam Smith, the eighteenth-century author of The Wealth of Nations and the first great free-market economist.

Still, he used it.

Jerry Goodman was now "Adam Smith" in quotation marks.

His ambivalence didn't last long, however. The piece on Motorola was enormously popular, as were the Adam Smith pieces that followed. There was the Adam Smith article about Scarsdale Pats, the rotund broker who swaps information with the most influential money managers over pastrami sandwiches, deviled eggs, and "a big bowl of pickles" on the boardroom table; there was the piece about Poor Grenville, the miscalculating fund manager who has to spend $70 million in the next two hours; there was the piece about how "Adam Smith" himself nearly went broke because of a bad investment in the cocoa market.

The secret of his writing, says Mr. Goodman, was that "most people in the financial community stress their successes. But what I wrote about was failure. I wrote about losing money in cocoa—big blunders that I had made. Every man jack in the financial community had a blunder like that that he was keeping secret even from himself.

In 1968, the Adam Smith phenomenon peaked with the publication of The Money Game, an expanded collection of Mr. Goodman's pieces from New York. The reviews were glowing: "the most acute, revealing, and beguiling treatise on men and money" in forty years, wrote Eliot Fremont-Smith in the Times. Another Times reporter, Henry Raymont, a friend of Mr. Goodman's in the 1960s, finally blew his cover and publicly identified him as Adam Smith.

The Money Game stayed on the Times's best-seller list for more than a year.

"It was wonderful to have this number-one best-seller." Mr. Goodman starts to laugh. "Under my own name, it would have made me famous, you know. But it made Adam Smith famous."

When New York went independent. Jerry Goodman, along with Tom Wolfe, Jimmy Breslin, and art director Milton Glaser, was named to the new

New York's founding editorial board and given a small piece of the magazine.

If Mr. Goodman was frustrated by his lack of power at New York, he was in the thick of things at Institutional Investor. The monthly journal had been launched in March 1967 by a twenty-five-year-old businessman named Gilbert Kaplan. Mr. Kaplan's concept was that insurance people, investment counselors, bankers, and fund managers all thought of themselves as separate entities—when in fact they were all professional investors handling large amounts of money, usually on behalf of institutions. He wanted his journal to appeal to all these groups, and he hired Mr. Goodman, then thirty-six, as the editor to make it happen, giving him a piece of the company. For the second issue, Mr. Goodman recalls, "We loosened it up into the Adam Smith style. We took four leading money managers and dressed them as Superman, Batman, Captain Marvel, and somebody else, and put them on the cover. Nobody had ever done that in the financial world, so that created an e-nor-mous amount of talk instantly."

This was Mr. Goodman's first editing job, and he sometimes seemed a bit above it, ducking into his office to salvage "incomprehensible pieces submitted by . . . very distinguished thinkers who didn't write well," ducking out to play tennis with the president of Harper & Row.

Mr. Goodman was not only an artistic success but a financial success as well. "He was the first writer I knew personally who made a lot of money," says Tom Wolfe.

From Wall Street to the Great Wall: Adam Smith in China

"I had some money. I could do what I wanted for the first time-follow my nose," Mr. Goodman recalls. His interest in altered states of consciousness took him back to mind exploration, through interviews with yogis, mystics, and physiological psychologists, and he later wrote about it for Psychology Today. "I was really, really interested." He put all his investments into an investment partnership, then never looked at it. "It did very badly." Soon, he was quoting the I Ching, the ancient Chinese treatise on prophecy, to his Wall Street friends when he saw them (which was only occasionally), and reading reams of studies on biofeedback and the workings of the left brain and the right brain. Mr. Goodman gave up alcohol and cut way back on refined sugar, and then he watched as his weight dropped "one pound, two pounds a week, below my Army weight, below my college weight," until "it finally leveled off at the weight last registered when I was a skinny seventeen. So I had to get new clothes."

Three years after it all began, Mr. Goodman found himself writing Powers of Mind in a basement office on the campus of Princeton University. The reviewers weren't kind.

Disappointed, Mr. Goodman took some time off to think. He returned briefly in 1976 to New York. But the magazine was bought soon after by Rupert Murdoch, and, after Mr. Murdoch forced Clay Felker out, much of the staff bailed out, too. Soon, Mr. Goodman was back at Esquire as an editor and columnist. Mr. Felker was back, too-this time as top editor. "Jerry wanted to be around other people, come into an office," Mr. Felker explains. "I gave him a job." Briefly, there was a reunion of some of the old New York crowd. But it didn't last long. The magazine was slipping away from Mr. Felker. In 1979, Esquire was sold to a couple of young Tennessee publishing executives named Christopher Whittle and Phillip Moffitt. As had been the case at New York three years earlier, Clay Felker was followed out the door by a wave of staffers. But this time Mr. Goodman

Mr. Moffitt's agenda was to reformulate the magazine, to upscale it, to bring back an earlier tone, what he called "a certain knowledge of the

Mr. Goodman, with Mr. Moffitt's endorsement, beefed up what he calls "the serious side of the magazine." But he was not well-liked by the staffers. One observer remembers, "He very much came in as the wise old sage talking to the peons. We would have to listen to him go on and on about all the famous people he had lunch with. We would hear this supercilious guy brush aside our efforts and mock them-oh. he was so mocking."

But not everyone saw it like this. Says Byron Dobell, now the editor of American Heritage: "It was the normal back-and-forth of two generations, one of which is older and thinks it has seen everything-which is a kind of arrogance-and one of which is younger and thinks it has discovered things for the first time-which is also arrogance."

By 1982, it was obvious Jerry Goodman wasn't fitting in at Esquire. And when the magazine began to veet toward more coverage of style and trends than intellectual subjects, Mr. Goodman's interest waned. Luckily, he saw a way out. He had begun taping spots for PBS's The Nightly Business Report, produced by the public television station in Miami. Soon, Mr. Goodman started talking to WNET's thenpresident John Jay Iselin about producing his own business show in New York. They recruited Alvin H. Perlmutter, a veteran broadcaster whose previous projects had included The Great American Dream Machine, 28 their producer. And Mr. Goodman went out to find some sponsors.

Metropolitan Life put up more than $2 million to underwrite the first season of Adam Smith's Money World.

A staff was assembled, and the summer of 1984 was spent brainstorming. Originally, there was to have been a regular panel of insiders who would rotate-in the manner of Louis Rukeyser's Wall Street Week—but that fell by the wayside. Instead, a format closer to that of Nightline was settled on-a thirty-minute show devoted to a single subject—with Mr. Goodman providing the opening background and then bringing on talking heads.

dam Smith's Money World premiered in September 1984. The first show took on the broad subject of the U.S. deficit. But the focus improved considerably with the second one.

"We were gonna to do a show about the effects of a strong dollar," Mr. Goodman recounts. "This is the kind of thing that I can bring to a show: I said, 'Awright, strong dollar hurts American exporters. Lemme see a list of exporters.' So they gave me a list of exporters." Eventually he came to Caterpillar, the manufacturer of heavy construction and farm equipment. "Caterpillar was perfect. And so we went to Peoria, Illinois, and I knew that I had to get the chairman. It was a hundred degrees and he didn't want to leave his office, but I knew a show shot in an office would be very boring." Jerry Goodman convinced him to walk through the yard filled with the inventory of great big yellow earthmoving machines and relate the fact that since the dollar was so high, he had lost sales. "And as we walked along, he put his hand on one of the machines, and he said, 'This machine would sell for four million bucks,' or whatever, 'but the dollar went up and we lost the sale. And that was the show right there.

"We have some shows that take on this tinge of 60 Minutes, where there's a real story. I loved doing the Binghams of Louisville, you know?" That was the show about the disintegration of a family newspaper dynasty. "And then I like the ones that are really good solid workmanlike shows, where you take on a tough problem and you get good people to talk about it. Or you deliver a point of view that you can't see on other shows."

That happened in one show, when Mr. Goodman found an ex-arbitrageur who had given up the money world to live blissfully at the Rajneeshpuran commune in Oregon. 'And I think we

It's obvious that Mr. Goodman is enthusiastic about what he's doing; it's also obvious that he now speaks precisely in the smart and smart-ass voice of Adam Smith as it has appeared through the years on the printed page. When this happened is not clear, but at some point the man and his alter ego neatly meshed. "There isn't any difference today," he says. "I wouldn't know who else to be."

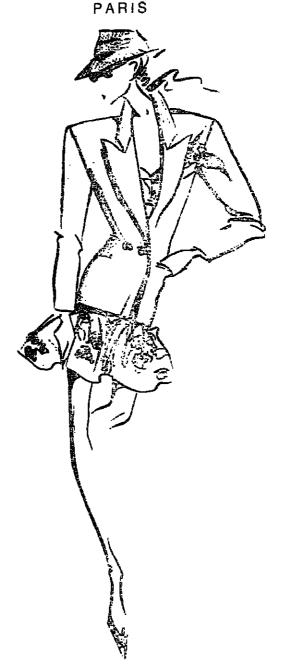

Richard Scheinin is a contributing editor of AVENUE.

The articles appearing in this advertising section are sponsored by their publisher. Avenue Magazine, a New York City monthly.

ADVERTISING SECTION

JEAN-LOUIS SCHERRER

51 AVENUE MONTAIGNE

SCHERRER

boutique

SPRING/SUMMER 1988 COLLECTION Tel.: 43.59.55.39/47.23.83.16

Available October 14th/21st 21 rue François 1er By appointment only

JEAN-LOUIS SCHERRER AVAILABLE IN FINER SELECT STORES THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES

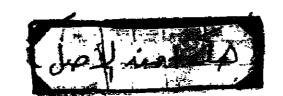

Chloé

Louis Féraud. PARIS

PRESS SHOW: SATURDAY-OCTOBER-17-7 P.M.-BY INVITATION ONLY-HOTEL GEORGE V-PARIS

PARIS - NEW-YORK - LONDON - TOKYO - MÜNCHEN

INTERNATIONAL MANAGER

How to Break the News To a Future Ex-Employee

By SHERRY BUCHANAN

ONDON — Having to tell people they are fired is so stressful that most managers don't know how to handle it well. To ease the stress, managers who are concerned about their company's image and therefore about what happens to the victims are increasingly taking advice from ement firms and counselors on how much notice to give, when to do it, what to say and how to say it.

Outplacement firms are best suited to give advice on how to handle "friendly" firmgs. Usually, a company will call in an outplacement firm, instead of legal counsel, when there hasn't been any impropriety on either side.

Although outplacement firms are paid by the company doing the firing, not by the individual being fired, the firms say they offer advice to both parties. both parties

If the exit interview is well

Among the first things a boss wants to know is how much notice to give.

handled it helps us because then we don't have to pick up a person who is in deep shock," said Pauline Hyde, managing director of Pauline Hyde & Associates Ltd., a London outplacement firm.

Among the first things a boss wants to know is how much notice to give once the decision has been made. Some companies are getting people out of the office immediately, either to prevent them from confiscating confidential files or from complaining to colleagues and spreading uneasiness.

"By getting the person off the premises immediately, you avoid a lot of imcertainty among the remaining staff," said Manfred Kets de Vries, a professor of organizational behavior at IN-SEAD, a business school in Fontamebleau, near Paris.

BUT OTHER experts are against brutal "here today, gone tomorrow" firings. "It's a good way to shatter the individual's morale totally," said Tony Milne, a director of CE-PEC Ltd., at SundridgePark Management Center in Bromley,

Although it seems obvious, counselors often have to advise companies not to fire people before Christmas or when they are fust back from a holiday.

"One manager came back from holiday recently to find his desk gone and a note on the floor asking him to report to the boss," said Brigit Litchfield, managing director of Forum for Occupational Counseling and Unemployment Services Ltd., an outplacement firm in London.

Most layoff counselors agree that the "exit interview" should be short and that some agreement should be reached on what will be said to outsiders that is mutually acceptable to both sides and would not jeopardize the person's chances of finding another job, or harm the company's image.

"The longer the interview goes on the more likely it will become emotional," Mrs. Hyde noted.

Because most people are upset and cannot absorb much else once they are told they are fired, the manager should stick to the bad news and save the good news — details about severance pay or job counseling — for later.
"It isn't too helpful for the manager to go down the counseling road." Mr. Milne said. "No matter how hard he tries to give advice at that time, the person being fired identifies him with the company which is doing this terrible thing to him. You can mention severance pay at the same time but the details are best outlined in a letter later because people tend to black out and may not be able to take it all in."

Should a company tell the person the real reasons they are being let go, especially if it is not related to performance?

"Very often redundancies at senior levels are due to personality clashes," Mrs. Hyde said. "I am not in favor of lying." But how you break the news, she said, "has to be reasonable. It shouldn't but too much."

hurt too much. Currency Rates

	Cress B								_		Dy 1410mmin 110mmi
	CLOSS IF	ares							U	d 15	International Herald Tribune
		5	E	D.M.	F.F.	11.L.	Gldr.	B.F.	S.F.	Yen	FRANKFURT — Karl Otto
	Amerier door	2,027	1371	1.1252	0.3372	Q.156 °	_	5.492 °	1,3588	1.4281 *
	Brussels(a)	37.55	62.4625	20.855	6.245	2.8911 *	18.5425		25.18	9.2652	Pohl, the president of West Germa-
	Franklert	1,801/	2.995	_	6.2997	@1386 °	0.0008	4,301 =	1_2076	1.2675 *	ny's central bank, said Thursday
	Louisian (b)	1.6635	_	2997	10,6028	2,162.50	3.3695	62.42	2.4508	234.35	that a planned withholding tax on
	Jiljan	1,301.00	2,163,10	721.20	216.29		60.50	34,629	872.71	. 9.167
	New York(c)		1.4625 b	1.8005	48105	1,301_50	2.0255	17.55	1.49	142.19	investment income announced last
	Paris	60115	10.001	3.3367		0.4623 =	29656	0.7401	410365	4.2362.*	week could weaken the nation's
	Tokyo	142.70	236.68	78.93	21,70	0.7097	70.23	3.8803	95.29	_	competitive position as a financial
•	Zurich	1,489	24785	9.8272	0.2478	0.1145 =	2.7352	3382b •		1.0482 °
٠.	? ECU	2.7532	8.4928	2875	4.93	1,499,70	2.753	43.314	1,7177	163.577	center and was likely to increase
	1 SDR	1.2964	0.7905	2.339	7.8055	1,613.46	2,6319	48,7557	1.9366	184.895	upward pressure on interest rates.
-	. Clastings to L	andon. T	Takva and	Zurich.	Azinas i	n ather ca	nters. No	w York r	ates at 4	P.M.	In a speech to a conference of
	4: Commerci	al tener	b. To bu	v one or	und: c:	Ta buy oo	e dollar.	": Units	of 100: I	V.C.: not	West German securities dealers,
•	qualed; N.A.:						-		-	-
•	/										Mr. Pohl was strongly critical of
	Other B	ellar	Value	-6							the planned 10 percent withholding
•	Cerrency	Per S	Curren	CY :	Per S	CHITERCY	Per	S Cur	LEBCA	Per 5	tax on investment income.
	Area, cestre		Fig. me		4.357	Mex. Pest	16131	M 5.4	fr. rand	2.065
		-	C-155* 170*								The Bundeshonk president said

138.60 7.804 12.87 1646.00 0.6736 1.602 0.2801 2.528 4.2106 4.5885 20.50 143.15 3.7502 2.093 48-day 1.6604 1.40,79 1.7855 96-day 1,6407 140,25 1,7798

Interest Rates

	Exrecurency Deposits						Oct. 15
j	Dellar	D-Mark	Swiss Franc	Sterling	Franch Franc	ECV	SDR
	Towards 8-81/2	4-574	374-31/2	_	79a-8	6 44-7 Ke	674
٦	2 MONTHS 8 7L-8 N	41/2-414	37-37-		814-814	7/2-7/4	6 %
٦	I mostles 9 14.9 14.	4 %-5 %	47-4%	N.A.	9-914	7 %-7 %	74
ı	6 Doubles 9 44.0 4.	54-5%	43-4%	_	fr-	7 Wa-8 Wa	7%
1	7 YEQT	576-574	4 74-4 FL	_	9 % 9 %	814-814	7%
1	Sources: Moreon God	ranty (dalla	r. DAL SF.	Pound, FF);	Liayds Bar	k (ECU);	Reviers
1	(SDR), Ristes applicab	le to inferocu	nk depasits a	f $1 million d	ninimum (ar	equivalent	J.
1	,
- 4	the second second	· .		_

U.S. Money Market Funds

Merrii) Lynch Ready Assats 30-day average yield; Telerale Interest Rate Index: 8.20 Source: Merrill Lynch, Telerate.

Gold

462.05 462.05 463.56 461.25 461.25

+2.45 +2.70 -0.42 +5.30 +5.80 +1.95

tax on investment income.

The Bundesbank president said he opposed imposition of such a tax when it was considered in the early 1980s and expressed skepticism about possible benefits from the tax, which is intended to help finance a broader West German Karl Otto Pöhl

"How large the net fiscal results of the planned withholding tax will be, how much it will help fill the "Among the negative effects mentioned in the report to the government on this problem delivered in May of 1986," Mr. Pohl said, "was the weakening of the internaincome gap from the general taxrate reduction, are questions which are very difficult to judge," Mr. Pohl said. "But based on the martional stature of the West German financial center in favor of the Eur-omarket. I fear that this assessment past few days, I'm afraid that it will is still applicable today."

The planned introduction of the withholding tax "makes it more urhave the effect of raising interest The tax could also create a split in the capital markets, Mr. Pohl gent" that taxes affecting capital markets, "at least within the Eurosaid, by prompting investors to turn to securities not subject to the tax and shifting trading in West German securities to London or pean Community, be quickly harmonized," he added.

Mr. Pöhl's critical view of the planned withholding tax was shared by Rudiger von Rosen, the of West German Stock Exchanges.

12-Member Board to Oversee ASEA, Brown Boveri Merger

By David Brown
Special to the Herald Tribune other financial centers. The planned tax will not apply to Euro-bonds denominated in Deutsche ZURICH - ASEA AB of Sweden and BBC Brown, Boveri & Co. of Switzerland, whose plans to merge on Jan. I will create the world's largest electrical engineering group, revealed Thursday de-tails of the management structure for the new organization.

The appointment of a 12-meanber executive committee is the first sales. step in what analysts expect to be a difficult process of putting together Europe's biggest cross-border

It also provides clues to the divisional makeup of the new group, which will be formally announced

The committee will be under the and development division had been overall control of the ASEA chief slow to bring products to market.

executive, Percy Barnevik, BBC's current chief executive, Thomas P. Gasser, will become his deputy.

The committee will include five other executives from the Swedish group, who are expected to have nance and sales.

The committee includes only two representatives from BBC's West German arm, which generates 40 percent of its $8.78 billion annual

Analysts expressed surprise that the candidate apparently slated to coordinate research and develop-ment for the new group, Berthold Romacker, has been chosen from

Although hailed for its technical quality, Brown Boven's research

NYSE Free-Fall: Is It Time to Bail Out?

Analysts Dispute Whether or Not The End Is Here

By Lawrence J. De Maria
New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The New

York Stock Exchange's free-fall, which has seen the Dow Jones industrial average plunge 228.29 points, or 8.6 percent, in little more than a week, has many money managers wondering whether this might not be a good time to head for the exit. Wednes-day's record 95.46-point plunge did not soothe any nerves.

"It's better when it goes up," said Douglas G. McPeek, vice president at Gateway Investment Advisors in Milford, Ohio. Mr. McPeek's wry assessment was made against a backdrop of real worry. "The concern is justified," he said.

But if money managers are certainly becoming more wary, there is no consensus on where the stock market is headed.

"We still consider this a bull market," Mr. McPeek said. But Kenneth S. Hackel, who runs Systematic Financial Management in Fort Lee, New Jersey, asserted, "The bull market is over; it's dead; it's gone."

Mr. McPeek runs the $4.5 million Gateway Growth Plus Fund. "As a matter of policy, we're fully invested in stocks," he said. Actually, Gateway Growth usually has 99 percent of its assets m nmon stocks, with a 1 percent hedge in index put options. "We can go as high as 4 percent," Mr. McPeek said, "I wish I had them

But the concern over the pullback, and a longing for more puts, does not mean Mr. McPeek s ready to buy Treasury bills. He believes that the stock nosedive "is clearly interest-rate motivated; we're finally in the correction that had to be."

Maintaining 25 positions "at all times" in such basic industry cyclical stocks as Bethlehem Steel, Asarco and Phelps-Dodge, Mr. McPeek says he keeps close watch on the industry groups to which they belong.
"If we should see significant

By Ferdinand Protzman International Herald Tribune
FRANKFURT — Karl Otto

tax reform package.

price erosion in those groups," he See NYSE, Page 17

Pöhl Assails Proposal

For Investment Tax

He Warns of Exodus by Investors

Traders at the New York Stock Exchange as the Dow plummeted a record 95.46 points.

T-Bonds Lower Despite Rebound Fed's Action to Add Reserves Helps Support Prices

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches

NEW YORK — U.S. Treasury bonds closed Thursday as much as half a point lower, after recovering earlier in the day from a much steeper Prices rose after the Federal Reserve entered the money market to add reserves, calming fears of a discount rate increase, traders said. Until the Fed moved, prices had extended the losses recorded on Wednesday, when dealers continued to sell securities because of the larger-thanexpected $15.68 billion U.S. trade deficit in Au-

The Wednesday sell-off was so severe that yields on the Treasury's beliwether 30-year bond rose above 10 percent for the first time since late 1985. Prices fell more than 2 points, or $20 for each

$1,000 of face value. "This is the ninth week in a row that the bond market has deteriorated," said Leonard J. Santow, a managing director at Griggs & Santow Inc., a financial consulting firm. "During that time, the longest rally lasted for three days. As a result, people have lost confidence in where value really is. I talk to people who say they think the market has overdone it, but when I ask them if they are ready to buy, they say no."

But the Fed's round of overnight system repurchase agreements an hour before its usual openmarket operations ignited a spate of short-covering. On prices for the benchmark 30-year Treasury bond, that frantic buying turned a 1 21/32 point free-fall into a slight 2/32 gain at midday, but prices later slipped to stand 17/32 lower. The bond ended at $7,15/32, where it visided

The bond ended at 87 15/32, where it yielded 10.22 percent, up from 10.16 percent at Wednesday's close.

One trader commented: "When the Fed comes in early, it's clear they're not going to raise the discount rate."

The Fed entered the market when federal funds were trading at 7.75 percent, up from Wednesday's 7.59 percent average.

Also helping support prices were comments from Manuel Johnson, the Fed's vice chairman, that the bond market may have overreacted to inflationary fears. He said that "fundamentals of inflation really don't look that bad."

"The Fed was both jawboning it and doing something monetarily to signal that they don't want the market to get out of hand," another trader said. Dealers noted that the dollar had also recovered from its lows.

In the bill market, rates also recovered from an early-session spill. The three-month bill yield fell 10 basis points, or hundredths of a percentage point, to 7.07 percent.

(Reuters, NYT)

U.S. Retail Sales, Led by Cars, Fell 0.4% Last Month

WASHINGTON - A sharp decline in automobile sales drove retail sales in the United States down 0.4 percent in September, the first drop in four months, the Commerce Department said Thursday. That compared with a strong 1.7 percent gain in August.

Excluding the drop in auto sales, total retail sales for the month fell just 0.1 percent. September automobile sales were down roughly $500 million, or 1.4 percent, after a strong August performance, when U.S. automakers used incentives to increase sales by 5.7 percent to $31.1 billion.

The overall decline was in line with what many analysts had ex-pected given the high automobile sales in August. A Bank of America poll of financial analysts found that most believed sales would fall

0.6 percent in September. September's $128.8 billion in sales were 0.3 percent below September 1986 but, excluding the auto category, which was 13.2 percent below a year before, total sales were 4.6 percent higher. The drop in auto sales also reduced overall reported sales of durable goods — goods designed to last three years or more — by 0.9

Nondurable goods sales slipped 0.1 percent during the month, with general merchandising falling 0.6 percent despite a late start to the school year, which some analysts thought would help department

Nondurable goods sales were 5.3 percent stronger than September 1986, while general merchandising was 6.4 percent higher.

Analysts said the slight fall may presage a slowing in the pace of consumption from levels earlier this year as higher interest rates exert some drag on the economy. "There's a worry that with higher interest rates, people are beginning to lose confidence," said David Vyss, senior vice president at Data Resources Inc. Mr. Wyss said that auto sales, which provided the momentum in August retail sales, would slow again in October and that retail

"But I'm more worned about the first quarter of next year - I think interest rates will continue to go up in the next few months," he said. Robert Chandross, chief economist at Lloyds Bank/North America, called the September data "nondescript," but said they confirmed a trend of a slowdown in the pace of consumption. (UPI, Reuters)

Jobless in U.K. Steady at 10.3% In September

LONDON — Unemploy-ment in Britain was unchanged in September at 10.3 percent of the work force, the Employ-ment Department said Thurs-day. The total number of unemployed was 2.87 million, a slight increase from 2.7 million for August.

The seasonally adjusted figure, which includes persons leaving school, fell a record pro-visional 53,800 in September to total 2.77 million, or 10 percent of the work force, the depart-

In August, revised figures showed that seasonally adjust-ed unemployment fell 47,100 to 10.2 percent, the department said. It said that total had de-clined for 15 consecutive months. Employment Secretary Norman Fowler attributed the improvement to a strong economy and rising productivity.

The department also announced that average wage increase in Britain for the year to August, adjusted for factors such as back pay, was un-changed from July at 7.75 percent. The rate of pay increases in Britain is usually higher than the rate of inflation. The difference for the past year is 4.2

Growth opportunities worldwide

PRIVATE BANKING RE-DEFINED

t American Express Bank we believe that A yesterday's concept of "private banking" no longer meets the needs of today's complex world. And so our approach to private banking is as different, as innovative, as our bank itself - in a number of ways.

For example, we are one of the very few banks that specialize in serving international clients, and we have over 65 years of experience in this field. Today, with 99 offices in 43 countries - one of the world's largest networks - we are present in all key financial centers of Europe, Asia and Latin America. In Switzerland, private banking services are provided by American Express Bank (Switzerland) AG. And, through American Express Bank International, we now serve international clients in the major U.S. gateway cities of New York, Miami and Los Angeles.

Exclusive services

Moreover, we offer an exceptionally broad spectrum of services, including Gold Card® privileges through American Express Bank and our exclusive, round-the-clock Premier Services,511 for the business and personal travel needs of certain clients.

opportunities provided by the worldwide American Express family of companies. Result: you have an unequaled choice of ways to protect your assets and make them grow. Your personal advisor To help you benefit from this broad array of seraddition to full-time, professional portfolio management, we give you access to the investment vices, we assign one of our Account Officers as your personal advisor. An experienced professional, he coordinates American Express Bank's global resources on your behalf, supported by one of today's most advanced telecommunications and computer networks. Private banking re-defined, by American Express Bank: personal innovative, fine-tuned to the special needs of international clients. For more information on how this unique concept can help you reach your financial goals, contact us today. In Zurich, telephone 01/219 61 11; in Geneva, 022/32 65 80.

American Express Bank Ltd. is a tebolly-outed subtidiary of American Express Company, which has assets of more than US$99 billion and thareholders' equity in excess of US$5.7 billion.

INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE MARKETPLACE

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES

NICE, CUIET HIGH CLASS 4-room, fiving, 3 badrooms, 3 badrs, equipped latchen, swimming pool, lentroots, ponoramic view on sea and mountains, garage, FFI A70,000, Write, W. D. Martin, 84 rue des Rosiers, 93,600 Saint Oven, France, Tel: 64 56 20 81

PICARDIE - Unique Opportunity,
Building of street level - Irvary flost 59 rooms - wester gorden, gorden, views, 1000 sum. FF900.000 or DM300.000 or US$150.000 Write:
Me Francis LEFEVIE, Notaire, 02500
HBSON, FRANCE

PRESTIGIOUS villa, unspaliable view, near completion, near Monte Carla. 825 sq.m. living space, 536 sq.m. of terraces & pook, lift, private helipon, Cultionnam style. Numerous finings adaptable to taste of five buyer. Tel-Calanat Tramier, 93 96 06 79 Nice AIX EN PROVENCE, center, owner sells 220 so.m. aportment in old build-ing, 3rd Roor, character, terrace, colm, sun. + 80 sq.m. aportment on some floor (union possible). Tel. 67-58.18.28 Manapellier.

VAR IN SPLENDIDLY SITED VILLAGE specious old house of exceptional character and comfort, 3 thougs, 475 beds, 3 boffs, 2 terroges. Views. FTI, 300,000. Tel: Aix 42.38,48.88.

LARGE COUNTRY HOUSE in Gers, 1 hour from Toulouse, 7 rooms, oil com-forts, 5000 scum, treed lond, agreschie gree, FR$50,000. Mr. Dross, luites, 32200 Gimont, France. Tel: 62677248

SUPER - ANTIBES, COTE D'AZUR, modern villa, 3 bedrooms, 12 minutes Nice airport, see & mountain view, shared pool. F1,400,000. Tel: UK 0929 422023

HERAULI: House in pretty village 30 miles Montpellier 25 sea. 3 bedrooms, walled garden, garage, cellor. F420,000. Horns: 67 % 20 87

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS DALLA, TEXAS, USA 1 267 cores
$16,400,000. Water, gas & electricity on property. Frune location, 5 mine.
from IBM Regional Headquarters and new airport. Ideal investment for futura must surpose development. For details. Wrs. Guillou, MGMB Inc. Reoltors, (USA). Tet. 2073-367-4480

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE CANADA

CANADIAN INDUSTRIAL WATERFRONT PROPERTY POR SALF OR LEASE In the heartfand of industrial Ontario. On the US-Canada Seavey, harbourside industrial site, Hamilton, Ont. This unique property includes: 13 cares of land; 8 cares of water late; approvincially 350,000 sq. 15. of manufacturing, warehouse, and office spoce; zoned for heavy industrial use. This complete industrial package offers all the base industrial business venture at marinal cost. For more information contact: Lusi Reatly Corp./Reatlot (416) 681-0862 Burlington, Ontario Canada in Parkland setting.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE FRENCH PROVINCES

COTE D'AZUR
BEAULISUS MER
Neer new marine
Magnificent high closs opertment, porroranc sea wew, in middle of park with pool, 160 sg.m. living space, 20 sq.m. terrace. FF3,600,000 BEAUTIES SUR MER Magnificent property "Belle Epoque" dominating the heart of the town, dose to the yoch! harbor, comprising 5 apartments of 100 to 176 sq.m. entirely removated, Wooded park of 4900 sq.m.
FF11,000,000

BEAUUEU SUR MER
Nice villa directly on the sea, panorom-ic view, very beautiful fittings, 280 sq.m., living space, 1000 sq.m., lovely that garden with large swarming pool. FF12,000,000.

GREAT BRITAIN

CLUTTONS

Stockbridge, Hampshire

M3 Motorway 12 miles. London 70 miles.

An outstanding Residential and Equestrian Estate set Joint Agents:

Cluttons, Mayfair Office, Tel: 01-499 4155 and Savills, London, Tel: 01-499 8644.

127 Mount Street, Mayflair, London WIY 5HA, Tel. 01-499 4155. Also at: London - Westminter, Kensington, Chelsea, Arundel, Bath, Canterbury. Edinburg, Harrogate, Oxford, Wells, Bahrain, Dubai, Kuwait, Sharjah.

SAVILLS

About 57 Acres.

FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES COTE D'AZUR FASHIONABLE MOUGHNS
Delightful Provency villa fracing due south in a quiet districe. The house is well decorded and with first quality installations, spacous living mom and equipped latchen, 4 excellent bedrooms, 2 behinrooms, large games room, ideal cellor for wine, pool, outromatic watering for the garden, hot on acre of well landscaped garden. Price FF3A25000. Ref 1812.

Please materit Mrs. Berham

leose contact Mrs Barbero JOHN TAYLOR SA 55 La Croisette 06400 Connes

FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES CASTLE HOTEL IN FRANCE 12th Century Chalsou South Britanny, completely restored and furnished, 21 guest rooms with bathfure, drawing rooms, restourant, chapel, dependences, swimming pool, 10,000 agm, park Queet location, 15 lans from Atlantic beach, golf course and horse rusing possibilities nearby. Tox-deductible Instance monumental Please write to: IHT Box 2453, Friedrichstr. 15, D-6000 Frankfurt/Main.

FRENCH RIVIERA CYERLOCKING
THE WHOLE BAY OF CANNES
A ZOTH CONTURY PALACE
THE DREAMHOUSE BY ANTIL LOVAG
AN EXTRAORDINARY WORK OF ART without precedent women of Art without precedent comprising 2 receptions, 9 bedrooms, 2 swimming pools, longe gorden, conference room & comprisheder for further information contact: Tel: 93.75.46.12 Thr. 340207 or 470921

CANNES GALLIA
Modern villa, 1200 sq.m. garden, colm, greenery, sun, isving, 4 badrooms, kirchen, garage, outbuildings. Sole due to health reasons. F3.190.000.
AG. MANGIN: 93 99 16 25

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES BETWEEN MONACO & CAP FERRAT Splendid earth, 300m of water front-age, monor house of about 900 sq.m. + independent villa of about 280

BRITTANY. Renovated manor, 200 sp.m. on 2 leyes + fitable attic; + 1½ ha, surrounding land. Entry, 50 sp.m. fiving, bearts, fireplace, study, equipped latthen, 2-car grape, outbuildings. 4 bedrooms, bathroom, WC 15 tims beach, FT,000,000 negonicible. Tel: 16-40 29 54 31 from 7pm. COTE D'AZUR - ANTIBES, view on sea & mountains. Exceptional splender 355 se.m. villa + ground floor 76 sem. operment. 5 bedrooms, 5 bedrooms, 4000 se.m. treed conden, poel & pool house. F6,000,000, ACENCE No 1, 10 Pt de Goulle, 06600 Antibes. Tel: 93 34 23 01

g. 3rd floor, com, sun. + 80 sc.m. upon floor, union possible, of 58.18.28 Monspellier.

COTE D'AZUR - FRENCH RIVIERA ALL YOUR BILLS PAD owners obroad. Full properly management first bitchen, storage in properly management first bitchen, storage in great Bill MO Int 93/3 1534, 7 Bd de la floge, 08800 Cagnes s/Mer. France Company, etc. 2300,000 UK in system of system of street parting, carpets, off street parting, carpe COTE D'AZJIR NEAR VENCE, lorge mil house in 3000 sq.m. riverside gar-den, wolerfells, etc. Spechouler, beaufells, seduded situation, 20 ma-utes from Nee carport. Original waterwheel, olive presses, FFZ.500,000. Tek UK 01 332 5391

U.S.A.

Prime Midtown Manhattan Commercial Property

Five story brick and limestone commercial townhouse Elegant office building steps from Park Ave., fully air conditioned, elevator, delivered vacant, air rights included.

Location: East 55th St. Price: $5.5 million. Contact: David Bova. 212-752-5707. Bernard H. Lawson. Exclusive Agent.

acres of

be yours. Easy credit

this land can

Own land in the great ☆ American West Five or more

Here's an outstanding opportunity to acquire a sizable piece of America's ranchland at a very modest cost.

Sangre de Cristo Ranches Inc., the land development subsidiary of Forbes Magazine, the American financial publication, is now offering for sale scenic ranchland in Colorado's Rocky Mountains. Spectacular land for a homesite and a lifetime of appreciation.

Minimum 5-acre ranch sites starting at $4,500 Send today for fact kit and full color brochure houses set in a beautiful Gertrude Jekyll garden. 20 Grosvenor Hill,

FORBES EUROPE

London WIX OHQ

FRANCE

01-499 8644

DEANERY GARDEN

Berkshire One of Sir Edwin Lutvens finest Arts and Crafts country

Auction sale at the Palais de Justice of NANTERRE, (Hauts-de-Seine) FRANCE THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1987, at 2 p.m.

IN ONE LOT: ONE 7 MAIN ROOM APARTMENT on the 2nd floor - 2 cellars in the basement 3 bedrooms on the 6th floor - Washroom on the 6th floor

NEUILLY-SUR-SEINE (Hauts-de-Seine) FRANCE 10 Bid. Maillot and 1 Rue Raoul Nordling STARTING PRICE: F.Fr. 900,000.

Compat Maitre Michel POUCHARD, Barrister in ASPAIRES (Hourt-de-Seine) France, 9 Rue Robert-Lovergne, Inc. 47,96 94.14.
All barnsters to Tribunal de Grande Instance of NANTERRE. On premises for visits MONDAY, OCTOSE? 19, 1987, from 1/) to noon and Friday, October 23, 1987, from 2 to 4 p.m.

SWITZERLAND

Crans-montana Switzerland (1,500-3,000 m)

The No. 1 international summer resort. The No. 1 international winter resort. The No. 1 chalet development in Crans-Montana. "LES JOLIS CHALETS"

ATTENTION, there won't be enough chalets for everybodyl Purchase allowed to foreigners. Be quick to come and visit our show chalet. For further information and brochure return this form to: Promotion résidentielle "Les Jolis Chalets", Mr. Michel Carron, CH-3962 MONTANA. Tel.: 27 41 32 31. Tis.: 38611.

SWITZERLAND Directly sold by the builder Villars

BEAUTIFUL APARTMENTS

to buy in residential chalet of 10 apartments only near the centre quet - magnificent view -Sfr. 250.000.-Sfr. 350.000.-Mortgage possibility: 60%

Free for foreigners
CONSTRUCTION KOHLI SA, 1884 VILLARS/SUISSE Tel: 25, 35,15,33 Telex: 456 230

BELGIUM

For sale Beautiful Castle in Belgium, completely equiped furniture, silver, "objet d'art" with considerable land d'art" with considerable land around. The Castle is in top condition and ready to be inhabited.

With management if requested. Price: DM 19 M. (Deutsche Marks). Transaction through an international bank. If you are seriously interested please write to: Chiffre 44-64 187, Publicitas, Postfach, CH-8021 Zürich.

TIMBERLAKE RANCH 7 ENGLEWOOD - N.J. =

Beautiful 712 acre ranch in Marshfield (SW) MO. Direct access from state high-ray; within 25 miles of airport; near schools, medical and other necessary facilities. Property boasts lovely passures, woods, ponds and lamstead.

Comfortable H-shaped main dwelling, well maintained: two bedrooms, one and a half baths, great room, dining room, kitchen, office and enclosed porch with built in barbecue overlooking in ground heated swimming pool. and heated swimming pool.

Separate 2 car garage and storage tower. Blegant guest house, overlooking large lake: 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, kitchen, great toom with irreplace, dining room and screened poten.
Beat house, with sum deck and barbecoe.
Managers house: 3 bed rooms, 2 baths, kitchen, diming room and living room.
Also, cabin barn with office, horse barn, 2 story rental dwelling, dairy building and many other [ascinating features.

Ozarks, USA

SUS 975.000. Interested parties. Contact Manshall Esemberg, 208 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, IL 60604

Water Water

Everywhere

O a exclusive Longboat Key, Flor-ida, you are surrounded by tropi-cal panoramic scenery. View the Gulf of Mexico on one side – beauti-Gulf of Mexico on one side — bengtiful Sarasota Bay on the other. This custom-designed, 8th-floor lexury condominium offers over 2500 sq. ft.
of spacious living with every elegent ameaity, it leatures 3 bedrooms plux library, 3½ baths including master saite jacuzzi, parquet wood floors, wine cellar, art gallery, new carpets, drapes and blinds. Enjoy miles of private white-sand basches, recreational facilities, heated pool, sanna, full security, and on-premise management. 1951 155 on-premise management. Just 15 minutes from downtown Sarasota. Appraised at $390,000.00, owner Call or Write Owner: A.W. Josenkanss 3700 Tyrone Blvd., St. Petersburg, R. 33710 (813) 347-7111

SWITZERLAND

SWITZERLAND FAMOUS RESORT AREA

DO YOU WISH to buy an opartment or a house?
to refire in Switzerland?

 to invest in Switzerlandi CONTACT US, 25 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE IN BUILDING AND SELLING FINE SWISS REAL ESTATE IMMOBILIERE DE VILLARS SA

P.O. Box 62 1884 Villars, Switzerland Telex: 456213 GESE OM 20 Minutes From New York City

Begant Tudor Estate for lease situated on 2.3 very private acres with heated pool. Over 6.000 sq.ft. of luxury fiving area. Master bedroom suite with his 8 her baths, plus 6 additional bedrooms 8.5 baths. All modern conveniences in 1987 condition. Available immediately. SERIOUS INQUIRIES INVITED $15,000 per month.

hwhistle & Livingston, Inc. 17 N. Dean Street nglewood, N.J. 07631. (201) 568-5000.

U.S.A.

AUCTION NEW YORK 12 Prime Manhattan

Properties to be auctioned in New York, November 4, 1987. Catalogues + enquiries:

Properties at Auction (New York) 212 319 8550 U.S. FAX 212-2231354 Goddard & Smith (London) 930 7321 U.S. TELEX 668771

COMMERCIAL/INDUSTRIAL/ INVESTMENT REAL ESTATE NATIONWIDE IN U.S.A.

PROPERTIES NETWORK

INTERNATIONA

ig Bur-Seit Laser Office Result or Win o Space of Apri Complex, Shapping C

LONDON RESIDENTIAL

KENWOODS FURNISHED APTS/HOUSES LONDON/SUBURES SHORT/LONG LETS

LETTING AGENTS

TEL: (1) 402 2271 TLX: 25271; FAX: 01 262 3750 23 SPRING ST, LONDON W2 1JA

Monte-Carlo

→e Florestan. Offer yourself the ultimate

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES

ROYAN surry beach resort, 2-bed apartment, Ponorcinic view, 68 sq.m. F325,000 negotiable. (1) 37-95,04,30.

CYPRUS - OWN YOUR OWN HOME in the sun. Wide selection of villas & opportments in the town & location of your choice. Inspection flights out-oble. Lordes Controls, POB 1175, Limossol, Cyprus. 1el 77977. Th. 5136.

GREAT BRITAIN

UNDON, MOVING - instrudente cela required. Top floor family lucury monsion flot in little Versica. Magnificent decorations & fittings. South-facing views, ideal for entertaining. Double reception, drwng room, fitted litches/ breakfest, separate bath, w.c. 3 double bads + 1 en suite, study/4th bed. Lift, porter, off-street parking, independent central heating + separate hot water, least 85 years, low outpopings, volued at £295,000. First offer £250,000 secures. Tel: 01 262 4864

BOLTON PROPERTIES. Residential investment flats for sole or long zent in central Landon. Tel: 01-244 8771. Fax: 01-244 8779

YOUR LONDON MANOR, Outstanding detached 4-bed burgolow in Har-row. 5265,000, UK 01-724 0560, ecc, 209 day; 204 1943(eves) Mr. J. Goboy

GREECE

PRDAVROS. One and 2 bedroomed operiments. Small, coostal resort. Magnificant environment from DM60,000. Also houses for sole, island and analysis of DM114 million. Robert Comins UK. Tel. 10044 799 22641. Spacialists in Greek property.

CORFU. Real Estate 168 acres, close to sea, on main ortery, 7 trus from cen-ter, ideal for hourst exploitation. Fer 30.1-72964, Write K. Kopothishia, Plantarhou St. 30, Athens, 106 76.

FOR SALE

GREECE

REAL ESTATE 9000 sq.m. overlooking the port of Koutouro, Zlom from becot, Zlom from more port of the west cost, 130 olive frees, aded for tourse exploitation or private home. Write: A. Abbox, Militadou 11-Holorgos, Athers or coll Cortu - 35/17 and leave phone number.

SOUNICON, 63 km from Adhens, water-front lot on beautiful sandy beach, 92 meters seafront. About 8,000 sc.m. US$375,000. Tel: 30-1-3625735

OWN AN EXCUSITE VILLA IN Chaliditi, on the beach, 3,000 sq.m. garden-polm trees, 6 bedrooms. FF 4 million, Tet: 30-1-4532472

IRELAND

IRELAND COUNTY WICKLOW 5 bedrooms near Dublin, Veranda, gar-dens. $92K. Hultons, Ireland 45 64438

RELAND: Lucury country home in county Wicklow. 4 beds, 2 receptors. 2 bests, sount. 4 ceres gardens. Tel-Adons - Ireland: 01 760261.

NOBLE PALACE MASERUCCI in the fortified castle Mocerino, 13-15th century. Well pointings from 1600 s, most becautally rooms with magnificent views. Lucratio Borgio stept here, 120 fan Rome, 150 km Rorence, 20 minutes Spoleto. Grand solon 80 ss.m., 55 m high, second solon, 9 rooms, 3 boths, 2 letchers, 2 porches, quick sole £20,000. Tel: UR (1)-730 1532.

#CORENCE Stately 17th curriary villa.
60 rooms, 16 baths, 14 ho, Itokian gardens, Maria Fontana, vi Sanha Margherita Mondia 5, Rorence, 16: 195-50 6812185 call early morning

CASTLE FOR SALE IN PREDMONI ground Turin and the Alps. Tel: (30 321) 450464.

MONACO

Principality of Monaco

A.G.E.D.I.

FRENCH RIVIERA AND MONACO

Magnificently situated in the modern facilities, that make Le FLORESTAN heart of Monte-Carlo, close contemporary comfort to the world-renowned beaches and Sporting Club, the FLORESTAN awaits your pleasure.

We have designed the FLORESTAN in the style of the "Belle Epoque", recreating the charm of turnof-the-century Monte-Carlo and its elegant residences.

We have also designed it to offer you the spacious, complete.

A unique landmark in the Principality of Monaco, the FLORESTAN is the only residence to offer exceptionally large apartments opening on to verdant loggias - the famous, "hanging gardens" that are full-size rooms in themselves.

for a very select few.

 Indiantical

It will be our pleasure to accompany and assist you in your discovery of the

A few select apartments LE FLORESTAN

Le FLORESTAN - 62, boulevard d'Italie B.P. 222 - MC 98004 MONACO Codes Tat. (033) 93 30 06 70 - Talex 620 581 F

The most exclusive luxury building.
Only twelve appartments with fabulous sea-view Mont-Boron Studios, 2, 3, 4 rooms with sauna, swimming pool, private gardens, vast terraces, parking. Caretaker's quarters and active security. Ready end 1987.

Avenue Henri de Bournazel Corner Bd Carnot 105, go intrough Chemin des Criece 06300 NICE, Tel. 93261977 Teles BIOBAT 970770F 93 65 03 74

Villa Angelico

SHERIDAN MORLEY

Prestigious 150 sq.m. 3 room apartment

CANNES CALIFORNIE Superb 4 room villa, 3 bathrooms, swimming-pool, fain-take

F.F. 4.000.000 SO.LEIL.

Tal.: 93 38 51 90

dans le "Carré d'Or" de Monte-Carlo

Le dernier car

Luxurious Penthouse 5 bedrooms with individual bathroom Double living room Area available 283 m<sup>2</sup> Balconies and Terraces 320 m<sup>2</sup> Private swimming pool 12 meters long Panoramic view on sea and Casino gardens

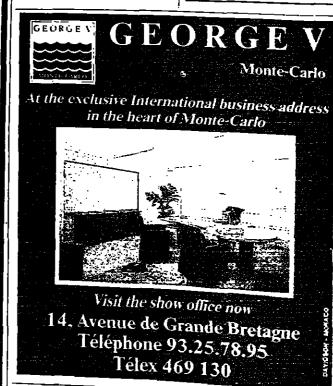

Information and sales: LEGADEL S.A. 25. avenue de la Costa - Monte-Carlo Tel.: 93 50.92.86 - Telex: Legven 479276 MC and at Real Estate Agencies in the Principality of Monaco. Financed by: The Chase Manhettan Bank (Paris) 🚯

PARK PALACE

Don't miss our Advertising Section

"COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE IN FRANCE"

which will be published November 5th, 1987.

Vineyards, farmhouses and villas for sale in this unknown

Mme Luce Ghitti Ghittimar Consultants S.A. 2256 Route de Bandol

83110 SANARY-SUR-MER France. Tel: (94) 29.86.64. Telex: 401890 F

ملذا من لأصل

KI

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

PARIS & SUBURBS

DEFENSE, CHARRAS

RARE 7 MINS. PARIS

usury charming house. English style. F2,200,000. Tel: 47 90 21 08

MARBELLA HILL CLUB

PLACE VICTOR HUGO

Modern building, class, large hand hedroom, on pressue, from on to a pm, 45 33 38 35 5th floor, bedroom, on pressue, from on to a pm, 45 33 38 35 5th floor on the power of the process of the proces

SOTHEBY'S INTERNATIONAL REALT

PARS - ILE ST. LOUIS - front de Seine , sumy sele, splendid oport , ment, et0 sum, with spectouser , view, in 17th century house with oprden and 2 persong sposes. Tel 40.46.00.08. Tix 648316 France. For your real made needs in John Horvath Grow Models in Marbeid (Mare) SOTHEBY'S

PRIVATE GARDEN in Montmortre, fully renovated 117 sq.m. opartment with 90 sq.m. garden, quest, unique lay-out endudes open-plan lutchen à bay windows. F2,600,000: 46 20 02 32 INTERNATIONAL REALTY Plaza de la Independencia. 8 2800: Madrid. Spain Telephone. (1) 237-6488 Telex. = 46787 5P8S $ GOLF ST. NOM LA BRETECHE, directly on cause, charming 7-room house.
3:00 sq.m. Landscaped garden.
173:500000. Tel: owner, Switzerland.
1061) 54 18 79 poi) 34 to 77

ST. GERMAIN DES PRES, 65 som double fiving focing west, bedroom on countyerd, beams, perfect condition, charm, 3rd floor without hir, interphone. FT 800,000, 48 04 84 16.

Los Portales 2
Avenida Ricardo Sonana 120
29600 Marbeila. Span
Telephone. :521 32 23 53
or ;521 32 19 46

CHERCHE MIDI, double living, 11°; bedrooms, 100sq.m., charming, newly redone, parking, no opens, 4662931

HE SAINT LOUIS, 8 windows on the Seine, 5th facor, 110 sq.m., lift is 1988.

PHILIP HAWKES, 47 20 22 58 off Scoron Cold Signs, new Provide Over 15,000 com, with physical forms dream; buth Others in the region of $2,500 cold. Overs high perfect fell will Propose in Socialized (24, 3,000) to etc. (150) ut

REAL ESTATE IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE

FRENCH RIVIERA Company rents in St.-Raphaël VAR weekend, week, forth git or more plended villa alle sammer i programme furnished and decarated form equipped. Domestic help of vital and position, 6 bedrooms, a componer 130 sq.m. reception britisels. SPA, sound, 15 m. Tim commong-cool tennis, office with televini 000 12.7 enclosed park, Neptigori course, 5 a 18 holes, Possibility, 12 persons HAVAS 83700 Saint-Rapheel, of 1335. or telex 451 935.

NICE: "L'Agence STOP"

selections of VILLAS and APARTMENTS on the FRENCH RIVIERA from St-Raphael to Menton on COMPUTER.

has one of the most important?

Ask for our free illustrated caratog 38, Bd. J.-Garnier,

06000 NICE - 93.84.60.78. FNAIM, ORPI

CANNES CALIFORNIE

Magnificent sea view F.F. 1.900.000 view on the bey of Cannes. 96 rue d'Antibes (15400 Carries),

Exclusive properties for sale in the beautiful 'VAR CUEST' coastal and country part of Provence, nch in medieval villages and sunny vineyards. Write now for brochure and

. . . . . . 一人之三 delinited of

RLISINESS ROUNDUP

H.K. Prices BP Shares at £3.30 Each

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches LONDON — The British government on Thursday launched the gine builder Rolls-Royce PLC on handling the new stock.

N.M. Rothschild & Sons Bank, biggest share sale in its program to denationalize state-held compa- in 1979. nies, setting terms for stock worth £7.2 billion ($12 billion) in British Petroleum Co. The shares in the oil giant are to be sold at the end of month for £3.30 each.

The sale of the government stake and new shares in BP is the largest issue ever undertaken. It is the latest move by Prime Minister Marga-Tel Thatcher's Conservative goverument to cut the state's role in the Six million people already have expressed interest in the issue, which involves £1.5 billion worth of new shares and the British govern-ment's remaining 31.5 percent

The price announcement ends an advertising campaign aimed at re-playing the huge success of the sales of British Airways PLC, Brit-

Guinness Adviser Seelig Is Charged in Britain

LONDON — Roger Seelig, a former top merger specialist, was charged Thursday with theft and conspiracy in connection with Gunness PLC's acquisition of Disrillers Co. last year, British police

Mr. Seelig. 42, formerly with the investment firm Morgan Grenfell & Co., was a key member of Guinness's advisory group during its £26 billion ($4.2 billion) bid for Distillers, a Scotch whisky and gin maker. Mr. Seelig resigned from Morgan Grenfell in December. The firm cited breaches of established

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

MOJACAR HINTERLAND ALMERIA, SPAIN

Information from the Company: Tel. Spain 51/478865 or Fax 51/4786400 or write te Apr 146, Garruche Almeria, Spai or contact: T. Ferguson, UK: tel 01 493 7780, oxidense: 46 Mount Street, London W1.

HILLTOP FINCA, oil restored, forfusic sea view, queel location yet 5 minutes. Fuerto Bolo Foch. 10 minutes. Golf Rocat lissa. I fas from beach. New 12 x 7 meter pool. 5 bedrooms, 4 bolts. 6,000 syn. land. Sold by owner. Furnished or not. FIS.35 M. Also, 24,000 and the water searchists. Austria so.m. lot for sole separately. Austria 473 5356-3148 or Paris 47,04.87.27

g pools († Olympic size), new hord is court, ovocado crop, well laspt den. £250,000, UK 01, 409 3599

SWITZERLAND

IAKE OF LIGANO
NEXT TO LIGANO
Directly at the labe of lugano
we are offering laurious apariments & lown houses. Best location, beautifut wer, monthis surrounding, Heated symming pool, underground gorages, private port of the lates, best hines from $7517,000 - to $11,065,000.
fligh Swiss moregages, free for sale to foregrees.

regners.
EMERALD HOME LTD.
VIA POCOBELL 25
VIA POCOBELL 25
CH-6815 MELIDE/LUGANO
Tel: CH-91-68 65 23
Fee: CH-91-68 73 44

LAIC GENEVA AREA SWISS AND RENICH SDES or MCHATAIN RESORTS properties for Foreigners from SF 150,000 60% credit 64% interest. EEVAC S.A. 52, Montarilloni, CH-1302 GENEVA Tel: 41-22/34 15 40, Teleex 22030

USA GENERAL

SPORTSMAN'S PLANTATION
Southwest Georgia 2,000 cores, ½ prins irrigated cropiond, ¼ springs, titles, streams; deer, qual, done shooting; bass fishing, 6-bedroom lodge with all oneshites, pool. Hi-tech form equipment, 2 soft focuse, Proved roads. Teb USA 912-863-3343 extension 19.

to British investors at the £3,30 price announced Thursday. The remainder will be sold through an international offer, at a price an-nounced later this month. This 1988, and the third, also of 105 the London Stock Exchange at 350 pence. At that price, the shares to be sold are being offered at a 20 pence discount held by the state is expected to add to the stock portfolios of millions of Britons who have become shareholders under the denationaliza-

"It's an important step," said Michael Unsworth, an oil company analyst with Smith New Court. "For Britain it is another stage in the government policy of promoting share ownership and privatiza-

The privatization strategy has provoked criticism from the opposition Labour Party, which nationalized many industries after World War II. It maintains that the goverument is selling back to the pub-

"It is a tragedy and a disgrace that the government is selling off Gordon Brown. "The sale is bad news for Britain and represents a bad deal for the country as a ish Gas PLC, British Telecom-munications PLC and the aeroen-exchange that they cannot renege 1979. which is handling the sale on gov-Most of the shares will be offered ernment instructions, has said that buyers will pay for the stock in three installments. The first, of 120 pence, is due on purchase; the sec-

> BP said Thursday that the minimum investment would be 80 shares worth £264. Investors who keep 10 shares over a period of three years will receive a free share. BP expects that profits will jump 77 percent, to £1.45 billion this

> The firm was one of the "Seven Sisters," the oil majors that domi-nated world oil before the rise of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in the 1970s. It ranks among the top five firms in Europe in terms of market capital-(Reuters, AFP)

Pickens Group Loses Court Bid on Newmont

WILMINGTON, Delaware —
A Delaware court on Thursday denied a bid by an investment group led by T. Boone Pickens to block Consolidated Gold Fields PLC's acquisition of 15.6 million shares in Newmont Mining Corp.
Judge Jack Jacobs of Chancery

Court also vacated a temporary re-straining order preventing Gold Fields from voting the stock. "To enjoin Gold Fields now completed stock purchases is unnecessary," the judge said, adding that it "was a

ETA Introduces 2 Lower-Priced Supercomputers

By Agis Salpukas

New York Times Service

NEW YORK — A group representing Kirk Kerkorian, a Califoration would take over only the airline of the coalition discussed the proposal Tuesday night and concluded that even though Mr. Kerkorian are injurious page of the company. nia investor who heads MGM/UA the remaining parent company, was asking for more concessions. Communications, has presented a Pan Am Corp., would retain the takeover plan to the unions of Pan Am shuttle; Pan Am Express, structured airline, his proposal adcial to the Herald Tribune PARIS — A Control Data Corp. subsidiary, ETA Systems, American World Airways that requires greater concessions from the World Services, which provides coalition: the hiring of new manon Thursday unveiled two lower-priced versions of the ETAworkers than current management technical services for government 10 supercomputer.

In presentations in Paris and in New York, ETA said its aircooled Model P would cost $850,000 to $995,000. A more powerful air-cooled unit, Model Q, will be priced at $1.2 million to $1.4 million.

The Model P can perform up to 750 million calculations per second, and the Model Q has a peak performance of 947 million calculations per second. The 10-E, which was introduced in April, is cooled by liquid nitrogen and starts at $5.5 million. It can run up to 10 billion calculations per second Gil Williams, vice president of Control Data's computer systems division, said the new models would be available in early 1988. He said ETA had already received orders for four of the new machines.

The target market, he said, will be science and engineering departments in universities and government labs, as well as corporate research departments in the aerospace, chemicals and automotive industries.

The new models will compete against supercomputers from Cray Research Inc. and the socalled mini-supercomputers from such companies as Alliant Computer Systems Corp. and

Convex Computer Corp., the

REAL ESTATE

TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

117H, 1 bedroom, completely squapped, 111/187-5/31/88 (negotio-ple) FF4.200 per month + uddine, phone, Deposit & references required. To visit, coli Paris 48.06 48.35. To rent, phone LSA 303-447-9882

PUTEAUX, 10 min. Neully & I.n De-fense, 11th floor, ponorumic view, 62 st.m., living, diring cornier, 1 big bed-room & latchen, portring, private te-ne, F6000 including utilities. 4775 9034

nis, F6000 including utilities. 4775 9034
SHORT TERM STAY. Losin, Goother,
Stife Tower, Ch Gyses, Lilin a Prosion, feel of home in equipped studies.
& oporthanss. Mr George. 4055 (2009.
LARGE BEAUTHUL BEDITOOM in 3room for feencle student, F2300 / month net, flet 41 21 00 305 from 10pm prin - midmight
EXCEPTION: OWNER rents his apportmert. High nert. No agents. Tek. 47 27
97 047 42 65 10 05

MONTPARNASSE, 100 sq.m. + ter-roce, sunny, haviny 3/4 rooms, new. F11,000; 43946872 / 46453731 eves

LUXURIOUS 4-BEDROOM opertment in 16th, 350 sq.m., F30,000 charges included. 45 75 13 31

STUDIO, 2 ROOMS OR 3 ROOMS, short or long term possible, residentical quarter. Tel: 47 45 08 65

SHORT OR LONG TERM, LEFT BANK no agency feet. Feb. 42 29 38 83. PURNSHED FLATS for rent from 3 stonins-1 year. Exclusive. 45 79 29 76

MARAIS. Very charming, bright, large

17th / NEAR NEURLY, Studio, ter-roce, gorden, parking, bothroom, equipped kitchen, F450k 47 45 41 %

5TH, 51 sq.m. 2 rooms, large balcony, superb view on gardens, 6th floor, lift. F3000 + charges. 47 27 41 09

SWITZERLAND

FRENCH OUTSIGHTS OF GENEVA: morison with park, 12 rooms + out-buildings, 5 minutes from oirport. Also switchbe for business. SAGE - Anne-nasse - Tel. France 50 92 08 44.

ROWES WHARF

Furnished flat, 2 bedroom, 2 best, city & water views, indoor parting for 2 cars, many amerities available includ-

NEW YORK CITY
LIPPER WEST SIDE
Segont town house, fully furnished, ous river 6 park, 5 floors, elevator, 6 ediscoms, 7 baths, 3 litches, reoflect, Available Jonany Hrough Aupart 1988, $15,000 per month, Kepond or Box $132, Herold Tribune, 9221
Noully Ceder, France

NYC WATERFRONT

company said.

Transamerica Will Acquire Borg-Warner Acceptance

SAN FRANCISCO — Transamerica Corp., a financial services conglomerate, will acquire Borg-Warner Acceptance Corp., a Chicago-based international commences and services are serviced. million, the companies said Thurs-would hold about 25 percent.

the carrier.

senting the unions, Drexel Burn-concessions, which would come to $720 million in that period.

of $79.9 million. The finance company has about

2,850 employees and 325 offices worldwide

Kerkorian Presents Plan for Pan Am and commercial projects.

would hold about 25 percent.

The investment banker repremore profitable than the airline.

Company. Some of those units are one person.

The Kerk

50 percent of the stock in the restrictured airline, according to a union source, and the employees would continue to head the parent would held shear 25 percent agency and the parent would continue to head the parent ham Lambert, has been seeking a palatable for Mr. Acker to support partner for the unions in acquiring the Kerkorian takeover plan even the airline. To attract buyers, the though he and his management unions have promised concessions team would no longer be involved a greater stake for their employees, which now hold about 7 percent of representatives met with the lead-

The source estimated that the day. The representatives included proposed union concessions would Donald Lloyd Jones, a former air-total $900 million over four years. line executive, and Terry Christen-Pan Am management has asked the sen, a representative of Tracinda unions for $180 million a year in Corp., which Mr. Kerkorian owns.

in return for new management and in operating the airlin

The union source said that the Under the proposal, Mr. Kerkorimpression given by the Kerkorian revive the airline would cost less in a would own slightly more than representative was that C. Edward concessions and would increase the

He said that would make it more

The source said Mr. Kerkorian's

ers of the four unions on Wednes-

The union coalition consists of 720 million in that period. the pilots, flight attendants, flight ton brokers, state officials said.

The source also said that under engineers and ticket agents.

Transamerica, an insurance and Transamerica reached the agreement with Borg-Warner Holdings

Corp., the parent company of Borg-Warner Acceptance, which of $17.3 billion as of June 50. June 518. $354.8 million.

cago-based international commercial finance concern, for $728.5 and information and protective had total assets of $4.1 billion as of after-tax earnings for the first nine months of 1987 were a record

"We're very pleased by the agreement," said James F. Bere. Borg-Warner's chairman. "We feel James Harvey, Transamerica's that two very strong companies are chairman, said, "The acquisition of coming together to the benefit of BWAC will complement our exist-agement and the need for an infu-

Pan Am management's plan to concessions and would increase the

the source said the impression was that it would not be a large amount.

Hutton Settles Claims

Over Mining Shares

United Press International has agreed to refund $650,000 that more than 100 Massachusetts investors lost after buying unregis-tered mining securities from Hut-

The New York brokerage firm must also pay the state $20,000 in administrative fees from the investigation and it must institute new procedures to prevent the unauthorized sale of unregistered securities.

30th September, 1987:-

BOSTON - E.F. Hutton & Co.

sion of capital.

Chemical Bank

* immediate funds available

Phone our mortgage consultants on 01-380 5019/5214

Home Loans The Best UK Mortgages for Expatriates *interest only *no capital repayment

Fermenta to Sell 3 Subsidiaries to Australian Firm

Agence France-Presse STOCKHOLM — Fermenta AB, a Swedish pharmaceuticals company that has had heavy losses, will sell three of its foreign subsidiaries to the Australian group Burns. Philp & Co. for about 600 million kronor

($95 million), it was announced

Wednesday. shares held by employees without giving control of the company to The companies involved in the sale are Fermenta Holding The Kerkorian aides did not inin the United States, and Prodicate how much capital Mr. Ker-Chira and Roferm, both in Itakorian was willing to put up, but

The Australian group will take control of the companies on Nov. 30. About 500 employees will be affected. Fermenta

Fermenta, which produces mostly penicillin and antibiotics, recorded a pretax loss in 1986 of 570 million kronor. Losses for the first four months of 1987 totaled 70 million kro-

Burns, Philp specializes in food products and is one of the world's biggest producers of vinegar. It employs 10,000 workers in 19 countries and its revenue for 1986 was $1.2 bil-

TO THE HOLDERS OF

EBC AMRO TRADED CURRENCY FUND LIMITED

INCOME SHARES IN CONTINENTAL DEPOSITARY RECEIPT FORM

The Directors of the above fund have declared the following interim dividend per share for the ilnancial period ended 30th September, 1987, payable on 30th October, 1987 in respect of shares in issue on US Dollars 0.2097 per share against coupon No. 7.

Shareholders should send their coupons to Amsterdam Depositary Company N.V., Spuistraat 172, 1012 VT, Amsterdam.

> EBC Trust Company (Jersey) Limited Secretary

Dated: 12th October, 1987.

ARCO BLACK & DECKER BRITISH PETROLEUM CLEVELAND BRIDGE HALLIBURTON TOYO MENKA McDERMOTT SCHLUMBERGER SHELL UNION CARBIDE YORK INTERNATIONAL

What do these international companies know about Dubai that you don't?

They know that Dubai's Jebel Ali Free Zone has introduced exciting trade freedoms and benefits, enabling companies to set up trading and industrial bases easier in the Middle East.

Just look at these benefits-unique to Jebel Ali. 100% foreign ownership.

Unlimited transfer of profit and capital.

No corporate taxes for a minimum of 15 years.

No personal income taxes. ■ No import duties/export taxes.

Unlimited cheap energy.

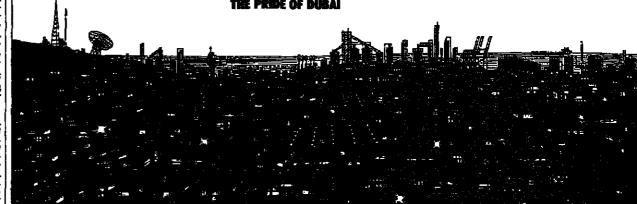

They also know that with superb facilities including an extensive infrastructure, state-ofthe-art communications, accommodation, hotels, hospitals, security and every modern amenity, Jebel Ali is a unique opportunity for Middle and Far Eastern markets.

For more information contact

سلطة المنطقة الحرّة لجبل عاب Jebel Ali Free Zone Authority

Marketing Dept. No. 24. Jebel Ali Free Zone Authority, P O Box 3258. Dubai, United Arab Emirates. Tel: Jebel Ali 56578 Telex: 46580 TPAJA EM, Cable: PAJADUB U A E

USA RESIDENTIAL OBTAIN YOUR PED-A-TERRE pointers by in USA Learny Fordia conduminum on world's most beautiful beach, 3 lighted terms courts, exercise old with Noutless equipment, source, 2 swemming pook, swimming 5 beating in Gulf & niver. Bood stops to 60 feet, protected exchorage, 5 misuse occess to Great Gulf deep see fishing, incredible developer close-out, 7 units 7 bedroom/2 both 1973 sq. ft. frices $120K to $145K unifurnished. Come see for yourself, Special restals, furnished with 1974 Sq. ft. Prices $120K to $145K unifurnished. Come see for yourself, Special restals, furnished with 1974 Sq. ft. Prices $120K to $145K unifurnished. Come see for yourself, Special restals, furnished with 1974 Sq. ft. Prices to 5120K to $145K unifurnished. Come see for yourself, Special restals, furnished with 1974 Sq. ft. Prices close of face up to 4 persons tress Major European chies var Adunds to Persocolo, Florida or Mobile, Alohama, opplied to purphose price. All carploms mel free of charge, Resident manager will look offer & rest your unit as you with 10% down, 9.5% interest rate, balance 15 years. For reservations/forchum write owner. Nils Green. OPCO, PO Box 849, Mobile, Al. $255.344.0757 Telex 460166 USA RESIDENTIAL

NYC-WALL STRIET AREA New waterfront duplex positiouse 3,300 sq. ft. 4 backroom, 4½ bests, posize, sound, 4 berroess, 522 million or 99500/econth rented. Calk 516-674-3961, The 233142 CAP, or writes PO Box 311, Roshyn New York 11576 USA

DARIEN, CONNECTICUT Abedroom executive home, Located on 1 scre near poli course & hunt clob. 50 nin. to NYL. US $695,000. Principals Only. Colt. 203-288-389 or 203-255 7799/ Write V. Wyort, 109 Filbert S., Handen, Connecticut 06517 USA could drive up the value of the sale pence, on April 27, 1989. toward £7.5 billion, analysts say. BP shares closed Thursday on

The sale of nearly 2 billion shares

lic what it already owns.

Britain's last strategic oil asset, at such a cost to the British public," said Labour's finance spokesman,

Market makers fear being legally proper transaction that did flooded with formal applications, not by itself involve actionable which are due by Oct. 30, and they wrongdoing."

INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE MARKETPLACE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE USA RESIDENTIAL

146 W 57th St, NY $375K
Metropoliton Tower pied-o-terne. It bedroom, 1½ bodfs, with jacuzzi. State-of-the-ort. Business & hotel comenties. Health club, Ideal corporate condo. Call Florence at 212-265-8710

BRONDYVILLE, NY- Quaint village, 1 sq mile, 28 min tran NYC, formous school k-12, gracious homes and co-cos. Write for information. DEED SEAL ESTATE, 120 Kraft Ave, Bross-ville, NY 10708, FVI 337-0700. We Are National Relocation Specialists.

PORT LAVACA, TEXAS 1/2 ocre water-front lots $20K. Good elevation, powed roods, 45 min. to Gulff. All 300 lots $295K. Terms. R. Cain, Owner / Agent, Box 565, Port Lavaco, Texas 7/979; 512-552-6313 or 5280 USA

WESTCHESTER 4 BEDROOM / 2 both both split, 14 acre $750K. 3 bedroom / 2 both English Tudor $299K. Tet: 914-834-5099 / 834-5564

NYC-PARK AVE, STUDIO Co-op. Completely new & designer decorpt-ed. Socritica Sole-reduced. $135K. Maintenance $312 USA 212-889-5875

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

CANADA

Montreal - Canada

ECUADOR

CLOSE TO GENEVA furnished flots with cleaning service on private golf. Weekly rates. Tel 50953088 France Tx Pub Annexy 385417 Fax: 33-50437 626

GREAT BRITAIN

GREAT I SKLTAIN

IK PROPERTY rentols no problem! The lorgest rentol agency outside London with over 25 years of Experience. Qualified negoticons offer full show-round service of houses and flats in Surrey, Sussex, Berkshire and SW London. Horner Hill Incorporating Mays Rentols. Sec. 03728-1-3811. Males 2955112. High Street, Osshott, Surrey, England.

$375K

BRECKENRIDGE, COLORADO Condo in sir country. 3 bergons, 2 bethrooms. 4 yrs. old. Benuthul in Sum-ner clab. $150,000. Coll. IH Chapard at 914-23-4786 weekensk or 914-765-5008 weekensk for 914-765-5008 weekensk for NYC - TOWNHOUSE EXCEPTIONAL WATCH Hill, BHODE ISLAND, 2½ hrs to NYC, ¾ hr to Newport, elegant 6-bedroom, 6-both home, servanic quarters, pool, 2¾ cores grocious grounds, ocean view, mint condition, US $1,700,000. Call USA 212-534-600, 401-388-8479 or 10 Ninigret Av, Worch Hill, © 02897 USA EXCLUSIVE Dignified and gracious 5-stary Town House on one of Manhalton's most el-tractive residential blocks in the East 70's between Madison and Park Avenues. Beaufinity proportioned rooms: Excellent condition. Certifally or-conditional formula proposes. Beaufinity proportioned for more proposes. Beaufinity proportions. Elevator. For information please calls.

JULIE KAMMERER.

(212) 688-1900 KENNETH IVES, Inc. 575 Madison Ave New York, N.Y. 10022

REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE

USA RESIDENTIAL

NEW YORK CITY Central Park South A NEW EXCLUSIVE BREATHTAKING VIEWS COSTA DEL SOL, Mijos: knoury exogle's nest, 5 bachs, 5 burns, jocuzza, contended ciding living library, large equipped bor heared pool, many exitus, 5 6 50,000. Contact owners (34) 52,485743. The 77793 EUTR E

187ZA SECUENDE 4-care villa, 6 bects, of spacious momes, sea view, 2 sweet come my for gracious entertaining. Owner must act quickly, therefore, and spacious momes, sea view, 2 sweet come my for gracious entertaining. Owner must act quickly, therefore, and spacious momes and small control of the control o In Elegant Essex House priced below mortes $2,200,000 Please Call DEBSE COHEN, [212] 355,7480 Residence: [212] 472,9600 HELENE FIELDS Ltd ELEGANT

Manhattan Brownstone VACANT

VALCAIN1
Jop Location / 221 E. 49
Ideal for single feasily with possibility for professional space or can be consist the Prime location on Mathathan's E.
Side; near excellent restaurants, shopping, U.N. Removation now 75% complets; balanca can be customized to sait. Private garden, on tree-lined street.
$2.875 Million
CALL 516-487-1714
or write: Mr. Mogad. Ground floor space in impressive bailding at prestigious location on Ster-brooks St. west of Guy Street. Up to 11,500 sp. fl. available. Ideal for finan-cial institution. Contact Mr. Rogens, P.O. Bax 173. Station B. Montreal, Quebec H38 315 or telephone 574-933-6452 or write: Mr. Mogid. 4 Wimbledon Drive, Raslyn, NY 11756

MASSACHUSETTS BERKSHIRE HILLS

Condo at Churchill Crest (3 hours NYC - 2 hours Boston) located in prestigious scenic cance - Only minutes drive to world renowned transpierwood, location retrieval versition retrieval versition retrieval special statement of private pool and lennis court. Priced to sell - U.S. $180,000.

Control Broten Alon Robertson USA 413-499-4892.

Owner (W. Germany) - [0] 89-645-808.

ROWES WHARF 2000 sq ft flet, 2 bedroom, 2 both, 30 ft living room, city 8, water views, indoor deeded parting for 2 cars, many one rises available including health club. leving room, city is woler viewd, incoor deeded porting for 2 cars, many ame-nius available including hapith club, marina, direct line room service from objecting Boston Harbor Hotel, 5 min boot shuffle to cirport. The utlanute in houry from, 31,100,001. BOSTON WATERFROM REALTY 114 Lewis Whorf, Beston, MA (12110 617-742-7240 existing condominiums, master planned for 42" units. Existing site improvements and recreation tooli-ties. I male from major ski area. Call 8ob Young (602) 951-0782 or 02-538 69 90 (extension 42 or 48) Brussels

SUDURY HORSE HIDEAWAY in foot-late of Boulder, CO. 40 acres. Begant I home, stable arenes. $650,000 U.S. Photos ovaliable. Contract Elleen Jas-kowsta, 2877 Magleson, Boulder, CO. 80301. Coll. 303-449-2488 USA MANHATTAN

MANTA I I AV
United Notions area. Extraordinary hifloored depter. 4 bactroom / 4% both.
I tuge living room. formal dining room.
Entin bischen. Southern exposure with full river view. More than 3300 sq. ft.
Furnathed, Immediate crosicality. $2.5
mallion. Principate only. No brokers.
Folion 1st., 715-861-0681,
Fast. 715-868-3079

Furnished, Immediate availability, $2.5 realism. Principals only. No brosen. Folion. Principals only. No brosen. Folion Let., 215-861-089. Fee: 275-868-099.

LARCHMONT, N.Y. Magnificent, pocious villa. Brief: + stucco, 6 bedrooms, 5 bertis, 2 fireplaces, modern liciteche, grandices reception + dining rooms, fibrory, 2 large lerrous + draining rooms, 5 bedroom fibrors read terrous - draining rooms, 62-103, 100 fibrors, 100 fibrors, SCARSDALE (proper) NY Romantic stone & stucco Normandy with arch leading to cobblestone courtyand. 5 bedraces, 4% boths with all the treats and eathers you would expect for treatment shring, Brand new. Call owner / builder for appointment, 914 725-2975, $1,550,000.

CENTRAL LONDON - Executive service opportments in new buildings, comfortably furnished and hely equipped. Dealy mind service Mean intrough Fril, Color TV. Phone for brochure (U1) 388 1342 or write Presidential Estates (Mayker) Lot, 1 University St., London WC1E &E.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE GREAT BRITAIN

LIDCURY EXECUTIVE APARTMENTS. Knightsbridge / Chelseo. Fully serviced. All modern conveniences, Health Cub. Minimum stoy 22 days. From £1807-wk. NGH Apartments, Un-Nell Gwyn House, Soone Ave, Lon-don SWG; 01 5891 05, the 295817 G. LONDON lizary furnished operhents, fully serviced, choice of Mayfrar, or odicizent to Karpington Poloce, £250 to £450 per week, Secretarial / Fax / Telest facilities. Tel. 01 491 2626, Faxe 01 491 8984

LARGE HIGH CLASS 4-ROOM oper-ment in Kersengton, London, 3 bed-rooms, 2 barls, short or long term possible, free immediately, £15,000/ month. Tel. UK 01 602-0220 (home), 01 938-1208 (office) LONDON BAKER ST. W1, self-cotering holiday flats fully equipmed, color 17, linen & telephone, Self-pretorned from £155 per week. Crowland Holiday Flats, 36 Manchester St. W1. Tek. UK 01 402 6165

GREENE & CO. EXCELLENT Selection of Houses & Rots for rented in North, Northwest & Central Landon, Tele-phone: 01-625 8611.

ICHAN BRICH has 20 years expensive in Residential Rentals & Sales. Central & suburban Landon & Aberdeen & MONCEALI. 2.5 monits. Nice 3 rooms, big service. R8700, Tel. 43 80 59 46 ST. GERMAIN DES PRES, 16th century selection of delives apartnerss and houses for long & short term rental. Available now. Tel. UK 01 326 2262

EALING 2-BED leasing flot fully fur-nished central fleeting near transport. £175 per week, Tel: 840 2486

DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE B.V. Deluse rentals. Valeriusstr. 174, Amsterdam. 020-644444 Fax 645354

CHANTI TUSCANY, RENTING from February 38, spoious house, steeps 9, Holistoys or longer, County 18 km from Florence, Longs gorden, terroco. Central heofing, fireplaces. Everything spiglied. Write: Goretti, Vina Morazon 21, 30121 Florence or Tel. (39-55) 821334. FOR BENT LUXURY PENTHOUSE in Quite, Ecuador S.A. 1 bedroom plus loft. 360 degree ponorumic view. Call NYC 516-889-6086, Write: PO Box 1164, Long Beach, NY 11561 USA FRENCH PROVINCES ST. PAUL DE VENCE. Very lasarious villa for 8. Large pool and panoronie views to coast. Housebesping services included in substantial rant. Week from August 1, 1988. Tek 93.25.55.99

OPEN LAND FOR BENT IN NOVARA Pladmont, 15,000 sq.m. fengad in mor-highways, French and Swiss border. Good for deposits and large egyp-pent parking, Tel. (30-321) 450464. ENA / FLORENCE CHANTI AREA

MONACO ABOVE MONACO- SEA VIEW, furnished 3-badroom house, now till June, U.S. $650/mo. Tel. Fronce 93-41-22-55

CANNES. Furnished opertments to rest arouthly /Croisette /winter 57/88. Agence Proncette: 93 43 14 13, 93 Le Croisette, 06/400 Connas. FILENCH RIVIERA. Dec. June or port of. 2 berhooms, 2 boths, high floor, specipo RUBNISHED FLAT IN MONACO. Line-ury apartment. Speciacular view. Available monthly, Tal. U.S. 202-362-2922 or Ths: 248791. US$3000/month. PARIS AREA FURNISHED

CARPEL PARIS la défense

real operiments
2 OR 3 ROCMS
venings, possibility to divides restourent of club
SAGGE, VENDOME LONDON, FLATS AND HOUSES TO AMERICAN STANDARDS, Congut PKI, Lambed, Tel. (P) 325 8111 for Kinghtshirdge, Kenamoton, Onlean, Belgrovec, fet (D) 556 9892 for Re-gents Pork, Prisorbe 181, 91 John Wood, Sw. 97 Startes 181, 91 John Wood, Sw. 98 Cottoga. 191, (D) 777 2233 for Holland Park and Kensington ... or The 27846 RESIDE G. 47 78 75 15 A NEW WAY OF STAYING IN PARK

The Claridge Residence FOR 1 WREK OR MORE high class studio, 2 or 3-room oportments. RILLY EQUIPPED. IMMEDIATE RESERVATIONS. TEL 43 59 67 97

14th CHARMING HOUSE 3/4 rocers, 100 sq.m., + winter garden, F9000 net, Tet: 45.63.68.38

Lineary 1 bedroom, facing Statue of Liberty, in financial distinct, Furnished or unfurnished, Available Nov. 1, Call Mr. Albert, 212-997-1022, The 669158, Face SURBNY quiet specious & becautifully furnished loft, Free immediately for sublet 53,500 month. 2 beds, 2 boths. Chelseo cree, New York Cir., NY. 212,627,7429 or London; 01,937,3983 MEANI LAKES, FLORIDA. 2 bedroom, 2 both, furnished, decorated, 4 tennic courts, 2 pooks 5750 yearly or $1,400 per month. Celt. 1-800-327-5052 or 305-557-7078 USA LOS ANGELES quiet attractive 2-bed home to let, fully furnished, questral air/heat, washer, freplace, private bodyord USS 1000 monthly. Tek A. Alyerson, USA, 213 6589 635

DAYTONA BEACH, P. 2-bedroom, 2-beth leadry ocusariront condo furnished 8 corresportant, USA 95/veek, 305-861-3139 or even 305-865-9877

MERCHOLORIES ANGELS ANG WESTCHESTER, NY 1/3 hr NYC. Spo-cious split 1/4 care Private, 4 bedroom, 3% both, 4,000 sp.ft. Swing space. 53,700, 9148345077 / 8345564

REAL ESTATE

WANTED/EXCHANGE YOUR PARIS HOME FOR elegant Weshington, D.C. town house. Mar. 13-June 1s. 3 bedrooms. Frestige error. Comparable situation desired. 1, Alors. 4253 Westover Pl. NW. Wesh. DC, 20016 USA (202) 362-8952 CARME, CAUFORNEA HACENDA.

10 rooms, pool. Mineries to ocean.
Trade for comparable Paris residences overlas, MoySept. 10 vesto.
Lodera, Cormel Valley, CA 93924 US

$25170177925353353536412525914252384132447889 6541755027454484

TATOMEN AND THE PROPERTY OF TH

222 7.3 10 .76 3.6 .672.12 10.3 22 .50 5.6 24 .50 2.3 16 .50 2.3 16 .74 2.0 18 .75 3.5 15

45公377761772037733773667347277821875617736667557934734544

| Part |

PSIG PH 896 9.9
PSWH PF 999
PSEG PF 127
PSEG PF 127
PSEG PF 129
PS

1% GANTEL 11% GMS 37 GUGNOS 1.00 22 1 21% GUGNOS 800 14 21% GUGNOS 9% GAIVIn Ale 42 9 GAIVIn Ale 42 9 GAIVIN Ale 42 17% GRENER 180 48 1 17% GRENES 22 1.1 1

180 48 17 22 1.1 13

$944 $445 Stornec :
1246 $46 Stornec :
1246 $46 Stornec :
1247 $46 Stornec :
1247 $46 Stornec :
1247 $46 Stornec :
1247 $47 Stornec :
1248 $47 Stornec :
1249 $47 Sto

1.40 11.2 2.52e13.4 88 2.3 1.79e 8.8 1.60 90 1.00 5.4 2.25 1.0 1.80 1.0 1.10 13.0 1.10 13.0

The state of the s

6月2717至78356654545452721121225114653

UDC pt
UD

240 8.1 12

40 28 12

124 4 22

125 14 4 22

120 12 12

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 12 20

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 120 120

120 1 Non Total Street Street Street Street Street Street THE STATE OF THE S 68 1244 1610 17660 1767 1763 17650 1 ender der Staden der S

11/10 ## STATE TO SEE TO THE TENENT OF THE TENENT SET OF THE TOTAL SET OF THE TENENT OF THE TEN

U.S. Futures Via The Associated Press

PORK BELLIES (CME) 40,500 bia. cents per lb. 49,000 11,800 Feb. 48,000 51,550 Mey 74,500 51,500 Mey 74,500 51,700 Mey 52,500 51,700 Aug. Est. Soles 3,3475 Paug. Frev. Doy Open Int. 47,3

Oz 15

Chg.

COFFEE C (NYCSCE)
7,500 (bs.-centsper (b. 2825 | 10225 | 00c | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 1240 | 12 bushel 1.85% 1.97 2.03 2.06% 2.01% 1.86% 1.87% +.00% 1.94% 1.95% +.00% 2.00% 2.01% 2.03% 2.05 +.00% 1.99 1.99% -.00% 1.96% 1.98% -.00% 2.05% -.00% Dec 1,874, 1,867
Dec 1,874, 1,867
May 1,364, 1,97
May 2,024, 2,03
Jul 2,0572, 2,03
Sep 2,0142, 2,01
Dec 1,5794, 1,97
Mar
Prev. Sales 37,481
nl.142,457 up 1,777 Est. Sales | List | Prev. Sales | List | Prev. Day Open Int. | Sales | List | Prev. Day Open Int. | Sales | List | Prev. Day Open Int. | Sales | List USANI 5.47% 5 5.56% 5 5.76 5.79 5.79 5.76 5.76 5.76 5.565 es 36.579 up 2.911 n-dollers per in Nov 5.43/2 Jen 5.55 Mer 5.62/4 Mer 5.77 Jul 5.76 Aug 5.76 Sep 5.43/4 Nov 5.87 Prev. Soles 3/ Inf. 112,056 up 2/ 141 5.434 1504 1524 1574 5.62 144 6.704 1774 5.76 177 5.77 163 5.61 140 5.61 Der lon 175
Dec 175
Dec 175
Jan 171
Mor 169
Jul 168
Aug 168
Aug 168
Oct 167
Dec 168
Prev Sales
L 67/44 up 176-20 1773-20 1773-50 170-50 169-40 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 168-50 176.00 172.70 169.20 168.90 168.90 167.70 166.10 COPPER (COMEX)
23,000 lbs. - Centis per lb.
84.55 22.75 Nov
84.55 40.85 Dec
83.00 60.85 Jon
84.50 60.95 Mer
82.25 60.90 Mer
82 17.91 18.20 18.40 18.71 18.75 19.15 19.20 19.20 19.20 20.732 17.77 18.51 18.57 18.54 19.55 19.55 19.55 19.55 19.55 18.09 18.43 18.63 18.85 79.07 19.10 19.10 19.10 CATTLE (CME) 40,000 lbs.- cents: 68,40 $3,50 49,70 $4,50 49,95 $7,70 69,95 $7,70 69,95 $1,20 40,00 64,00 67,15 61,90 Est. Soldes 20,015 Prév. Day Open li

Prev. Dov Open Int. 64.62

ALUMINUM (COMEX)
40.000 lbs- cems per lb.
Oct.
Nov.
86.00 $4.60 Dec.
77.25 $7.25 Jan
78.00 $9.70 Mar
71.45 $7.00 Mar
71.50 $7.00 Jul
Dec.
Jun
Mar
Mar
Mar
Mar
Mar
Mar
Prev. Dov Open Int. Oct Dec Feb Apr Jun Aug Oct 68.20 68.30 66.30 67.40 67.12 65.85 65.00 68.85 68.75 66.97 66.05 66.05 66.05 68.95 67.25 67.12 68.20 67.70 66.30 68.15 68.43 67.47 67.50 64.50 64.50 +75 +75 +75 +75 +75 +75 +75 +75 +75 Est. Soles Prev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 478

SILVER (COMEX)
5000 frov oz. - centis per frov. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 478

SILVER (COMEX)
5000 frov oz. - centis per frov. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 2004

1014 740 740 Nov 1014 8 1004

1014 567,0 Mary 8 1004

1014 567,0 Mary 8 1004

1014 567,0 Mary 8 1004

1015 500 10 Sep 8 1002

1016 500 Frev. Sole Prev. Sole Prev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 8485

571,0 574,0 Jul 657,0 Frev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 2056

571,0 574,0 Jul 657,0 Frev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 2056

571,0 574,0 Jul 657,0 Frev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 2056

571,0 574,0 Jul 657,0 Frev. Sole Prev. Day Open Int. 2056

161,50 584,00 Cd 258

161,50 117,50 Mary 1185,50 Int. 1185,5 778.70 778.70 778.70 78.70 78.75 78.75 78.75 76.00 76.80 76.30 77.70 75.70 75.70 77.55 78.10 78.65 77.65 77.60 75.70 75.75

Prev. Day Open Int., 81497 6
FEEDER CATTLE (CME)
44,000 lbs. cents per ib.
90,05 97,40 oct.
81,05 525 100 78
80,20 64,20 Mgr 77
78,00 67,20 Mgr 77
78,00 67,20 Mgr 77
78,00 67,20 Mgr 77
78,00 52,00 Sep 75
75,10 75,00 Sep 75
51,50 182 2,028 Prev. Soles
Prev. Day Open Im. 23,364 u HOGS (CME) 30.000 fbs. -cents; 51.70 17.75 49.85 30.05 47.90 77.53 43.80 33.90 45.33 37.53 45.43 37.53 45.43 38.40 41.45 38.40 41.40 41.40 41.40 41.40 Oct Cets 48.55 44.75 41.75 41.75 41.75 41.75 41.75 41.75 49.50 44.80 41.80 44.70 44.77 40.45 40.50 49.15 44.42 41.37 43.25 43.25 40.25 40.35

Currency Options

PHILADE Option & Undertyin Oct Undertyin Oct Undertyin Oct St.000 Ausi Apolir 72.28 12.500 Brit Bround 166.44 166.44 166.44 166.44 166.44 166.45 TAST 74.57 74.57 74.57 TAST St.000 Cor 74.57 TAST St.000 Co 0.29 0.07 120 0.05 0.32 0.25 0.10 0.30 0.47 125.40 Freedom 125.40 Freedom 125.40 Freedom 125.41 Freedom 125.41

1.18 0.33 0.04 0.03 1.04

1,310 1,330 1,335 1,380 1,400 1,410 1,425

0a. 15

DM Futures Options

Spot

Commodities

Fren Dec Mar May Oct Det Est

Sec Troy 62.
OCT 442.29 48.39
OCT 442.29 48.39
DEC 442.39 48.39
ASS 543.39 56.39
ASS 543.39 56.39
DEC 563.38 56.39
ASS 543.39 56.39
ASS 543.39
ASS 543. 462.20 462.90 464.20 467.80 473.80 473.10 482.00 482.40 487.00 487.10 784.50 583.10 502.90 573.10 543.00 573.40 544.80 583.40 544.80 543.90 SI milliam pris of 100 pct.

94.81 91.85 Dec. 92.91 92.08

94.83 91.85 Mor 91.76 91.86

94.83 91.85 Mor 91.76 91.86

94.80 91.71 Jun 91.97 91.67

94.27 91.95 Sep 91.15 91.15

44.99 91.45 Dec 91.30 91.30

12.94 91.45 Mor Sep 91.15 91.15

12.94 91.45 Mor Sep 91.15 91.16

12.7 28-8 Dec 91.30 91.36

12.7 18-8 Jun 91.5 82.20

12.7 28-8 Dec 81.30 91.36

12.7 28-8 Dec 81.30 82.30

12.7 28-8 Dec 81.30

12.7 91.54 91.57 91.54 91.40 91.25 76-37 76-3 75-14 75-14 74-28 74-14 74-18

LUMBER (CASE)
130,000 bd. ft. 5 per 1,000 bd
120,200 bd. ft. 5 per 1,000 bd
177,000 bd. ft. 7 (CME) ft.-Spe f56.70 f56.00 f64.50 f65.30 f65.31 f67.13 181.90 178.00 176.30 175.00 173.70 172.70 179-46 174-46 171-50 171-50 171-50 186.70 174.76 174.90 174.90 172.60 172.60 170.08 222222222222222222 ++++++++++ B. Dec. 67.40 69.
Mor. 69.99 71.
Mor. 69.99 71.
Mor. 71.35 71.
Jul 71.35 71.
Oct. 66.75 67.
Dec. 65.18 65.
Mor.
Prev. Soles: 5.260
nt. 40.975 up 131 49.18 49.90 71.05 71.10 44.45 45.80 775.4 779.1 779.1 816.1 829.2 842.3 870.3 870.3 870.3 870.3 870.3 777777777777 SA.15 SA.20 # ++++++++ Prev. Day Open Int.
CRUDE OIL (NYM
1,000 boil - dellors se
27,56
16,46
27,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
17,55
1 8 578,00 585,00 589,00 574,30 574,30 574,30 574,30 574,30 575,30 572,00 607,20 607,20 634,00 625,00 627,00 644,00 634,30 640,00 644,30 640,00 644,30 640,00 644,30 640,00 644,30 640,00 644,30 +7.30 +7.30 +7.30 +4.50 +9.80 +11.60 +13.30 Nov Nov Jon Jon Abov Jun Aug Prev. 19.69 19.60 19.50 19.52 19.34 19.27 19.24 19.18 19.18 19.72 19.66 19.57 19.48 19.24 19.24 19.28 19.15 19.76 19.71 19.63 19.64 19.36 19.31 19.24 19.20 19.15 19.73 19.73 19.55 19.46 19.38 19.38 19.32 19.15 279 135.00 135.00 134.25 134.00 131.90 133.60 +1.20 +1.20 +1.20 +1.20 +1.20 +2.50 mm +2. $P COMP. HEIDEX (CME) points and cests:
342.55 243.00 Dec 303.51 387.46
347.75 281.00 Mor 305.00 311.39
347.80 309.90 Jun 310.59 310.59
347.40 309.90 Jun 310.59 310.59
347.40 314.90 $P 346.00 316.00
Est. Soles:
Prev. Coo' Open Int. 117.880

VALUE LINE (KCBT)
points and certs:
282.50 240.00 Dec 259.59 242.40
284.40 254.30 Mor 251.58 259.00
Est. Soles:
Prev. Soles 1, 1762
Prev. Doo' Open Int. 4,204.40 281

***SEC COMP. NIMPEX (MYEE) Dec Mar Jun Dec Prev.Sc t. 10,62 170.20 172.70 169.20 170.25 172.25 174.65 171.35 172.25 171.25 174.35 171.00 171.00 Soles 19,176 Commodity indexes 1,051,10 f 1,679,20 133,63 231,65 Moody's : base 100 : Dec. 31, 1931. p - preliminary ; f - final Reuters : base 100 : Sep. 18, 1931. Dow Jones : base 100 : Dec. 31, 1974.

(CBT) ts of 100 s 74-28 73-12 70-28 glas 11.5

75-30 74-4 71-29 1.597

73-15 71-31 70-28

a security with the second second

2.32nds Dec Mar Jun Prev.5a 13,610

77.70

EST. Sales Open Init. 13.61 Ferr. Day Open Init.

Est, Soles
Prev. Day Open Int. 370,233 up 125
BETTISH POUND (IMM)
JOHN DEURS 1,000
LASS 1,247 Doc 1,479
LASS 1,247 Doc 1,479
LASS 1,248 Mor 1,455
LASS 1,248 Mor 1,

Est. Seles Prev. Sele Prev. Day Open Inft. 386 GERMAN MARK (IMM) Sper mork-1 point equals 3 575 5917 Dec 2 520 580 Mor 2 570 577 Dec Est. Seles 1,193 Prev. Sele Prev. Day Open Inft. 36,380

Open Int. 38,380 E YEN (IMM) point espaik $1, 06/231 Doc. 01 06/235 Jun .01 07/075 Sep 07/175 Dec. 8/465 Prev. Sal Open Int. 47,984

MAA) Tequals 90,000 Dec .4797 A/ar .4833 Jun .4905

$1900x 87-17 85 86_

54.72 - 5 - 5 - 2 - 2 - 2

701万强 74,257,783,023

144.00 144.50 145.40 144.30 144.30 144.50 14

87.60 87.75 86.75 81.60 82.30 81.90

780.0 798.0 816.8 877.0 860.0 864.0 873.0

87.10 86.80 86.90 84.90 83.60 82.75 82.30 81.90 81.90

793.0 803.0 809.5 820.7 836.0 860.0 863.0 807.0 825.0 835.0 850.8 864.0 864.0

5973.00 607.20 613.20 625.50 625.50

cf 135.00 135.00 136.00 ec 134.25 127.00 134.25 or 134.00 135.00 134.00 or 135.00 135.00 135.00 1 p 135.00 135.00 135.00 1 v. Soles 1827 7,342 up 13

1765 1816 1846 1877 1910 1945 1805 1834 1840 1880 1915 1952

777777

London Commodities Paris Commodities 1,143 1,183 1,183 1,244 1,244 1,254 1,148 1,148 1,196 1,225 1,254 N.T. N.T. 1.146 1.195 1.225 1.225 1.275 1.293 1,145 1,188 1,225 1,248 N.T. N.T. +3 +4 +7 +8 -9 ctual 1,130 1,140 1,170 1,180 1,195 1,220 1,245 1,260 -- 10 -- 10 -- 5 Unch + 10 + 20 + 10 1,154 1,184 1,203 1,225 1,245 1,269 1,269 1,143 1,173 1,194 1,216 1,235 1,246 1,246 per 780 kg 1,310 N.T. 1,375 N.T. N.T. N.T. 1,317

S&P 100 Index Options SUGAR
U.S. Deliers per metric
Dec 135.20 154.0 154.
Atar 142.2 764.0 169.
Atar 142.2 764.0 169.
Atar 142.2 764.0 169.
Atar 142.2 764.0 169.
Atar 142.0 172.0 177.1 178.0 179.
Dec 177.40 178.0 179.
Volume: 2,486 lots of 3
COCOA
SherTing per metric for
Dec 1,144 1,145 1,1
Mary 1,198 1,197 1,2
Jul 1,177 1,178 1,19
Mary 1,198 1,197 1,2
Sep 1,237 1,238 1,3
Jul 1,277 1,218 1,2
Sep 1,237 1,238 1,3
Jul 1,247 1,218 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,24 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,24 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,24 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,24 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,194 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,194 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,194 1,3
Mary 1,198 1,194 1,1 1.145 1.378 1.379 1.445 1.445 N.T. 1,355 1,364 1,365 1,465 1,405 N.T. Dividends Oct. 15

14.25 | 14.59 | 14.52 | 14.55 | 14.50 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 | 14.55 London Metals -10 PC 11-20 10-30 -50 PC 11-6 10-26 Oct. 15 2 11-6 H - 12/4 11-6 H - 12/4 11-16 T - 12/ Forward
COPPER
Sharting p
Shot
Forward
LEAD
Sterling pa
Spot
Forward
LEAD
Sterling pa
Spot
Forward
NICKEL
Sterling pa
Spot
LEAD
Sterling pa
Spot
LEAD
Sterling pa
Spot
LEAD
Sterling pa
Spot
Forward
LIAC (Migh
Sterling pa
Spot
Forward
Spot
Forward
Source: AP
Source: AP

US.Treasuries Prev. Yield 7.25 8.01 2.31 Prev. Yield 70.15 Yleid 7.30 8.08 8.28 7.96 7.66 7.78 $14 Offer 1-71. bend &7 12/32 $7 14/32

Sony Postpones Audio Tape Drive

Reuers

COLOGNE — Sony Deutschland GmbH, the West German subsidiary of Sony Corp. of Japan, postponed a planned European sales launch on Thursday of its-digital audio tape recorder because of technical problems, a company spokesman said.

Sony had said it would delivery the recorders to 500 West German dealers, to go on sale on Thursday. The spokesman said gave no details of the problems, but said Sony intended to go ahead with the lanneh this month.

U.S. Navy Picks Marconi In $450 Million Contract

Reuses

LONDON — Marconi Co., a unit of General Electric Co. of Britain, said Thursday that it had received a development contract from the U.S. Navy worth more than $450 million.

The contract will be divided on an equal basis with Collins Defense Communications Systems, a division of Rockwell International Corp. The work is for the development of a communication system that can overcome jamming. The project could lead to production orders amounting to $3 billion over the next 10 years.

1075 1075 696 880 87 568 1118 175 2852 1576 1576 2576 2676 2676 2676 1976 1776 1876 1776 1878 18 80 40 12 26 20 18 49 23 16 45 65 NSE Highs-Lows ange 1844 amilier (184 amilier pra ange all bit Bevert) (edur Foir n ( AMR Corb AloP Black AloP Black AmesOpi AmesOpi Apple 2350 BlueChia n Contek Columbias Cortek Columbias Contilitia Della 1350 Emer Rod Esse (Chm Fireeblan Esse (Chm Fi AlliegPrd AmGeniCo ari

AmGoniCo ari
AmSouBco
Arrocchem n
Connivity
Consideration
Control
Connivity
Connivi Amus Go. 3r.
Corlett Carlo
Corlett Carlo
Corlett Go. 3r.
Corlett Facilitiess
Factories
Fact Leslie Fay Linc Ploy For MFS Must n Met Ed oil n Met Met Ed oil n Mony Resident NY Based NSPW 41101 Pole 17361 Pole 17361

Oct. 15
Prev.
158
0.79, 73
2100
0.42
0.42
0.42
0.43
7.765
7.200
7.257
0.43
7.657
0.43
7.657
0.43
7.657 7adey 8.53 1.06 0.91-93 211.00 0.42 0.91 7.86 473.00 92.83 4.254 0.43

Floating-Rate Notes

Pounds Sterling

Why Entertain some of the people some of the time, when you can Entertain all of the people, all of the time?

programme makers have until now been restricted to using a small number of national channels to reach and entertain their audiences.

But all that is about to change.

When ASTRA - Europe's sixteen channel TV satellite goes into orbit next year, the opportunities to expand their audience takes off too!

Programmers will be able to reach audiences on a number of general entertainment channels transmitted to viewers in their own language - dramatically increasing national choice. As a powerful and unique bonus, they will also be able to reach viewers on a number of pan-European channels, news on one channel, sport on another, movies, cultural and children's programmes dubbed into multiple languages. An ideal channel mix will be designed to maximise these opportunities.

The great attraction of this line-up to any TV viewer is that at least 8 channels will be of primary interest, with others from around Europe of additional interest.

Equally important, ASTRA can be picked up on dishes - cheap enough and small enough to stimulate installation in millions of homes right across Europe.

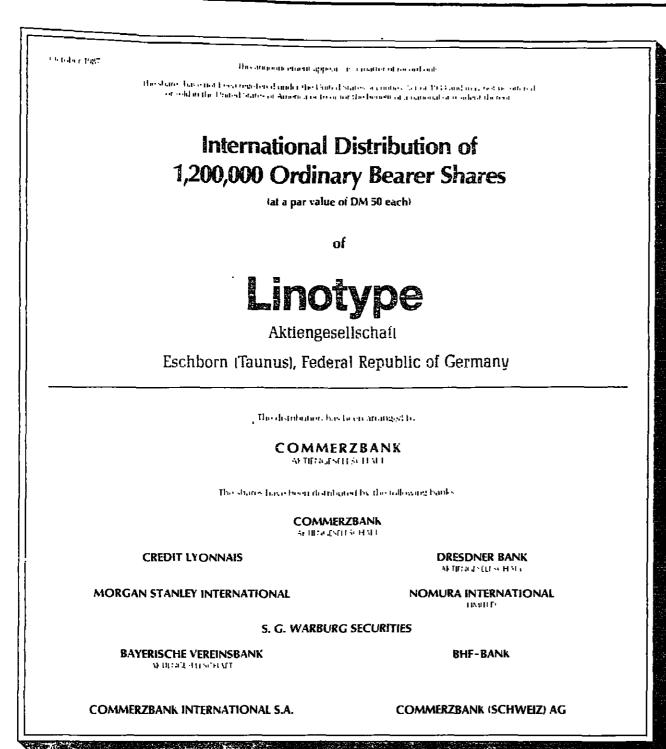

Programme makers, programme providers and their advertisers will not only be able to reach more of the people more of the time... they will be able to amortise their costs over a European network rather than being restricted to national boundaries.

Soon it will be all eyes on ASTRA. The people's choice!

Europe's Hot Bird is warming up nicely.

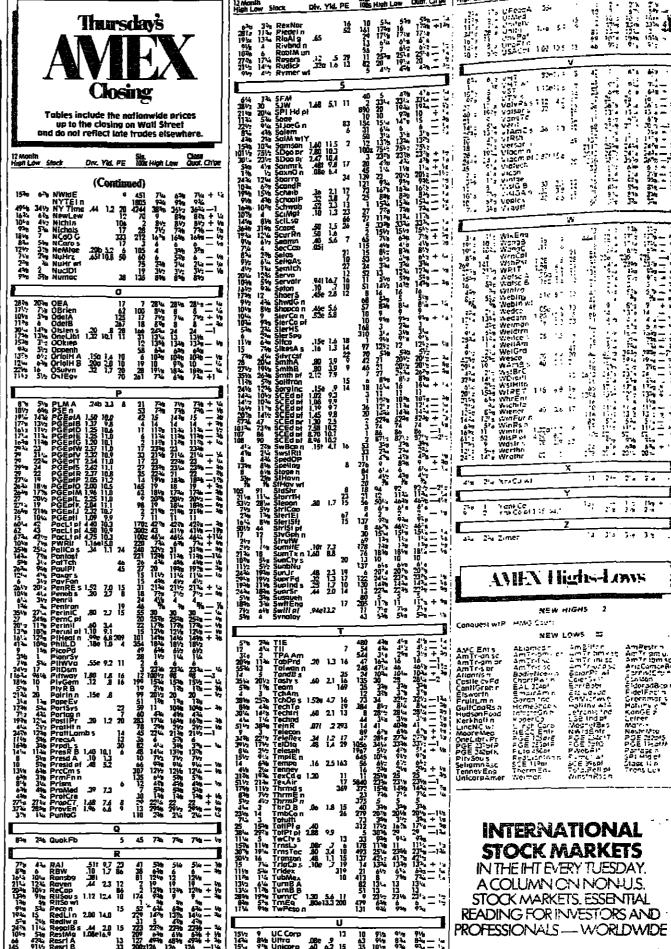

Société Européenne des Satellites, 63 avenue de la Liberté, L-1931 Luxembourg. Tel: (352) 49 94 711. Tlx: 60229 SESAT LU. FAX: 49 94 71219.

ADVERTISEMENT

1 2 2 m 2 m

China's first international business magazine.

Business and Management

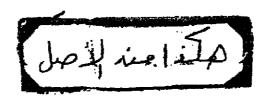

Ads are translated into Chinese.

at no additional cost.

Inquiries are translated into English. All

Articles come directly from BUSINESS WEEK.

MANAGEMENT - all McGraw-Hill publications - ollars: DM - Deutsche Mark: ECU - European Currency Unit; FF - French Francs; FL - Dutch Florin; Lif - Nation Life; LF -Issed: + - Offer Prices. b - bid change: N.A. - Nat Available: N.C. - Not Communicated: a - New; 5 - suspended; 5/3 - Stock

Be sure that your fund is listed in this space daily. Telex Matthew GREENE at 613595F for further information.

ARKETS: Dow Average Takes Another Tumble

Germany as not in accord he spirit of international coion among major industrial-ations, spelled out in Paris in ary. He said he had not priconveyed his concern over German interest rates to the nties there.

said that the briefing that he ir. Sprinkel gave Mr. Reagan en scheduled some time ago ad not been prompted by the in the stock market on plunge in the Dow index was ed by another poor showing U.S. trade accounts. Al-1 figures showed that the rade deficit had shrunk in 4 to $15.68 billion from the | $16.47 billion in July, a larg-provement had been anticiilysts suggested that the reaction in markets to the indicated that the dollar drop even further --- rekinscrious inflation and forcing erest rates even further.

Rose $5.7 Billion Veek Ending Oct. 5

W YORK - M-1, the narmeasure of the U.S. money , rose $5.7 billion to a seay adjusted $757.2 billion in ek ending Oct. 5, the Federal we reported Thursday.

previous week's M-1 was unat $751.5 billion, while the neck moving average of M-1 5753.8 billion from $750.8 M-l includes cash in circuand checking accounts and nk traveler's checks.

London Dollar Rates

1.4016 1.6635 141.95

In New York currency trading, the dollar recouped moderate early losses and continued to use after bearish sentiment proved insufficient to break key support levels, dealers said. The dollar closed at 1.8005 Deut-sche marks, off slightly from 1.8050 Wednesday, and at 142.075 yen, down fractionally from 142.30.

Against the Swiss franc the dollar was weaker at 1.4900, compared with 1.4955 Wednesday. The French franc strengthened slightly to 6.0105 from 6.0160. Earlier, the dollar had fallen to a low of 1.7950 Deutsche marks and 141.55 year, but strong buying interest emerged at these levels, as many operators still needed to cover ort positions, dealers said.

Before recovering in New York, the dollar moved lower in Europe. In London the dollar finished at 1.8010 DM after touching a low around 1.7950 DM in midafternoon, though it rebounded quickly from that level on profit-taking. It had opened at 1.8027 after closing Wednesday at 1.8110.

(AP. WP. Reuters)

Gold Touches

LONDON - Gold prices

market, December gold rose $6.70 to $472.50 an ounce, its highest since Aug. 28, before running into profit-taking on a recovery in the dollar. It closed at $467.80, still up $2.

rose as much as $8 an ounce Thursday, to two-month highs, on buying propelled by the re-cent erosion of the dollar, Wall cent erosion of the dollar, Wall Street stocks and U.S. bonds. In London, gold traded as high as $467.25, before closing at $465.75, still up $6.50 from Wednesday's close at $459.25. In the New York futures market. December, sold rose

2-Month High

World Markets Jolted by U.S. Trade Figures

rpiled by Our Staff From Dispatches TOKYO - Financial markets in Japan, Britain, West Germany and France suffered sharp declines the yen, brokers said, there was Thursday after the announcement by the United States that its mer-chandise trade delicit remained near a record high. Stock prices fell on the Tokyo Stock Exchange in light of the yen's continued appreciation against the dollar and a record overnight fall on Wall Street of 95.46 points in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The plunge in the Dow was attributed to a Commerce Department report that the U.S. trade deficit narrowed only slightly in August, to $15.68 billion from $16.47 billion in July. Economists had predicted a larger shrinking in the deficit. The 225-share Nikkei market index lost 218.21 to 26,428.22. It had risen 250 points on Wednesday. dex down 44.3 points to 1,902.6.

with sales of 900 million shares. Because of the continuing rise in especially heavy selling of export-oriented stocks. Stock prices in London also fell sharply. At the close of trading, the Financial Times-Stock Exchange 100 Index was down 21 at 2,301.9. Shares with American Depositary Receipts were hardest hit. In West Germany, markets already suffering from the announcement of a proposed withholding ther depressed by the U.S. economic developments. The dollar tumbled to a fiveweek low of 1.80 Dentsche marks in Frankfurt. Concern that this would have a further impact on

Div. Yld. 1905 High Low 4 P.M. Chige

22 h 19 km h 1

Declines led advances nearly 2 to 1 Bond prices slumped as much as 1.5 pfennigs.
French financial markets also suffered sharp declines. Hardest hit was the fledgling MATIF financial futures market, where prices for future delivery of French govern-ment bonds fell by as much as 1.80 francs (30 cents). Investors also unloaded shares in hectic trading. Analysts said there was concern that the U.S. trade figures could prompt American anthorities to push interest rates up. which would convince investors to keep funds in dollar instruments. Peugeot SA plunged 85 francs to 1,340.

Bond prices dropped, sending yields surging. Dealers said long-term interest returns on French government bonds could reach 12 percent soon. Yields had been below 10 percent as recently as the end of July. (UPI, Reuters)

겼겼

| 100 | 100 | 200 | 19 | 19 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 | 190 |

22% JAKS Int
22% JAKS Int
40% SC 114% Int
40% SC 12% JAKS Int
40% SC 12% JAKS Int
50% Interest
50% Interest
50% Interest
50% Interest
50% Interest
10% Interest
1

12% 42% 16% 16% 25% 25% 16% 20%

25% 32% 32% 35% 36% 19% 15% 17%

20e 1.9 2003 .10 A 1200 3.36 1.1 148 3.36 1.1 148 1.26 5.2 23 1.26 5.2 23 1.26 5.2 3 1.26 5.2 3 1.26 5.3 3

27: 23 19:22 19:23 19:23 18:46 40: 13 19:45 .16 27 34:5 .84: 36 18:1 .84: 36 18:1 .84: 36 18:1 .84: 36 18:1

.10e .3 .44 1.4 .12e 1.2 .16 .5 .16 .5 .20e 5.3 .20e 5.3

.64 2.2 .10e 3 .60 2.0 .60 2.6 .63e 2.2 .63e 2.2

150/ 150/ -1 170/ 150 -1 170/ 150 - 1 200/ 200/ -200/ 200/ 200/ -200/ 200/ 200/ -200/ 200/ 200/ -200/ 120/ 170/ - 1 12

1955 # 1954 # 1956 # 19

721549251252232235234242 231252232235234242 242522322352342425

SA PACE

139 PSC

139 PSC

139 PSC

140 PSC

151 PSC

152 PSC

153 PSC

154 PSC

154 PSC

154 PSC

154 PSC

154 PSC

155 PSC

156 PSC

156 PSC

157 PSC

157

thing bad is out there, that the bull market is getting a little long in the tooth." So far, he said, the telltale erosion in those stock prices has Money managers, in general, are faced with some difficult decisions. Wall Street is still sitting with a pile of chips made in the past five years of the bull market. Even after Wednesday's debacle, most stock prices are still way ahead of their positions in 1982, when the buil market began. And the Dow is up 21.4 percent from its 1986 close of 1,895.95. Still, the Dow has come down more than 11.4 percent since the heady days of late summer. The said, "that would tell us that some-not occurred.

key blue-chip indicator hit a record 2,722.42 on Aug. 25. Now, managers must decide whether what is going on is only a temporary, albeit spectacular, set-back caused by rising interest rates that may reverse themselves or the start of a true bear market.

For now, it seems that many money managers are treating the market slump as an opportunity.

"What we've done in here, in the last two weeks, with the bond market collapsing, is to recommit some money into bonds," said Henry M. Greenleaf Jr., president of HT Investors in Providence, Rhode Island. Wednesday, the yield on the bellwether 30-year Treasury bond topped 10 percent for the first time since late 1985.

Mr. Greenleaf said he had rear ranged client portfolios so that they were now 22 percent in bonds, with maturities ranging from five to sev-en years. He is keeping a 65 percent position in equities and lowering cash positions to 13 percent. That compares with the 65 percent equity, 15 percent bond and 20 percent cash ratio maintained until

Mr. Greenleaf believes that the disappointing trade deficit figures

1,20 4.2 245 173 1,20 4.2 245 170 15

1.49 2.3 52 2.9 1.44 8.3 1.45 8.3 1.10e .9

3% OMI CP 16% OMI PI 5% OCUPY 24% OSIKSP 37% OSIKSP 37% OSIKSP 37% OSIKSP 12% OSIKSP 12% OSIKSP 12% OSPEC 15% OSPEC 15% OSPEC 8% OSPEC 8% OSPEC 8% OSPEC 8% OSSE A 27% OSSE A

NYSE: Does the Record Point Drop in the Dow Mean the End Has Come? widely cited as responsible for Wednesday's stock and bond plunges may not look so bad "by do recently is to take whatever they the time the fourth or fifth revision were going to put in the market — comes out" in a few months. He say $100,000 — and buy $100,000 thus expects a "rally in the dollar," he said, that will lead to "knee-jerk take the change they get back and > kets; the bull market is not over." Robert N. Gordon, president of to get back your money by the Twenty-First Securities Corp. in United States government, and you New York, is a hedger. He really does not care what the market does go back up." does; his clients' investments are > in one-year Treasury bills, and then rallies in the bond and stock mar- use that money to buy stock market calls. That way you are guaranteed

> Mr. Gordon said that a faceusually protected against market value purchase of $100,000 in Trea-dex call options that could control

$225,000 in stocks until December. Mr. Hackel, the pessimistic money manager who says he is usually "fully invested" in stocks, is now "40 percent in cash, as high as I've ever been," Mr. Hackel said. "I'd advise investors to prepare for a long bear market."

He said he based his prediction will still participate if the market on three main factors: "an overzealous Congress that is frustrating large investors" by discouraging mergers; the interest rate policies reversals. But he does not like sury bills maturing on Sept. 29. of the new Federal Reserve Board stocks right now. "I wouldn't step in here," he said.

10 Sept. 29. of the new Federal Reserve Board in terest, chairman, Alan Greenspan, and "a would cost $92,500. The $7,500 in-

Japanese Traders Predict Slow Rise in Gold

TOKYO — The price of gold measures there to counter infla-tionary trends seem unlikely deal weakness in the short term but is ers said unlikely to rise to $500 an ounce this year, according to precious metal dealers and traders here. Although the market will not have sharp gains, prices will move up gradually from the current range of $460 to $470 an ounce, said Itsuo Tsushima, regional manager of the World Gold Council, a precious metal retail company.

Fears of world inflation are the biggest supportive factor for gold prices, he said. Japan's rapidly growing money supply, which showed an annual rate of increase of more than 10 percent in recent figures, and higher U.S. consumer prices, are among the reasons behind those fears, Mr. Tsushima said.

Katsumi Yoshioka, general man-ager of the precious metal department of Nissho Iwai Corp., agreed that the underlying sentiment to-ward gold is bullish because of in-

With a U.S. presidential election

12 Month High Low Stock

Recent sharp rises in copper and aluminum prices are positive for Fears of world inflation are the biggest supportive factor gold, as are higher farm product prices in U.S. markets, they said. Higher commodity prices usually for gold prices.

are signs of inflation.

Dealers were divided on the effect that any discount rate increases in Japan and the United States would have on gold.

Several precious metal dealers at major trading houses said higher discount rates would take investor attention away from gold markets.

pan, usually prefer bank savings, shares, and other paper assets to gold, and high interest rates would provide an incentive to stay in Higher discount rates are also enerally viewed as preventing inflation, they added. However, Mr. Tsushima and creases could be positive for gold. They said recent increases in interest rates have reflected fears that inflation would worsen, and have thus helped add to concern. Without fresh incentives, paper assets

Falling bond markets will help to spur private investors to shift to the gold market, Mr. Tsushima said. He said private investors had already been pulling away from bonds after Tatcho Chemical Industries Co. incurred big losses on bond investments.

Thur	sday's
4 Y	יץ
U.
Prices

NASDAQ prices as of 4 p.m. New York histe. Via The Associated Press

INTERNATION STOCK MARK

COC CIPC IN COLOR IN

44 ## 15 ## 55 .32 1.2 .56 3.3 EARC S ESSEP EESSED EISPOS STORM ESSED EESSED EISPOS STORM ESSED ER EISPOS EISP FFB Co. 15- 13 344

Resinves 50 29 3734

Froming 120 25 300

Fromi

.16 .9
1.32e 2.9
.05e .3
.16 1.5
.32e .7
.07e .2
.03e .2
1.00 .45
1.15b .23
1.08 .18
.12 .4

A PRINCIPATION IN THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

10% + 14 15% - 14 15% - 14 13% - 14 13% - 14 17% - 34 5% + 16 26% - 26 12% - 16 12% - 4

417.6 120.5

inia RPM
Silk Raddys
Silk Raddys
Tilk Recyes
Tilk Recyes
Tilk Recyes
Silk Resilles
Silk Recyes
Sil

50 23

2014 90 SCI SV 5
17 10 10 SCOR U
17 10 SCOR U
17 10 ST SCOR U
17 10 ST SCI SV 5
2014 10 ST SKI SV 6
2014 10 SCOR ST 5
2014 10 SCOR ST 6
2014 10 SCOR ST 7
2015 10 SC | TALL |

2271362 22740 2271362 22740 2271362 22740 2271362 22740 2271362 22740 2271362 2271362 134/2017/16 3/4/4/2017/53/16 19/4/2017/50/2017

144 TBC s
1647 TCA
1846 TCBY
1846 TCBY
1846 TCBY
1847 TCF
1847 TCF
185 Tolman
1847 TchDtn s
8 Teknwd
1847 TchDtn s
8 Teknwd
1148 TicmA s
2244 TiCm wt
1156 Telerds
11 Telmatc
1157 Tolobs
1944 Telxan
1847 Telxan
1847 Terodta

AMR

and Quer. 1987 1986
Revenue 1990. 1590. 1590.
Net Inc. 57.1 120.8
Per Shore 1.41 1988
Per Shore 1.41 1988
Per Shore 1.42 1989
Per Shore 1.22 459. 4591.
Revenue 5220. 4591.
Revenue 784. 510.8
Revenue 2460. 1,900.
Net Inc. 127.5 153.96
Per Shore 1.45 1.20

Auta. Data Process.
Int Geor. 1988 1981.
Revenue 361.3 221.7
Revenue 1987 1994.
Revenue 1821 1888.
Revenue 1821 1889.
Revenue 1821 1889. 672 674 — 36 8 876 — 36 8 876 — 36 744 744 — 36 2175 2175 — 236 1574 1576 + 36 1376 1376 + 78 975 10

| Mets Include sales of $1.4 million vs $17.3 million in auar rera and of $4.5 million in auar rera and of $4.5 million in $2.5 million in $1.5 million in $1.

$21 \text{in} \t 1986 2,430 31.0 0,24 1986 4,270 131.0 1,04 Company Results rning Fib. 1987 1994 753.3 955.4 35.0 (c)58.0 0.84 — 1987 1982 2,000, 2,700, 162.3 (c) 0.6 3,91 — 9 Manths 1967 1964 Met Inc. 21.6 1.03
Fileet Financial
Fileet Financial
Fileet Financial
File Financial
File Financial
Met Inc. 42.1 16.5
Per Shore 0.73 16.5
Per Shore 0.73 16.5
Per Shore 1.75 1.6
Gament
File Manch.

Gament
Gament
File Manch.

File Manch.

Gament
File Manch.

File Manch. | Prizer | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1987 | 1986 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 | 1987 charge of SII7 military gain of S46 militan.

PPG Industries

Ind Quer. 1260.
Net inc. 91.3
Per Share 0.74
PAManths 1957
Revenue 1.580.
Net inc. 280.6
Per Share 2.34 1784 1,140, 82.5 0.69 1986 1,400, 243.5 2,05 those investments. other dealers say discount rate in-may start losing some of their at-tractiveness, traders said.

Despite the various supporting factors they see for gold, traders were hesitant to forecast sharp rises in the short term or to offer exact

ACROSS 1 Robin Williams role

5 Ancient moralisa 10 Ages. stats 14 Ironworker's item 15 Statue's garment 16 Erudition 17 Flower of 47 Across 19 Suit to —— 20 Stimulus-response device 21 Stripped racing car 23 Conception 25 Landmark of 28 Down 26 Wicked acts 30 City on the Sabine 33 "Who touches

Whittier 34 Yorkshire city 36 Interdict 37 Billionth: Comb. form 38 Resembling certain soil 39 Sheltered nook 40 Actress Le Gallienne

6 Piscivorous 7 True grit 41 Watery design 42 Arbor 43 Of canines, etc. 45 Panhandle city 47 Subject of this

58 Site of decisive 60 Green land

Lollobrigida

50 Contestants

53 Straighten a

57 Actress

61 Adam Bede's creator 62 Acheson or Rusk

63 Carbon particles 31 Mallet 64 Seven, m 32 Summer Bergamo 65 Film director 35. Fragrant resin Kenton 38 Treacle 39 Jube DOWN

41 Kind of skirt 1 Tomcats 42 Mustang, for 2 Competent 3 Female short 44 Lessee herring 4 Town on the 46 Pointed 48 Vapid 50 A long time Rio Grande 5 Cinema's Renee -

51 Copter's cousin 52 Irritated state 54 Humdinger 55 Type of type: Abbr.

11 Amphitheater at Dallas

12 Shoe insert

18 Omen 22 Freshwater opponent 26 Like a lion or

: Shak

13 Palmist

fish 24 Dwight's

zebra 27 "--- thee

поt . .

28 Locale of Lackland

A.F.B.

29 Early Calif.

month in

Buenos Aires

글론 missionary

8 Horse or light 9 Condition in 56 Famous Ranger 10 Blood fluid 59 Whit © New York Times, edited by Eugene Maleska. DENNIS THE MENACE

MM.JOMORKOW IS YOUK DIKIHDA

Yesterday's Jumbles: BOOTY FLUKE WHOLLY LOTION
Answer: When you think you're fooling with the stock market be careful lest it do this—FOOL WITH YOU

WEATHER asia

H19H LOW C F C F 23 91 28 48 27 81 25 77 28 14 25 77 20 91 21 70 129 46 17 70 129 46 17 48 21 28 26 77 19 46 17 EUROPE Algorve
Amsterdom
Athens
Barchiona
Beterdoe
Florence
Fremchurf
Genera
Heislank!
Londen
Listea
Redrid
Misco
Osta
Redrid
Misco
Osta
Redrid
Nice
Osta
Stockbolm
Stockbolm
Stockbolm
Stockbolm
Stockbolm
Stockbolm
Venice
Viewee
Witneraev
Zurich AFRICA 27 81 11 52 0
19 66 13 55 fr
22 72 13 55 cl
22 77 19 66 c
29 84 27 81 0
30 86 11 52 cl
30 86 16 61 cl 16 61 12 54 r 23 73 18 64 fr 24 75 12 54 fr

PEANUTS

BEETLE BAILEY

BEETLE!

DON'T LET SARGE

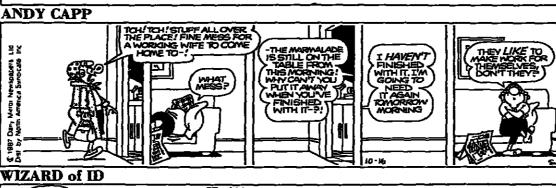

WORRY YOU. HIS

HIS BITE

BARK IS WORSE

REX MORGAN WELCOME, COME IN! YOU ARE THE FIRST GUESTS TO ENTER THIS HOME IN

BOOK BRIEFS

QUIDDITIES: An Intermittently Philosophi-cal Dictionary. By W.V. Quine. Harvard Uni-versity Press, 79 Garden Street, Cambridge, Mass. 02138.

To define the quiddity of a thing originally meant to define its essential nature; then the word came to mean a subtle distinction, and word came to mean a subtle distinction, and then a quibble. All three senses are called into play in the title of W.V. Quine's "Quiddities" (though the implication of mere quibbling can fairly safely be assumed to be ironical); and since in the course of the book Quine displays both a taste and a talent for apt alliteration, you feel he must have been quite pleased to have hit on a neat title that also alliterates with his name. That name is an illustrious one. An emeritus professor of philosophy at Harvard. emeritus professor of philosophy at Harvard, Quine has won a world reputation for his work on logic; those in a position to judge have often described him as one of the greatest of living philosophers.

In "Quiddities" he addresses himself to more than 80 assorted topics, arranged in alphabetical order from "Alphabet" to "Zero." Some of the articles are speckled with mathematical symbols, and likely to frighten off all but the most intrepid layman. Others, in which Ouine worries away at such topics as "Necessity" and "Identity," seem perfectly intelligible within their limits — seem, indeed, beautifully lucid; but you are left feeling that without a grounding in professional philosophy you can't really grasp their full significance, or see how they fit in with one another.

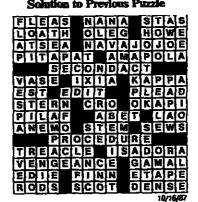

Yet taken as a whole the book is much less

Yet taken as a whole the book is much less daunting and much more pleasurable than this makes it sound. (John Gross, NYT) THE LAST INTELLECTUALS: American Culture in the Age of Academe. By Russell Jacoby. Basic Books, 10 East 53d Street, New York, N. Y. 10022. "Where is the younger intellectual generation?" Russell Jacoby inquires in his absorbing new book "The Last Intellectuals," by which deliberately ambiguous title he means both the final generation and "the generation most recently past (as in last year), implying there soon will be another."

The younger generation is nowhere, he replies. In the 1950s there were, according to Jacoby's list, Mary McCarthy, Philip Rahv, C. Wright Mills, Dwight Macdonald, Lionel Trilling, David Reisman, Irving Howe, Arthur M.

Solution to Previous Puzzle

Schlesinger Jr., Edmund Wilson, Lewis Muniford, Malcolm Cowley, Sidney Hook and many others. But if you try to compile a list of intellectuals many others.

But if you try to compile a list of intellectuals under 45 — that is, younger "writers and thinkers who address a general and educated audience" —you are likely to draw a blank. As Jacoby puts it: "One thousand tadical sociologists, but no Mills; three hundred critical literary theorists but no Wilson; scads of Marxist economists" but no Paul Sweezy or Harry Braverman; "urban critics galore" but no Lewis Mumford or Jane Jacobs.

So what happened between the 1950s and the present? A number of things, says Jacoby. There was, for one thing, the decline of bohemia. Suburbanization and gentrification wiped out the fertile inner-city habitats where intel-out the fertile inner-city habitats where intelout the lertile inner-city habitats where intel-iectuals once hung out, while television helped to obliterate the reading audience that once sustained them. There was, for another thing, the embrace of the academy. In the aftermath of the countercultural 1960s, the very students who had protested the aridness of university life stayed on to become its victims. "The issue is not their talent, courage, or politics," Jacoby writes. "Rather, the occasion to master a pub-lic prose did not arise; consequently, their ic prose did not arise; consequently, their writings lacked a public impact. Regardless of their numbers, to the larger public they we invisible. The missing intellectuals are lost in the universities."

(Christopher Lehmann-Haupt, NYT)

WHAT DO OUR 17-YEAR-OLDS KNOW? A Report on the First National Assessment of History and Literature. By Diane Ravitch and Chester E. Finn Jr. Foreword by Lynne V. Cheney. Harper & Row, Publishers Inc., 10 East 53d Street, New York, N. Y. 10022.

East 53d Street, New York, N. Y. 10022.
Columbus discovered the New World some time after 1750. Watergate occurred some time before 1950, quite possibly before 1900. The Jim Crow laws were intended to improve the lot of black Americans. "Tender Is the Night" is a novel about Heathcliff's passion for Catherine, and so is "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." The first president of the American Endergine of Labor was 1. P. Morgan.

Federation of Labor was J.P. Morgan.
These are just a few of the beliefs held by large numbers of young Americans, or at any rate beliefs they are prepared to subscribe to in a multiple choice test. The evidence can be found in "What Do Our 17-Year-Olds Know?" a prepared by Disne Ravitch and Ches-Know?," a report by Diane Ravitch and Chester E. Finn Jr. based on the First National sment of History and Literature; and the kind of misconceptions cited are far from being limited to a small minority of the students who were tested. We have all heard horror stories like these by now. The great thing about the National As-sessment is that it moves beyond the anecdotal or the fragmentary to hard representative evidence. Financed by the National Endowment for the Humanities, the test — carried out in 1986—was the first of its kind; approximately 8,000 17-year-olds took part, carefully chosen to reflect the make-up of the population as a whole in terms of region, gender, race, type of community and type of school.

(John Gross, NYT)

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott

THE end of the Von I Zedtwitz Knockout Team championship for 1986-87 will overlap with the 1987-88 event. The prolonging of the contest was insured when Phillip Alder and John Lowenthal, both of Manhattan, and Dorothy and Alan Truscott of the Bronx won by 38 international match points against Michael Radin, Michael Kopera, Phillip Marmichael Kopera, runing Mar-tin and Karen McCallium, all of Manhattan. Each team de-feated the other once. A third meeting will decide the title. The first deal of the playoff was a portent of things to come. When the Alder team held the North-South cards, their opponents as shown their opponents, as shown, eventually chose to double five hearts. That contract could have been defeated by double-durmy defense, thanks to ruffed happily to make the re-ternational match points: maining tricks. The winning defense was extremely difficult. It was necessary for West to underlead his diamond honor, gambling that his partner That would have permitted East to lead a low trump and cut down the cross-ruff possibility. The heart eight would then be crucial, preventwould then be crucial, prevening South from establishing and using the clubs. Trade the eight and seven of hearts, and South would eventually use the ten and eight as entries to the dummy with decisive effect. It is easy to see that East-West would have been wise to comwould have been wise to continue to five spades, which can eight — a card that is not as trivial as it appears.

West led the diamond queen followed by the spade ace. He then played the diamond king, forcing dumany to ruff, but this the replay, East was permitted did not have the did not hurt the declarer. He to play four spades, and the

ial p-he ion ver

SPORTS

Cardinals Blank Giants for NL Pennant

By Richard Justice

player after another to injuries, as he lost his first baseman, his best pitcher, his third baseman and a reliever for various parts of the season, Whitey Herzog always reacted the same way.

He would run a hand through his red crewcut, scratch his belly and say something like, "We'll try to figure something out." Now, Her-zog and his St. Louis Cardinals can figure something out in the World Series because Wednesday night they won the National League pennant with a 6-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

years, and they'll meet the Minnesola Twins on Saturday night in the Metrodome in Game 1 of the 1987

With 55,331 fans at Busch Stadium Wednesday night, the Cardi-nals played like the efficient machine they are, getting an eight- in 1980 and won his first champi- shrunk to 11/2 games. They simply hitter from Danny Cox and a onship in 1982, the Cardinals have won two of three from the Mets, stunning three-run homer from been the closest thing in baseball to who were at full strength. Washington Port Service Stunning three-run homer ST. LOUIS — As he lost one Jose Oquendo, a utility man.

Oquendo entered the playoffs career at-bats, and both of them

That got the Cardinals going and everything else they needed was provided by Cox and the game's best defense. A night earli-McGee, their center fielder, to help to Jack Clark, Tony Pena, Tudor, win Game 6. In Game 7, they won more quietly, turning three double plays and allowing the Giants to Magrane and Ken Dayley.

We could have folded lots of The pennant is their third in six plays and allowing the Giants to get a runner as far third only once. They finished the series with a record 22 consecutive shutout innings, having gotten a combined Sept. 9 when Clark tore up his right shutout from John Tudor and two ankle at a time when they were relievers in Game 6.

Since Herzog came to St. Louis

a Yankees-style dynasty.

Wednesday night, they dewith just two home runs in 903 stroyed the dream of the Giants, had been against the Giants. So Francisco team in 25 years to play was his third, off a full-count fastin a World Series. Hammaker lasting his who were trying to be the first San ball from the Giants starter, Atlee ed only two innings and dug his Hammaker, in the second inning. by six relievers, and the Cardinals collected 12 hits, 10 of them singles. Had the Cards lost, their season might have been a success anyway. er, the Cardinals had gotten a spec- They spent 137 consecutive days in tacular defensive play from Willie first place despite disabling injuries Cox, Tom Herr, Jim Lindeman, Joe times with all the adversity we faced," Herzog said.

They looked ready to fold on going to Shea Stadium with a lead over the New York Mets that had

"We lost Jack and I didn't think we could hang on." Herzog said. "If we'd lost that last game to Montreal (Oct. 1) with the Mets coming in here pitching two left-handers, I didn't think we'd win."

On Wednesday. Terry Pendleton's one-out single in the second was the beginning of the end for the Giants. Pena followed with a hitand-run single to right, and despite pulling a muscle in his left side rounding second. Pendleton made McGee grounded a single to left for a 1-0 lead. Then Oquendo hammered Hammaker's fastball over the left field wall.

The Cardinals made it 6-0 in the sixth. With one out, Oquendo drew a walk, and Cox bunted him to second. Oquendo went to third on a wild pitch by Scott Garrelts, the Giants reliever. Vince Coleman walked and stole second, his first theft of the series. Ozzie Smith walked to load the bases. Mike La-Coss relieved, and Herr singled to center for two runs.

Despite the loss, the Giants were one of baseball's most surprising stories, having gone from a 100-game loser to a division champion in two years. They'd also gotten farther than any Giants team in 16

The Giants drew 1.9 million to idlestick Park, an increase of 1.1 million from 1985.

For Roger Craig, the Giants manager, the game day actually bemanager, the game day actually began in the early hours of Wednesday morning when he sat in his hotel room, "poured myself a Jack Daniel's and thought, What could a major league manager do with one game left, when it'll decide everything you've been working for since Feb. 15?"

He decided on an emotional 35minute team meeting in which he talked to all his players, then a trip around the clubhouse to speak to each player individually.

"I just told 'em how much they'd

Danny Cox, the Cardinals pitcher, after the final out.

contributed and how proud I was of 'em." he said. "I said regardless of what happens tonight, I'm the proudest guy in the world. They've accomplished something a lot of guys never will. I wanted to eliminate the feeling that this boils down to one game. I want 'em to have fun, go play the game and see what

After the speech, Craig went into his office and wrote up a radically different lineup, starting Mike Al-drete instead of Candy Maldonado in right field, Chris Speier at sec-ond instead of Robby Thompson and Bob Brenly instead of Bob Melvin at catcher.

The most surprising move was benching Thompson, who was hit-ting just .105 but had homered off

NFL Strike Appears to Crumble

sonnel effectively broke the NFL's

Upshaw, executive director

Thursday to obtain a final conces-

the NFL Players Association.

second walkout in five years.

WASHINGTON - The 24-day of four missed paychecks and the National Football League players owners determination to continue strike ended in all but name Thurs- playing games with nonunion perday with the resolve of players collapsing throughout the league and many teams reporting to management en masse.

Player representatives from the worked through the early morning 28 clubs scheduled a telephone conference call with Gene Upshaw. по соттепт.

But such an order seemed almost pointless. The striking Indianapolis Colts, Washington Redskins, Philadelphia Eagles. New York Jets and Seattle Seahawks reported for duty. The Denver Broncos and picket line but had not yet come back to camp.

All remaining striking members of the Cleveland Browns attempted to return to practice but were stopped from entering by security whether the returning players would be back on the field this weekend.

was not immediately clear

sion from the owners. He reportedleader of their union. When asked ly asked Jack Donlan, the owners' whether Upshaw had given a for-chief negotiator, to at least guaranly asked Jack Donlan, the owners' mal order putting players back to tee that players who returned to work, a union spokesman offered work. Thursday would receive a work Thursday would receive a check for this weekend's games. The request was rebuffed.

Upshaw also asked that management agree to an interim back-to- Pete Rozelle. work settlement by extending the expired contract through Feb. 1, 1988. The owners said they wanted Buffalo Bills voted to cross the the extension to run until June 15.

ment," said John Jones, a Manage-nient Council spokesman. The free agency question is still unre-solved and the Management Council rejected the demand to pay play-ers reporting after the deadline."

The striking Redskins attempted ter and salary guarantees for re-turning striking players.

The Management Council re-to return to practice but remained steadily throughout the strike, i P.M. deadline Wednesday for unjoy which began Sept. 22. The pressure players to report and still be eligi-of four missed paychecks and the ble to get paid this week.

Late Wednesday, Upshaw said the only barner to a settlement was management's insistence on a longer extension of the expired con-tract. He said management's proposal was a ploy since it effectively kept the old agreement in place two extra years. An NFL collective bargaining agreement in effect after Feb. I of any year remains in place for the upcoming season.

Upshaw sought by telephone Wednesday to reach a back-towork agreement with Donlan, executive director of the Management Council, and NFL Commissioner

Upshaw said the sides had agreed on several issues but the union had not yet agreed to the owners' demand for mediation on "There is no back-to-work agree- the outstanding issues of the strike, notably free agency, pension, drug testing and guaranteed contracts.

ported 109 players rejoined clubs off the job after management told. Wednesday, raising the number them they had missed their checks, who have defied the union to 200. The union's resolve withered for this week. The owners had set a 16 percent of the 1,585-player

1987: Season of the Scarlet Asterisk?

By George Vecsey New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Somewhere, in a box seat in the sky, Roger Maris and Ford Frick must be laughing about the football follies of 1987.

Twenty-six years ago this fall, the slugger and the iseball commissioner agonized over whether Maris's 61st homer was simon-pure, or should be stigmatized by some typographical mark. How charming, how innocent, that little spat seems in retrospect, now that the National Football League seems bent on legitimizing accomplishments by a ragtag swarm of strikebreakers.

According to the NFL, all games and all records are to be inscribed without asterisk, dingbat, star, or skull and crossbones.

Such worthies as Gary Cuozzo, Bill Kilmer and Gary Clark are already in danger of sharing or losing club records they established against real teams. By contrast, the great Maris-Frick debate was a tempest in a teapor. Roger Maris was already the most valuable player in the American League in 1960, a superb fielder and baserunner and clutch hitter. When the American League expanded in 1961, enlarging its season from 154 to 162 games, Maris hit his 61st home run in the 162d game.

Reporters had prodded Frick about whether Mar-is's potential 61st home run would require an asterisk. Frick, who had once written articles for Ruth, wanted to protect his old friend's record, although Frick himself did not bring up the word asterisk.

Maris's feelings were upset, but in the long run both Ruth's and Maris's accomplishments have been honored, without any asterisk. In contrast, the leaders of the NFL are putting a giant asterisk on an entire season.

The league should have had enough respect for its product to call off the games until the labor dispute was settled, but it listened to lawyer talk that the league had to conduct business as usual.

noon. Fine. But that doesn't mean those games should

It is obseene to allow Gary Hogeboom's five touchdown passes Oct. 4 to tie the franchise record for the Colts. That record belongs to Gary Cuozzo and the city of Baltimore, whence the Colts were spirited in the middle of the night and trucked to Indianapolis.

Filling in for the injured Johnny Unitas on Nov. 14, 1905, Cuozzo threw his five touchdowns against Jim Marshall and Carl Eller, two fine defensive linemen. "The situation we are in is a little tainted, but you don't think about it when you're on the field," Hogeboom acknowledged.

Just because Hogeboom was willing to walk past his colleagues on the picket line does not mean he should join Cuozzo in any record book.

What about New Orleans, where John Fourcade left his job as a high school couch in Marrero, Louisiana, to throw a scoring pass of 82 yards to Mike Waters? That touchdown broke the Saints' record of 80 yards, set by Bill Kilmer to Dan Abramowicz on Dec. 17, 1967, against the real Washington Redskins, Must those two great players vanish from a line in the Saints' record book, to be replaced by strikehreakers? Or what about one Anthony Allen, cut by Atlanta last summer, who gained 255 yards in receptions for the Washington substitutes a couple Sundays ago? Should he be allowed to eclipse the record of 241, set by Gary Clark against Lawrence Taylor and the Giants last year? The only league record to be victimized was the Washington record of 159 consecutive sellouts over 21 years. That only 27.728 morbidly curious souls showed up in R.F.K. Stadium on Oct. 4 is a tribute to the good taste and loyalty of most Redskins' fans.

When this strike ends, Pete Rozelle must invoke some "good-of-the-game" clause and wipe out all these bogus matches.

If the league does not exorcise these games, every There have been games of a sort for two weekends time you see Rozelle and Hugh Culverhouse and Tex—passes, catches, tackles, field goals, point spreads.

America has had something to do on Sunday after—A on their foreheads—a flaming red A for asterisk.

Jose Oquendo, whose 3-run homer was the big blow in the 6-0 victory by St. Louis over San Francisco, leaps atop his celebrating teammates after they captured the league title.

San Francisco: A Franchise in Peril Loss Could Tip Stadium Ballot, Sending Giants Elsewhere

ST. LOUIS - It isn't often that the fate of a sports franchise might rest on one game, but that was the prospect for the San Francisco Giants as they lost the National League pennant to the Cardinals.

The future location of the Giants' franchise depends on the emotions of San Francisco voters on Nov. 3, and Jose Oquendo's crushing three-run homer just might jeopardize Proposition Won services south of downtown. the ballot, authorizing a new base-ball stadium close to downtown. A pennant, and the return of the Giants for the middle three games of the World Series, with black-and-orange "Humm Baby" ban-ners draped all over the city probably would have convinced swing oters to rush to the polls. But the way the Giants lost the final two games here could make long-suffering San Francisco residents mutter, "Same old Giants," and reject Proposition W. We think this season has already shown the value of a franchise, said Corey Busch, the club vice president who is coordinating the Ĝiants' stadium plans. The executive said before the game that a pennant would be "a bonus," and he was right, in theory. San Francisco voters should remember the joy of the entire season rather than the way it disintegrated

Wednesday night. The Giants' franchise has been in jeopardy for over a decade because the Giants share the Bay fly ball into the lights could have Francisco.

Area with the Oakland Athletics, in ended the Cardinals' season, could Now the Area with the Oakland Athletics, in a region of many other diversions, indoors and outdoors.

Hy pail into the lights could have sended the Cardinals' season, could have strengthened Proposition W, but Dayley sent the series into

Even with fine weather for the Wednesday's finale. three games last weekend, the Gistick Park has become a stereotype that sumy afternoon in Candle it has been for a quarter of a centufor the Worst Ball Park in America. stick in October 1962, when Willie ry. —GEORGE VECSEY

Bob Lurie, the real-estate baron who has lost $20 million in rebuilding the fallen franchise, has insisted he will relocate the team unless a new stadium is built, authorize the land and the construction "at no cost to the city." The voters are being asked to anthorize a stadium that would have untold impact on traffic and

But the success of Busch Stadium in reviving downtown St. Louis since 1965 should be a clue to San Francisco voters, considering the alternative - a transfer of the Gi-Petersburg, or Tampa.

"If Proposition W fails, then it is we leave San Francisco?"

the franchise could be riding on Wednesday's game. The series had provided delightful baseball.

Just the sequence on Tuesday night, with Whitey Herzog daring to send his right-handed fireballing relief pitcher, Todd Worrell, to play right field while left-handed Ken Dayley took care of a few One sliced base hit, one towering but Dayley sent the series into and Roger Craig.

Wednesday's finale.

But after Wednesday, the phrase The Giants' franchise had not McCovey sent a searing line drive into Bobby Richardson's glove to end the seventh game.

A few inches either way and the Giants might have been world He is not asking San Francisco champions, might have had the into build it, or pay for it, merely to spiration for Willie Mays and Juan Marichal to dominate the 1960s, the way they seemed ready to do. Instead, Richardson gloved the screamer, the Yankees won their last World Series for 15 years and the Giants still have not won a World Series since 1954, when they played in the Polo Grounds, nor had they won a pennant since 1962. What gloom and chill settled into the bones of the Giants since ants to Denver. New Orleans, St. the afternoon Ralph Terry pitched to McCovey. Alvin Dark watered down the the end of the issue in San Francis- basepaths, earning himself the co," said Corey Busch. "The issue mickname of Swamp Fox, but Mauisn't 'Do we stay at Candlestick or ry Wills helped steal three pennants do we move downtown?' The issue in four years for the Dodgers. Maris, 'Do we move downtown or do ichal conked John Roseboro on the head with a bat at home plate. Playoff Summary It did not seem fair to the Giants' Mays grew old and testy. The fans players and staff that the future of avoided Candlestick, Managers winds break his spirit. John Monte-fusco grappled with his manager, Dave Bristol. Jeffrey Leonard Urthe ss scrapped with his teammates Dan Gladden, Jim Gott and Will Clark. batters, was worth a tone poem or a Bob Lurie tried to sell the team once, and tried to move it to Denver, to Oakland, to downtown San Gorrells p "Same old Giants" was waiting on ants' wind-blown home at Candle-known such minute torture since the lips of San Franciscans, the way

Losers' Leonard Is MVP

ST. LOUIS -- They threw debris at him. They chanted his name derisively. They booed Jeffrey Leonard shrugged off the abuse and won Most Valuable Player honors in the National League playoffs. Still, the fans had the last laugh because while Leonard was the MVP, his San Francisco Giants were losers of the NL pennant, "This is a bittersweet award," Leonard said Wednesday night, "It will remind me of something awful. It's going to be a long, hard winter. Hopefully, time will heal what happened here."

The St. Louis pitchers contained his teammates, but they never solved Leonard. His two singles Wednesday gave him NL playoff record-tying totals of 10 hits and 22 total bases. He hit 417 and became the first player to hit homers in four straight playoff games.

It was his deliberate, almost leisurely home run trot in those first four games and some early remarks about the Cardinals that got Leonard in trouble with St. Louis fans.

When the series returned to St. Louis on Tuesday with the Giants seeding one victory for the pennant, Leonard became the target of the fans, who showered him with coins, beer and frozen hot dogs.

SCOREROARD

Baseball

League Championship Series Results

NATIONAL LEAGUE avoided Candlestick, Managers came and went. Horace Stoneham sold the franchise that had been in his family for ages.

Bobby Murcer let Candlestick's winds break his spirit. John Montefusco grappled with his manager.

Dave Bristol. Jeffrey Leonard scrapped with his teammates Dan

0 0 0 0 Cox p

11-3 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 2 Downs II-3 i u
Garreits 12-3 2 2
Lofflers 1 0
LoCose 11-3 1 0
Robinson 1 0 0
St.Louis 0 0 0
Lofflerts pitched to 1 batter in 11
Garreits PB—Brenly. 9 & Q 0 0 5 o 1 batter in the 6th, WP—

000 000 000-0 8 7 645 682 00x-6 12 ( Game-Wignains RSI-McGee (1). 8—Davis, DP-SI, Louis J, LOB-San Fra cisco S, SI, Louis 9, 28—McGee, HR—Oquent (1), SB—Coleman (1), Pena (1), S-Col. Umpires—Home, John Kibler; First, Ed Monlague: Second, Dave Pollone: Third, Eric Gregg: Left, Jim Quick; Right, Bob Engel.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDLY

CHAMPIONSHIP QUALIFIERS ry, cheering the Greenville Panthers - now 4-0 - in their donated 1,000-seat aluminum stadium.

locally.

Declining enrollment and cuts in

"After a lot of thought and a lot of prayer, this seemed to me to be something we could step out and do to help the programs we have." said the president, W. Richard Stephens. "We couldn't have written

Year-by-year results in the Notional League and American League Championship Series since divisional play began in 1967; NATIONAL

1985—St. Louis 4. Los Angeles 2 1984—San Diego J. Chicago 2 1983—Los Angeles 3, Philadelphia 1982—St. Louis 3, Affanto 0 1981—Los Angeles 3, Montreal 2 1980—Philodelphia 3, Housian 2 1979—Pittsburgh 3, Cincinnati 0

1970—Cincinnell 3, Pilitsburgh 0 1974—Los Angeles 3, Pilitsburgh 1 1973—New York 3, Cincinnell 2 1973—Cincinnell 3, Pilitsburgh 2 1971—Pilitsburgh 3, San Francisco 1 1970—Cincinnell 3, Pilitsburgh 0 AMERICAN 1987—Minnesata 4, Detroit 1 1986—Boston 4, California 3 1985—Korsos City 4, Teronto 3 1984—Deiroil 3, Konsos City 0 1983—Bottimore 3, Chicogo 1 1982—Milwoukee 3, Californio 2 1981—New York 3, Ookland 0

1975—Boston 1. Ockland 0 1974—Ockland 1. Battimore 1 1973—Ockland 1. Battimore 2 1972—Ockland 3. Detroit 2 1971—Battimore 3. Ockland 0 1970—Battimore 3. Alkanesola 4 World Series Schedule SATURDAY, OCT. 17 St. Louis (Magrans 9-7 or Mathews 11-11) at Unnesata (Viola 17-10)

SUNDAY, OCT. 18 TUESDAY, OCT. 20 Minnesota at St. Louis WEDNESDAY, OCT. 21 x-THURSDAY, OCT. 22 E-SATURDAY, OCT. 3 x-SUNDAY, OCT. 25 St. Lauls at Minnesota

CAMPBELL CONFERENCE WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS

NHL Standings

WALES CONFERENCE

Hockey St. Louis
Chicage
Sevard 2 (2), B. Wilson (1), D. Wilson (2),
Ramage (1), Grimour (1), McR.eanev (2),
Shots on soal: St. Louis (on Mason) 16-11-4—
3a: Chicago (on Millen) 11-6-15-32.
Tarasto
6 3 1-4
W Marty. 3a: Chicago (on Millen) 11-6-15-32.

Toronto 8 2 1-3
Mannesota 8 2 1-3
Bellows (3), Ciccarelli (1), Mushi (1), Harryburg (1); Gill (2), Courrioll (1). Frecer (2) Shots on seal: Toronta (on Beauprel 17-1115-36: Minnesota (on Wreggel 17-15-22.
Calgary 8 4 1-5
Edmonton 1 1 2-4
Nieuwendyk 2 (2), Bullard (1), Mullen (1),
Berezan (2): Messier (4), Grotzky (2), Beukeboom (1) Krusheinyski (1), Shots on soal: Calgary (on Fohr) 9-15-10-34: Edmonton (on Vernan) 11-6-5-22.

Transition National League
HOUSTON—Announced the resignation of Dick Wagner, president and general manager.

ATLANTA-Signed Scott Hastings, fortorward.

DENYER—Signed Andre Moore, forward.

SACRAMENTO—Signed Kenny Smith.

guard, to a four-year contract.

BASKETRALL

Before the Bout

Tyrell Biggs, right, with Mike Tyson, the undisputed heavyweight boxing champion, before their scheduled 15round title fight Friday in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Football Answers Prayers at Small Illinois College

GREENVILLE, Illimois - For almost a century, tiny Greenville College got along without football. Now, after much thought and prayer, the school is trying to boost its enrollment by getting in the game. Some 1,400 people showed up last weekend for the first home game in the school's 95-year histo-

The public-address announcer already has slapped nicknames on running backs Robert (Ice Cube) Haynes and Corey (Little Refrigerator) Hughes. Games are broadcast federal and state student-aid funds had threatened the future of the seeking ways to attract more stufootball team at the school, which has a strong religious tradition.

The Associated Press

European Soccer

Spain 2. Austria 0 Points: Spain 8; 1 bonia 0. monia: Nov.18, Spain vs. Albania, Austria vs. GROUP 3 Prance 1, Norway 1
Prints: Soviet Union 11: East Germany 7;
France, Icoland 6: Norway 4,
Remaining matches: Oct 28, Saviet Union vs. Icoland, East Germany vs. Norway;
Nov.18, France vs. East Germany
GROUP 4

England & Turkey 0 had threatened the future of the college, attended by about 600 students at a cost of at least $8,000 a year. Greenville officials began seeking ways to attract more students. dents, and Athletic Director Jack Trager came up with the idea of a kia 5; Finiand 3. ining matches: Nov.11, Czechoslovi kio vs. Wales. GROUP 7

Scotland 2. Beleium 0
Polats: (rish Republic 11; Bulgaria 10; Bel-gium 7; Scotland 4; Luxembaurg 11.
Remaining matches: Nov.11, Belgium vs. Luxembourg, Bulgario vs. Scotland; Dec.2. Luxembourg vs. Scotland. the script any more perfectly."

ESCORTS & GUIDES INTERNATIONAL ESCORT SERVICE USA & WORLDWIDE Head office in New York 330 W. Soft St., N.Y.C. 10019 USA 212-765-7896 212-765-7754

MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND CHECKS ACCEPTED Private Memberships Available PARLIAMENT ESCORT SERVICE
USA & WORDMIDE
NEW YORK
212-307-321
CHECAGO
312-787-42-44
BEVERLY HILLS
213-216-2771
CREDIT CARDS/O-ECKS

LONDON Portman Escort Agency 67 Chiltern Street, Landon W1 Tel: 486 3724 or 486 1158 All major credit cards accepted LONDON

ESCORT SERVICE 10 KENSINGTON CHURCH ST. W. TEL: 937 9136 OR 937 9133 All major credit cords occupied. ZURICH SUSAN

ESCORT SERVICE 01/44 24 77

KENSINGTON

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED (Continued From Back Page)

ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES LONDON ESCORT SERVICE. Tel. 937 6574. LONDON ESCORT AGENCY. Tel: 935 5339. **** MADRID ARISTOCATS Lendon Escart Service 128 Wigmore St., London W.I. All major Credit Cards Accepted Tel: 437 47 41 / 4742 12 noon - midnicht Glamour Escort Service, Tel: 259 90 02. SOPHIE FRENCH SPEAKING Excent Service. Tel: London 581 4147. TOKYO ESCORT / GUIDE SERVICE. Tel: 351 22 78. GENEVA ESCORT SERVICE. Tal: 46 11 58 REGENCY NY CHELSEA ESCORT SERVICE. 51 Beauthamp Pace, London SW3. Tel: 01 S84 6513/2749 (4-12 pm)

ZURICH ** SWISS ** LONDON ESCORT SERVICE 01/362 36 24 BELGRAVIA Escort Service. Tel: 736 5877. MAYFAIR CLUB

ESCORT SERVICE from 5pm ROTTERDAM (0) 10-4254155 THE HAGUE (0) 70-60 79 96 CAPRICE-NY ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK TEL: 212-737 3291.

** ZURICH 558720 **

Private Tourism Guide Service Credit Cards Accepted

WORLDWIDE ESCORT SERVICE 212-838-8027 or 753-1864

* ZURICH * CAROLINE ESCORT SERVICE. 01 / 252 61 74 ROME CLUB EUROPE ESCORT & Guide Service. Tet 06/589 2604 or 587 1146 (from 4 pm to 9:30 pm) AMSTERDAM BERNADETTE Mole and Female Escort Service. Tel: (0/20-327799 or (0) 20-362833. ZUERICH - D'DORF - KOEIN - ESSEN + gree, Travel & Eccort service. Credit Cards. Tel: (0211) 34 00 84.

DOMINA" Koeln/Essen/Bonn/Dues-seldorf Escort Service, 0211/383 141. • TOKYO 5864674 • • Top Twenty Guide Agency LONDON ONLY JAPANESE ESCORT Service, Tet 01 370 0634/603 7194. HAMBURG - ROYAL ESCORT Service. Tel: 040/5534145. LONDON BLONDIE Escort service. Tet. London 581 2460. FRANKFLIRT - CHRISTINA'S Escort Service 069/364656 Credit Cards loo EYECATCHERS LONDON ESCORT Service, Tel- 01 519 5552. LOS ANGELES, CA Escort & Tour Guide Service (213) 271-8822 MILAN V.I.P. INTERNATIONAL Es-cort Service. Tel: (392) 461125. MUNICH - BLONDIES Escort + Trav-el Service, 311 79 00 or 089/311 79 36 GENEVA ROYAL ESCORT Service. Tel: 022/ 812 772. LONDON'S BIANCA ESCORT Service. Tel: 01-625-4976. DUESSELDORF - KOEIN - ESSEN. Christine's Escort & Trovel Service. Tel: 0211/49 97 84. CACHET OF LONDON multiingual Escort service 01 937 2423. MADRID IMPACT exact and guide Service Multilingual. 261 4142 DUESSELDORE TOP ESCORT & Travel service. Tel. (2717/35 22 37

ESCORTS & GUIDES LONDON CRISTINA SWEDISH speaking Excert Service, Tel 452 5689. spealing Escori Service, Tel 452 5689.

NEW YORK-TOBENDY "JULIE" Escort Service 212-751-2768 AMSTERDAM 2000 ESCORT Service Tel: (0) 20-911030 IONDON JOY ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: (11-373-8849. ATHENS INTERNATIONAL Executive Escort Service. Tel: 722 8341 GENEVA DANY ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: 022 / 35 68 23. LONDON ORIENTAL GUIDE and Es-cort Service, Tet: 01-243 1442 MILAN EXCLUSIVE multilingual boom Service. Tel: [392] 869 1479 AMSTERDAM JEANET ESCORT Service. Tel. (020) 326420 or 340110. CARMELLAS INTL Escori Service credit cords. London 01-243-0309 FRANKFURT NUMBER ONE Excert Service, Tel: 069/64 48 75 or 84 48 76. LONDON ISABELLE French specking escort service. London 235 0592 MILAN GLAMOUR * Escort Ser vice. Tel: (392) 2827/065 MUNICH • REMEMBER • ESCORT and Guide Service. Tel: 089/912314 NEW YORK-LADY CINNAMON 6-cort Service 212-996-2557

AMSTERDAM HOTEL Excert. Tel: 020 - 328686 MUNICH = VIP + ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 089 /580 68 44 ATTACHE ESCORT SERVICE 212 HEY. 6400 OR 212-439-6400 FRANKRURT "TOP TEN" ESCORT LONDON PRIVATE ESCORT Service. Tel: 01-589-4765 TOKYO EXCLUSIVE ESCORT Service. 03 798 4350 VIENNA YOUNG ESCORT Service.

POSTCARD

Clowning Anniversary

New York Tunes Service VENICE, Florida — The 20th Vanniversary reunion of the graduates of Clown College may not have been the world's most listingnished alumni celebration, but it could have been the funniest. A thousand clowns have been unleashed by the eccentric institution of higher learning since its founding in 1967 by Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey. and 479 of them were here to honor their aims mater by engaging in a prodigious amount of slapping falling, juggling, unicycling, stilt-walking and other tomfoolery.

At the height of this week's festivities at the circus's winter quarters, they sent the clowns into what was billed as the world's largest pic fight: 120 costumed clowns in top hats, chef's toques and other out-landish headgear galumphed around, aiming assorted pastries at one another in an apocalyptic mock battle.

The attendance at the three-day reunion delighted many graduates.
There haven't been this many clowns in one place since the Irancontra hearings," said Irene Hack-worth, a 1980 graduate who attend-ed with her husband, Jim, and their 13-month-old son, Colin.

Clowns arrived from 48 states in a variety of slaphappy ways. One, Sue Dwosh, had herself wrapped as a parcel and delivered to the winter quarters door by commercial air

Perhaps the most rollicking arrival was on Eastern Airlines flight 371, which brought 52 costumed clowns from Ringling's two traveling circus units to the Sarasota airport. They had played Ping-Pong with their tray tables for paddles. and stuffed one tiny clown into an overhead luggage rack while another, David Kiser, helped the flight attendants deliver the seat-belt announcement. "Well, we did manage to keep them out of the cockpit," said Captain Don Grosman.

The Clown College graduates include stockbrokers, teachers and marionette makers, as well as Garry White, a U.S. Navy petty officer on the USS Fox, which returned from the Gulf in time for him to attend the reunion with his wife, Diane, and 19-month-old daughter, Khadija. Christopher Shelton, a 1981 graduate who toured as a Ringling clown for four years, is a police officer in Wilmington, Delaware, and performs at events there as Officer Offbeat, the Juggling Jester

Some alumni, like Leon A. McBryde, a 1969 graduate, earn their living performing as clowns at fairs and exhibitions. McBryde also makes clown noses. "I charge $100 for a custom nose and let me tell you, it's the cheapest nose job you Can get."

When the producer Irvin Feld bought the circus from John Ring-ling North in 1967, there were only 14 clowns, and their average age was close to 60. "That was when Mr. Feld made the joke about, 'I know they can fall down, but can they get up again?" said Bill Ballantine, the 77-year-old former Ringling clown who was the dean of Clown College from 1969 to 1977. "Clowning was a dying art." These days 60 clowns a year graduate from the 10-week course; about 20 of them get contracts to perform with the Ringling circus. The alumni expressed their admiration for squirting cigars, clown fire brigades, exploding pants, featherduster bouquets, smoking fire hydrants and a purple clown car that disgorged 20 clowns

The alumni also gave an ovation to the 84-year-old Ringling performer and teacher. Lou Jacobs, the only clown whose face has appeared on a U.S. postage stamp.

OME of the college's alumni have achieved recognition that clowns of a previous generation wouldn't have dreamed of. For example, Bill Irwin, a 1974 Clown College graduate, has performed at Lincoln Center in New York and received a "genius grant" from the MacArthur Foundation.

According to the alumni, Clown College also hastened the arrival of women as clowns. "When I began performing female roles were only conceived of as men in drag," said Peggy Williams, a 1970 alumna who was the first woman to get a Ringling contract after graduating from the college. Currently, 8 of the circus's 52 clowns are women. Now we've created real feminine clown characters, from ballerinas to truck-stop waitresses," said Wil-

Russell Baker is on vacation.

The New Liz Taylor: A Scent of Success

By Nina Hyde
Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON — Five years 200 Flirabeth T W years ago, Elizabeth Taylor left Washington an angry, frus-trated and embittered woman prone to binges with food, drugs and alcohol, the caftan-draped target of Joan Rivers's fat jokes.

The other day she was back in town and back in form, a new (or renewed) woman. Where once she made headlines with Hollywood flings, she now makes them more often as the United States's best known crusader for AIDS research. Once remarkable for her indulgent life style — still not exactly Spartan — she has found new life and vigor as a jet-set entrepreneur, touting her own beauty products, and soon, a book. She was 60 pounds lighter, looked 20 years younger and was comfortable enough with herself to talk about why. "I think Washington is a wonderful city for men, she said. "It is a deadly city

No longer the political wife with a house in Georgetown and a farm in Middleburg, the former spouse of Senator John Warner, Republican of Virginia, was in Washington to promote her new perfume and to testify before a House committee on funding for AIDS research. "I love Washington. It's a wonderful place - to visit." she said.

for wives."

Taylor hit town in the mid-'70s, first as the escort of Ardeshir Zahedi, the flamboyant Iranian ambassador and party-thrower of those pre-Khomeini days, and later as Warner's accident-prone wife and campaign partner during and after his controversial run for the Senate. "It was particularly hard for John and me because we didn't have the foundation of an established marriage. We had no structure to spring from We didn't have the strength and sta-bility of a long relationship to fall back on, which is absolutely mandatory if you are going to live and

Washington at the time saw her develop into a reclusive, overweight, angry woman with a cross-addiction to prescription drugs and alcohol. She did the expected rolling of bandages, ap-peared at the necessary cocktail engagements, but says now she survive in this city.

Elizabeth Taylor in 1981 (left) and after her Betty Ford Clinic cure.

Even today, at 55, newly fortified with her staggering good looks, her controlled diet, her nondrinking, she couldn't imag-ine coming back to Washington as a senator's wife. "No, no, no, no, no, no," she said with a rolling laugh. Or as a senator, as some have suggested. "No, I don't think

She and Warner are still friends. "We are probably friendlier now than we ever were," she said. She spent a recent weekend with him at the farm in Middleburg. "John always makes sure that I am up to here with fried chicken and mashed potatoes, gravy, com on the cob. It is my favorite pig-out. I do allow myself a favorite pig-out."

She started to look after herself when she finally took a good look in a three-way mirror some time around 1981. "I realized finally, thank God, that I was being totally self-destructive."

Her plan was to give herself a difficult task. "First I thought, ality cum corporate executive.

MOVING

ALLIED

didn't enjoy any of it. "I felt so redundant," she said. what can I do that is the most challenging thing? To go on stage challenging thing? To go on stage would be the most difficult thing in the realm of my possibilities. I did The Little Foxes on stage first." But the drinking and eating continued until she finally checked into the Betty Ford Clinic in Palm Springs for addiction to prescription drugs and alcohol as well as food. "Prescription drugs was all part of it. I had had 19 major operations so it has been part of my life since my early 20s." Soon after she arrived at the center in Palm Springs, the press found out she was there. Before the first story broke, Taylor, dressed in a nightgown and hold-ing Betty Ford's hand, called in a local television station so she could announce on camera what she was doing. "The Betty Ford center is so important a part of my life, it is something separate. It all has to do with my selfdestructive behavior."

Now on tour with her new perfume, Elizabeth Taylor's Passion, she's behaving like a film person-

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS

She has reason to boast of her success: The fragrance is No. 1 in sales growth in the United States, ranking second only to Giorgio in some cities, even those she hasn't visited. "You can hardly get better than that."

Her tour ends Friday. On Oct. 17 she is slated to be on the set of her next film, "Young Toscani-ni," directed by Franco Zeffirelli, in Rome. She's been taking singing lessons because she plays a diva and in the film must appear to and in the film miss appear to be singing. "I've been working off and on for a month, learning to sing 'Aida,' " she said. "It is pretty hysterical." While the actu-al singing voice in the film will be that of Aprile Millo, a hot new soprano discovery, Taylor will be singing during filming. Or, at least, trying to. "I have to lip-sync perfectly and make with the voice so you see the muscles working in my throat. You can see when someone is singing or they are faking. God help the people on the set. It is going to be terrifying — they will send for an ambulance. After the film there are more projects. She's completed one book, called "Elizabeth Takes Off," a frank, almost brutal revelation about her obsession with food, photographs at her least attractive and most becoming weights, and a diet and exercise pian. An autobiography is "years down the road," she said. "So much of that is so very personal. hidden and deep. It would take a lot out of me. I'm not sure I'm ready to delve that deep into the past. It would mean reliving hell. I'm just too happy with the present. I'm enjoying the present. I don't have time for the past. Maybe one day I'll curl up in front of a fireplace with a lap robe and begin Maybe I'll do that "But not gin. Maybe I'l do that." But not right away. "I'm too active, too busy enjoying today." She will give a share of her profits from the perfume to AIDS research. Taylor has become a crusader on the subject of AIDS, leading fund-raising campaigns, enlisting her colleagues for public service announcements. In Washington she won great respect at an AIDS fundraiser when she asked a benefit dinner crowd, some of whom had booed the president, to respect the fact that Reagan had come to the event.

When she started, no one wanted to give money. "People didn't even want to discuss it. It was so thoroughly in the closer."

It's not much better now. There is still such stigma attached, it is strange. It brings out the worst in people. I don't know what happens to people. It is like they had a lobotomy of compassion. People give money — they have more respectable things to give it to. They don't want to part company with their money for something which is so nonlegitimate in some of their ever so mate in some of their eyes so stigmatized. And because there has been no progress made it seems to be rather hopeless, futile. The attitude is, 'Oh, it's not going to happen to us. So we look the other way.

We can only look the other way so long, however, she said, be-cause ultimately life styles will have to change. Your life, your morals. The latter part of the '80s are going to have to be different than the first part of the 80s. It just can't go on being the swing-ing '80s. It is too dangerous."

PEOPLE

Vanessa Redgrave Wins Boston Cancellation Suit

A U.S. federal appeals court awarded Vanessa Redgrave $12,000 stemming from cancella-tion of a 1982 performance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The court rejected the orchestra's claim that it had a right to cancel its contract with Redgrave to narrate Stravinsky's "Oedipus Rex" because of concern over threatened disruptions stemming from her support for the Palestine Liberation Organization. The court, ruling that no arts organization "has a First Amendment right to perform without audience interruption," rejected the orchestra's claim that it had an "artistic integrity" right to cancel a series of Boston and New York concerts. "History and experience teach that the risk of catcalls boos, disruptions and even being the target of vegetable projectiles is inherent in any public performance by artists who seek to entertain and/or educate the public," the court said.

A Soviet government spokesman said that the single-engine Cessna Mathias Rust, 19, flew to Red Square in May will be flown back to Hamburg on Sunday. Rust is now serving a four-year labor camp sentence for the feat.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain will make her first trip to Dallas this weeken to visit her son, Mark, and his wife, Diane, Mrs. Thatcher is expected to be accompanied by her husband, Denis. Mark Thatcher moved to Dallas in 1984, after a short-lived fling at auto racing, to take a reported $60,000-a-year job promoting Lotus sports cars.

Two Spanish climbers have conquered the 8.091-meter (26,538-foot) Mount Annapurna I three days after two compatriots accomplished the feat by a different route, Nepal's Ministry of Tourisps said Thursday. The ministry said Juan Carlos Ramos, 32, of Valencia and Perez Laffout Francisco José, 38, of Totano reached the summit of the world's ninth tallest peak on Sunday after a nearly seven-hour. climb on the mountain's north face. On Oct. 8, Josep Marie Maixe, 26, and Rafal Lopez, 23, both of Tarra-gona, climbed to the top via the northwest side of the mountain.

TODAY'S

INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE MARKETPLACE

Appears on pages 12 & 13

CONGRATULATIONS and BIRTHDAY

MESSAGE CENTER

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CHRISTIANE, 3 years + 10,000 km, Not bod! Ken. ANNOUNCEMENTS

USADIRECT Calling the U.S. from overseas is fast and easy with USADIRECT SM service. Plus, you will enjoy these advantages:

e Talk to an AT&T operator in the U.S. e Use your AT&T Card or call collect.

Pay AT&T operator-assisted international rates.

To access USADIRECT, simply diel the number shown from any phone AUSTRALIA

0014-881-011 DENMARK 0430-0010

> FRANCE 19*-0011

GERMANY, FRG' 0130-0010 NETHERLANDS'

06*-022-9111 UNITED KINGDOM 0800-89-0011

Await second dial tane.
 Public phones require deposit of can or phone cord for dial tane.
 Tirol basis only, not available in Frontium area.
 There may be a sitem' delay of up to 30 seconds between dialing and executive.

When in the U.S. diol 1 800 874-4000
Ed. 301 for more information.
With LSADIECT service, use your ATET Card domestic number not the international number.
SPECIALLY MARKED
TELEPHONES ARE AVARIABLE
AT CERTAIN LOCATIONS.

AT&T The right choice.

LOSE WEIGHT, GIVE UP SMOKING + drinking. Learn stress control in a

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SAVE MORE The Longer You Subscribe The More You Save

(See the Int'l Herald inbune's daily subscription ad for details.)

LISTENING VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR SOS HELP English speaking Paris based phone crisis line. 2-hour recruitment sessions 6-50pm tues Oct. 6, Mon. Oct. 12 Tues, Oct. 20 of American Church, 65 Quoi d'Orsoy, Poris 7 or write for appointment to SOS HELP, 8P 239 16, 75675 PARIS CEDEX 16

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MASTER CHEF TEACHES Lo vera cu-cina Italiano. The true cooking of Italy. Gorgeous formhouse. Places left for week of October 25-31. Coll or write to. The Cooking School of Umbrio, Casello Postole 127, 06039 Todi (Perugio), Italy. Tek 075-887370 ANDERN AMERICAN WOMEN. Are

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MONACO 1930s. Grandmoiner with ing childhood memors would appre-ciate loan of snapshots: convent of St Maux, Conclamate, Villa of Prince Reta & C. Write Stanford Campden, Gloucestershire, GL55 6AD, GB

ROME SAMARITANS. Depressed, de-spairing, sacidal Talk to us in com-plete confidence on Rome 06-6789227 everyday 4:30-10:30pm. ALCOHOUCS ANONY MOUS English Paris 46 34 59 65. Rame 678 0320. Amsterdam 256 057 Brussels 537 8224

THIS XMAS GIVE SOMEONE on orig-inal London Times newspaper dated the very day they were born, $39. Tel: UK 0472 531195. CHRISTMAS GIFTS

GUIDE

NORTH AMERICAN WOMEN - Are you new in Paris? The American Women's Group offers its members a place to touch base. Write range of cultural and social programs. Call 43.59.17.61 Paris.

AND 1970's. Grandmother writers of the colored part of the col or us, some judg, worker or introdes, pray for us. Saint Jude, help of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer nine times a day, by the rishls day, your prayer will be anserwed. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised.

MOVING

International Business Message Center

BUSINESS

OPPORTUNITIES

OFFSHORE FORMATIONS AS Countries I.F., 223 Report St., Landon, Tel. 01 629 7020 Tx: 893911 G. Fax 7343970

INTERNATIONAL LOAN, Available up to US$2 B. also gold & currences. Please write in confidence, Toiwan The 72701, Fast 05-2377180

FILM PROJECT FOR SALE, first class references, original scenario, Contact-Connes, France, 93 39 36 51.

BUSINESS SERVICES

MONEY EXCHANGE

open 7 days a week - 10am-7pm 151 r St Honora, Paris 1 Tel 42972728 For bigger amounts: negaticible rates

PARIS ANSWERING SERVICE TUILERIES (1) 40.20.08.20. Presige mailing address, Direct line. Telex, Secretarial Services, Translation, Tele-phone Austrance, FF340/monthly.

PARIS ANSWERING SERVICE: Telex, Fox, secretary, errands, mailtox, five 24H/day. 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE. Call PAT: 46 07 95 95.

EXCHANGE PERSONAL CHECKS of once/bonk notes/etc. Best roles For-oncière Vendôme, 7 Pl Vendôme Pors 1, 28, Tel (1) 42 % 92 15. Tx 211306F

EXECUTIVE BUSINESS SERVICES of Hotel Breidenbocher Hof Duesseldorf. Tel: (0)211-32, 44, 18, +, 13030, rbs: 8582630, telefox: 1303830

COMMERCIAL

PREMISES

ATTENTION EXECUTIVES ATIENTION EXECUTIVES Publish your business message in the International Handel Itibuns, where more than a third of a million receivers worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read it. Just tales as (Paris 613595) before 10 a.m., ensuring that we can tales you back, and your message will appear within 48 hours. You gust include camplete and verifiable billing address.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES OFFSHORE TAX SHEITER COMPANIES
UK, Iske of Mon, Coymors, Cyprus,
Jersey, Pronorna, Liberia, Turks etc.
Full administration, nominees, power of attorney
Free contidental consultation:
Roger Griffin LLB, F.CA.

Brochure: Corporate Management U 19 Peel Road, Douglas, Isle of Ma Tel. (0624) 23303/4 Teles 607387 Cormon G (London Representation) OFFSHORE COMPANIES

 Free professional consultation
 Warldwidt incorporations
 Immediate availability
 Full confidential services London representativa.
 Full administration services Aston Company Formation Ltd., 19 Peel Rd. Douglas, Isle of Man. Tel (0624) 26591. The 627691 SPIVAG Fax 0824 25126

SECURITY ADVISORY SERVICES private assignments. 22-115 772, Publicios, 1002 Lousanne, Switzerland. US manufactured heavy trucks & equipment. US buyer will be in Europe October & November 1987. We will look at complete fleet purchases or bombrupicy buyears. Combot. Bernie Dimbrupites. Inc. Tel: 215-336-USS. The $1010008811 Mod 8co = $6288582 Answerbook (BERNIE)

MYKONOS - CENTRALLY LOCATED retail outlet for sportswear and/or building where it is located, Art. Gerostamos, Tel. 301-8313968 from 10 p.m. to midnight. Acharmon 295, 104-46 Athens, Greece Answerbock (BERNIE)

ATTRACTIVE DEALS for businesses moving to Deside, North Woles (close to historic Chester), Accembran British Government grants, European 8, 85C industry logans too, Contact Peter Summers of Pork House, Deside, Chyd CHS 2NZ U.K. Quoting rat. 48

EUROPEAN BASED COMPANY seeks I year bridging loon or investment of $50,000 to establish a commercially violate, laisure / ort project in the Concernes, Details write to Company Solicitor Box 453/6, U.H., 83 Long Acra, London, WCZE 9/H. FINANCIAL SERVICES

STRATEGIC METALS. The investment for 1988? We have the expertise to help. Pleace reply with full address & sal, number to: Strat Metals, 9 Kensengton High Street, London W8 SNP. 1et 01-737 4643. The 22861 FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS PROTECTED OFF-SHORE investment offers high returns under trusteeship & discretion. Write: 22-115 773, Publici-tos, 1002 Lausanne, Switzerland. BELL 47 SERIES 200, $8,000,000 ports package. All or part consideration agents. Fax: 702-736-9217 USA will be published every Saturday, start-ing October 17. To place an advertise-ment, please contact our office or rep-resentative in your country.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

MARTINI TECHNOTRANS - NICE / CANNES, Tel: 93.29.43.44. Oversess Moving - Storage - Packing - Air/Sea Shipping, Car/Baggage, Clearance.

DIAMONES, large quantities only, 1.05 caret and over, CIA-HED, per-fect round au, E-Rawless, 52350 caret, ct. Please write Box 4977. Heraid Tribune, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France

OFFICE SERVICES

Your Office in Germany

we are "At Your Service" Complete office services at two prestage addresses.
Fully equipped offices for the short serm or the long term.
Instrumentally manued office and professional staff of your disposal.
Con be legally used as your corporate domails for Germany/Europe.
Your busness operation can start immediately.

Lairca Bosiness Services GmbH Lairco-Haus am Holzhausenpark Justinianstrasse 22 6000 Frankfurt am Main 1

PARIS ADDRESS, Champe-Bysées. Since 1957 I.S.P. provides mail, phone, telex, meeting rooms. 5 rue d'Arios. 75008, Tel 4359 4704. Th: 642504.

OFFICES FOR RENT

LUDORY BRAND NEW FULLY equipped offices in the best office building in Monte Corto, 500 s.m. or 320 s.m. or 230 s.m. for rest. Specialise equipment for internetional bank brokeroge house or financial company. Asking price, FF 3,500 + tooss's s.m. year. Justined key money. Mease control: Mss. Moneco Woldber, Monte Corto, 73 50 07 25 from 11 cm to 8 pm.

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS YOUR BEST Fine diamonds in any price range of lowest wholesole prices direct from Antwerp center of the diamond world. Full guarantee, For tree price his write SCACHIM GOLDENSTEM. DIAMAMITEXPORT BYBA.

CHAUFFEUR, BODYGUARD, COOK (1) 43 43 23 64 COMPAGNE GENERALE

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

NICE: TOMPAGNIE GENERALE
93 21 35 72
FRANCTURT LM.S.
(069) 250066
AMERITANS
(01) 953 3636
GENEVA VERON GRAUER S.A.
(022) 32 64 40
USA: (0101) 312-681-8100 EMPLOYMENT GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

JOBS - JOBS: USA INT. Over 1900 applications are selected each maint by employers. Anu/Int Register, 2 Bed-ford Square, Landon WC1, England

LOW COST FLIGHTS

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT / Sec-retary. We are a growing U.S. fash-ion company and are planning to set-ion company and are planning to selup our lisernational headquarters in Zurich on December 1, 1987. The Y.P.

International is looking for a bright, young person who has professional secretural/organizational and administrative sales, is tilly profineer in English and can do some browl. Swiss residency is required. Solary and incentive bonus will be very attractive.
Please send CV & phonograph to Schellenberg, von Segesser & Ronca
c/o American, Zur Lowenschanza, Lowenstrasse 19, 8001 Zurich,
Switzerland. GENEAL
POSITIONS WAN I EL

AIGHT YOUNG AMERICAN seeks position in Paris. Georgetown University School of Foreign Service gradual cite. 3 years experience IV, mojor American regivers. 17 mojor American regivers with BBA, writing stalls, fluent French, good Spanish, Indian. Good appearance, positivated, dynamic, Free to Inovel. Serious offers only, Tel. 40 72 76 13 Paris.

WELL-GROOMED recent college supplyment in read estate in Paris. Bling.

WELL-GROOMED recent college supplyment in read estate in Paris. Bling.

In the paris of the paris

AUTUS TAX FREE
LOOKING FOR A NEW CAR? Confused about regulations? Looking for Europes best prices? We have all the crawers. Super low seurone rates and Densith export plotes void 2 years. We give special advice so you on drive tex free of the lowest possble price with confidence. We will even buyback your car ofter 12 months for up to 90% of your purchase price. Take extra special deals on BMW - Peugeot - Grose - Volvo Soab - Japoness cars and even GM US cars if you need a new tax free are call Selao Tax Free Cars Intl +
45 2 783200 fts 9129309 selao dis. Fax
+45 1 37676 Capenhagen Denmark DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE HOUSEKEPPE for New York City cou-ple with 1 child (6 yrs.) & dog. Cool-ing obility, ofternoon & evening child-core. Freier European female, English specieng. Own room/bath/TV. Reply: 50x 5141, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neully Codex, framos

EMPLOYMENT

s position in private residence, long term. In France or abroad. Tel: France 94.73.89.33. AU PAIR, English speaking French fe-male cap 35-30, to two in mid sea southern US only. Drive car, trovet with family, 2 school age doughters, room, board & solary. No heavy work: Tel: Air Buchronn 47 20 17 92 or 47 20 64 44 Paris ACTRESS- Public speaking sales tech-nique. Part time/ full lime, free to trov-el. NY 212-734-0624 FRENCH/ENGLISH/ITALIAN, top as sistent, public relations, juridical expe rience, mativated. Paris 47 47 94 71

> DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED BRITISH NANNY WITH 7 YEARS ex-perience is seeking oversexs post with children under 5 years. Cor driver & first class paterances. Miss Hosely Monroe Names, 18 South Moltan St., Mayrar, Lordon WI, Tel 01 4998867 ENGLISH NANNIES & mothers' helps UK License. Nash Agency, 53 Church Rd, Hove, Sussex, UK. [273] 430356

BULLET - RESISTANT ARMORED vehicles for V.V.I.P., use. Direct selling of protected vehicles from manufacturer to end-user. Confidential negociations on a principal to principal basis without disclosure of design threat levels. Occasionally new vehicles ex stack or in build for sorty delivery. Piecuse contact. U.K. great code 0:278-732231 or Telez: 46396 MANAMA G

AUTO SHIPPING BANSCAR 17 ov de Friedland, 75008 Paris, Tel 4225 6444, Nicas 9321 3550, Antwerp 233 9985 Connes 9339 4344

AUTOMOBILES

HOLIDAYS and TRAVEL

DIAMANIA PARTIES OF A PARTIES OF THE DIAMANIA OF T ACCESS VOYAGES ACCES VOTAGES

One Way Round Irip

New York F1150 F2000

Son Froncescy F1800 F2600

Los Angeles F1800 F3600

Altertos F1750 F3200

Delics F1750 F3200

Delics F1750 F3200

Okoogo F1455 F2890

Mearin F1750 F3200

Mearin F1750 F390

Icrorito F3250 F3350

Calgary F3250 F4390

Variouver F3390 F3390

Tokyo F3890 F3390

and more desinoshous ______ THE DIAMOND YEAR BOOK 86/87 by JF. Moyersoen, the best streshook 8 economical book ever written on diamonds by one of the world's top germologists. The ideal Christman gift for your corporate partners and mends. Rel. 32/1/6480/11 or write. 26 over General de Goulle, B1050 Brusselt, US$ 97 + Supping, Discount for more than 3 books. and more destinations...
Discount on 1st & business class.
Rates subject to modifications:
Restrictions may copply.
Tel: (1) 4013 0202 or 4221 4694 6 nee Pierre Lescot, 75001 Poris Metro - RER Chatelet Les Holles (Lic. 1.75.111)

Aldwych House, 71-91 Aldwych, London WCZ Tek [1] 404 44 65 WINTER '87-'88

Comfort at Charter Prices DAILY ROUND THE PLIGHTS FROM PARIS TO:
New York
Niconi
Los Angeles FF 3515
Son Francisco FF 3515
Mexico FF 4705 INTER CHART'AIR ONLY OUR PRICES ARE CHARTER 32 rue du 4 Septembre, 75002 Pors Tel: 42.66.42.44

LOW COST FLIGHTS HOTELS ABSHITCH COMES TO BURDFE USA carytime, $160 or less, east coast; $259 east-where else. Paris: 103 rue La Boetie for few yards from Ch. Byssesi. Feb. 42897081. London: 217 Tottenhare Court Rd. 7et 5370875 FRANCE RESIDENCE DU ROY RESILIZATION DE MONTRE DE MANAGEMENT AND MANAGEMENT DE MONTRE DE M HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL PORTUGAL 7 DAYS INCLUSIVE TOURS FROM LONDON TO:

LISBON 5210
ESTORIL/ CASCAIS 5174
COSTA VERDE (OPORTO) 5174
ALGARYE 5147
MADERA 5184 NICE, HOTEL IA MALMAISON, s a v NN Best westyen, 48 Bid Victor Hugo, 06000 Nice. Tel: 93 87 42 56. Telex 470410F. 46 rooms, cl conforts. Color TV by subfile [LSA, UK, Germany, Itary), paor fits sea. Is close resiourcus, conference rooms. Please Contact: andon, Tel 4933873, Tix 265653 PARIS - Please Mirobeau ***NN, 10 Ave. E. Zolo, 1-2-3 room flots, both kitchen, fridge. Tel. [1] 45 77 72 00. FROM ZURICH TO:

LISBON SF1025 ESTORIL/ CASCAIS SF1039 COSTA VERDE (OPORTO) SF1039 ALGARVE SF1215 MADERA SF1205 THE UTTLE PRIST CLASS HOTEL RHEIN-MAIN FRANKERET-CITY
Heidelberger St. 3, 8000 Frankfurt/M I
Central location man Rollway Station
TEL: (0) 69 / 25 00 35 Piecse Contact: Geneva 357410, Tix: 27709 ICEP For other programs and detailed TRAVEL AGENT

ADVENTURE TOURS in Argentino, Enjoy the nature and the odventure survival, trekting, fishing, covalcodes, etc. Wild and inpural file furnauth unusual and singular places, Special decounts. For more information and reservations: P.O. Box 39 (1638) Vicante Lapez, Br. As, Argentino, Telesc. (USA 6507265384 MC TW) Tel: (Argentino) 775-0167 germini 77-7-100 VACATION, HONEYMOON, Business come to Paradise Island, Bahamas. Tranquil. 2 bedroom/ 2 basin villa. $250 per day. Car & secretarial assistance optional. Write. PO Box. N467, Nassau, Bahamas, Call. 809-22.

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL TURN TO PAGE 8 Kenya Safari Nairabi 337372, Landon 437-7435, US (8007273-6046, Spare 2355544, HK-771511, BGK-2514842 Fly Spare-Nairabi-avery Manday.

Imprime par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris.

19th CENTURY NURSHAUS HOTEL. Old World style, new world comfort. Deluce rooms is sales. Kardinsky res-taurori, casto, wove-pod, Right on The Hogue's bacch boulevard. For business and holidoys, Tal-Holland [U, 70-520052 Fox (U)/U-500911 Tix 33295 Amsterdam Apartments $250/wk. fully furnished. Amsterdam Apart-ments, N.Z. Yoorburgwal 63, 1012 IE Amsterdam, Tel: 003120-265730 PHILIPPINES ADMIRAL HOTE, 2138 Roses Bd. MANEA, Posposes, P.O. Box 7155 Min 3120 Prinsposes, The 76240488 ADHOTE, PM. Cobile ADMITE, PM. Tel: 572081 to 94.

U.S.A.

TUDOR HOTEL New York 500 rooms.
Fortrandale East Side of Manhattan near United Nations. Reasonable rotes. 164 212-986-8800 or 800-2211253. The 422951.

GERMANY

FOR MORE THAN 12 YEARS EUROPE'S LARGEST SHOWROOM AUTOS TAX FREE TRANSCO

Tax free soles - shipping - insurance. We stock over 300 brand new cors. European - Japanese - American, Very competitive priors - fost delivery. Send for tree multicolor colologue. TEANSCO NV, 95 NOOMDENAAN, 2030 ANTWERP, BELGIUM. TI 323/542 6240 Tx 35207 Trees b

AUTOS TAX FREE

TRASCO GERMANY. Mercedes Benz ormored cors + stretched impusines from stock. Stendorum 38, D-2820 Breamen. The 246624. Fox: 421630205. Tel: (U) 421-533044. BOATS &

RECREATIONAL VEHICLES CLASSIC 105 FOOT SARING york: 1937. One of the most renoward of the few greats still in example. Very beouthst, very first and in magnificent condition. Shopped interior ownuts re-

EDUCATION partish DEGREES. Somerant Universi-ty offers degree programs in most subjects to motion students by dis-touca learning. Datoils write to: Som-ersel University, Innuster, Somersel, TA19 08Q, Orgland.

LEGAL SERVICES US IMMIGRATION - obtain both US immigration and secured financial returns with investments, US company branches, etc. Visiting Landon, Doblin, Bahrarin, Abu-Dhabi, Karpati & other Asian cities from Dec. 1 frough Dec. 17. For appointment contact, E.P. Gallacher, Adv. P.O. Box 70307. Westp. DC 20088 USA (2011) 951-9616

SHOPPING BEJONE. THE FINEST hand-made suit. Largest selection in Switzerland at WSINESKG the leading men's store. Behinhofstr. 13-Zurich. 01/2/11 29 50. Page 19

FOR MORE

Place Your Classified Ad Quickly and Easily

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

By Phone: Call your local IHT representative with your text. You will be informed of the cost immediately, and once prepayment is made your ad will appear within 48 hours. There are 25 letters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Minimum space is 2 lines. No abbreviations accepted. Credit Cards: American Express, Diner's Club, Eurocard, Master

HEAD OFFICE

Paris: (For classified only): (1) 46.37.93.85. EUROPE

Card, Access and Visa.

HUGHES MICTOR COMPANY have for immediate delivery the following new R+D Mercedes: 1906 moreof voluments; 1906 23, 2006 2606 3006, 23016 30051,

TAX_FREE Cars, oil makes and models requires quick sale. Telep 8CM, Box 49, Landon WC1N 301, UK 93,94.20,98. The 470945

Amsterdam: 26-36-15. Athens: 361-8397/360-2421. Bergen (Norway): (05) 134010. Brussels: 343-1899 Copenhagen: 45 1 42 93 25. Frankfurt: (069) 72-67-55. Helsinki: 647412 Istanbul: 1488957/ 1476669/1484847.

Lausanne: 29-58-94. Lisbon: 67-27-93/66-25-44. London: (01) 836-4802. Madrid: 455-2891/455-3306. Milano: 5462573. Bergen (Norway): (05) 134010. Rome: 679-3437. Stockholm: (08) 7920949. Tel Aviv: 03-455 559. Vienna: Contact Frankfurt.

UNITED STATES

Chicago: (312) 446-8764. Houston: (713) 627-9930. Los Angeles: (213) 850-8339. Tx.: 650 311 7639. New York: (212) 752 3890. Toll free: (800) 572 7212. Tx.: 427 175. Fax: 755 8785.

San Francisco: (415) 362-8339.

SOUTH AFRICA Bryanston: 706 14 08.

LATIN AMERICA Bogote: 236 9747 - 256 60%. Buenos Aires: 804 40 31/9 Ed. 54 (Dept.312). Guayaquii: 32 12 66 - 52 28 15. Lima: 417 852. Mencico: 535 31 64. Panama: 69 09 75.

Santiago: 696 15 55. MIDDLE EAST

Rio de Janeiro: 222 50 45.

Ammen: 62 44 30. Bahrain: 256032. Beirut: 341 457/8/9. Cairo: 3499838. Doha: 416535. Dubai: 224161. Jeddah: 667-1500. Omes: 70 41 86. Tunës: 710*7*97.

FAR EAST

Bangkok: 258 32 59. Bernbay: 38 50 19. Hong Kong: 5-861 06 16. Karachi (Pakistan): 51 13 46. Manile: 817 07 49. Secul: 735 87 73. Singapore: 223 64 78/9. Taiwan: 752 44 25/9. Tekye: 504-1925.

Sydney: 929 56 39, 957 43 20. Parth: 328 98 33. Paddington, Queensland: (07) 369 34 53.

The second secon

December - 1

Melbourne: (03) 57 5292.

AUSTRALIA

NEW ZEALAND Auddand: 775 120.

ils-AISC :V any řety lay. ony the act o., a Britd tetract

ed on ziense

lional

į. The uction

NI OVET

yelop-

€

201. 201. 201.